MOVE FOR NEW TVA DAM STIRS SENATE STORM

Vandenberg Brands Project Folly.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—The proposed appropriation of $2,763,000 to begin construction on another Tennessee Valley authority dam, to cost a minimum of $112,000,000, precipitated a bitter controversy today in the senate. The $1,412,069,405 independent offices appropriation measure was under consideration.

The house rejected the item of $[illegible],000 for the beginning of construction on the Gilbertsville dam in Kentucky, 20 miles from the mouth of the Tennessee river, but the senate appropriations committee put it back in the bill at the request of the administration.

Senators Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] and John E. Miller [D., Ark.] assailed the proposed dam as being utterly unjustifiable as a power, a navigation, or a flood control project. The senate did not reach a vote on the proposal.

Gives Comparative Figures.

"This item may seem to be of no serious moment on the surface of things," Senator Vandenberg said, "but actually it initiates another $112,000,000 development, another TVA dam which will be six times larger than any of the seven main river dams, and which will have a volume [reservoir capacity] of approximately 60 per cent of the total volume of all the dams on the Tennessee river.

"On the question of power, data submitted to me indicate that the cost per kilowatt of installation will be $581.85, compared with the cost of $95.27 at the Wilson dam, and compared with an average cost of $227.21 for all other TVA dams."

Senator Vandenberg cited the report on technological trends of the national resources committee, headed by Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes, showing that the average cost of steam power installations is between $75 and $125 a kilowatt.

Quotes Letter on Project.

The senator quoted from a letter from Representative Andrew J. May [D., Ky.], chairman of the house military affairs committee, as follows:

"Since this dam will cost more than 20 per cent of the total estimated cost of the TVA project [$500,000,000], is of questionable value, and involves serious engineering difficulties, the committee felt that further study should be made before the congress commits itself to this huge expenditure. Therefore it eliminated the appropriation for construction, but added $100,000 for further study to the $185,000 previously allocated for that purpose."

Senator George W. Norris [Radical, Neb.], devoted father of the TVA, said Senator Vandenberg had hunted out, in the person of Representative May the bitterest TVA foe in congress. Norris admitted the cost of the Gilbertsville dam was too much for power, but argued that the primary considerations were flood control and navigation.

Norris said the dam would withhold the waters of the Tennessee from the Ohio and in turn from the Mississippi at Cairo, Ill., center of a disastrous flood last spring.

Blasts at Power Argument.

Senator Miller, who was a supporter of the TVA in the house before he succeeded the late Senator Joseph T. Robinson, the Democratic leader, said the Gilbertsville dam could not be justified from the standpoint of power because there is a superabundance of power in the Tennessee valley.

"The TVA has even resorted to the sale of power to private corporations, contrary to the spirit of the act," he said.

If the project cannot be justified from the power standpoint, there is no sense in building a high power dam when a low one, costing much less money, would serve the needs of navigation and flood control, he argued.

"The hearings disclose a remarkable condition with respect to navigation," Senator Miller continued. "If this dam is to be retained for flood control purposes, then it is not worth anything for navigation, because if the dam is emptied for flood control purposes it is not an aid to navigation."

[illegible] for flood control, Senator Miller said that problem would be han-

WAR LEADER'S DEATH IS NEAR, DOCTORS FEAR

Three Specialists at His Bedside.

BULLETIN.

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 25 (Friday).—(AP)—Physicians administered heart stimulants to Gen. John J. Pershing early today and reported a short time later his blood pressure was slightly better. An unsuccessful attempt was made to get him to drink some water. Intravenous feeding had been abandoned. There was no change in his condition, said Dr. Roland Davison, at 2:45 a. m. Chicago time.

Members of his family came tearfully from his bedside and indicated that the end was near.

A bulletin issued at 11:45 p. m., Chicago time, said that his heart was very irregular and that his blood pressure was rapidly approaching a critically low level.

"The general's coma continues," the bulletin said. "Although he was semiconscious for a short time, he is failing rapidly."

Doctor Fears End Is Near.

Elaborating on the official bulletin, Dr. Roland Davison said: "I doubt if he can last very long."

An earlier bulletin, issued at 10:15 p. m. by Dr. Davison and Dr. Verne Mason, disclosed that the world war commander, who is 77 years old, had grown progressively worse in the preceding three hours.

Dr. Mason, summoned from Los Angeles for consultation, arrived here at 9 o'clock and went immediately to the general's bedside, where he joined Dr. Davison and Lieut. Col. S. U. Marrietta, army heart specialist.

Doctor Rushes to Room.

After handing the first bulletin to reporters, Dr. Davison said: "I have no time to stop and talk with you."

Then he ran back into Gen. Pershing's room.

Miss May Pershing, an only sister, and Gen. Pershing's son, Warren, passed in and out of the room, then paced the hospital corridor.

Sergt. C. C. Shaeffer, who has been the general's orderly for the last ten years, emerged from the sick room with tears in his eyes.

Family Called to Bedside.

All members of the family, including Frank Pershing, a nephew, of Palm Springs, Cal., had been called to the bedside. Miss Pershing and Warren, who arrived this morning from Palm Beach, Fla., were called about 30 minutes before physicians disclosed that the general was sinking.

Tonight's bulletins were the most alarming of a series issued during the day after Gen. Pershing had suffered a relapse.

Heart Found Weaker.

This afternoon Dr. Davison and Lieut. Col. Marrietta announced that the general's condition was not as good as it had been during the morning. His heart, they explained, was somewhat weaker.

At that time, however, Dr. Davison denied reports that Gen. Pershing was dying, and said that he was in no immediate danger.

The physicians' morning statement said that the patient was definitly weaker.

Hospital sources said that the general was having trouble swallowing and complained at times of double vision, dangerous symptoms of high blood pressure, with which it was known he had been troubled. It also was said he had been given intravenous nourishment. Dr. Davison would neither confirm nor deny these reports.

Greets Son Warmly.

Gen. Pershing, who has been ill since he suffered a heart attack Feb. 5, warmly greeted Warren, when the latter visited the sick room this morning.

The bulletin describing his heart as weaker came three hours after this meeting, but Dr. Davison said that the reaction at seeing his son had caused no change in the commander's condition.

Friends and relatives, on the other hand, said that the son's visit had cheered the general and was the best medicine he has had.

MANY TIMES WORSE THAN WAR

Teen Age Boys Slay Executive with Bludgeon

A strange murder case was given to Summerdale police early today with the fatal bludgeoning of an elderly business executive by three hatless youths, all in their teens, in front of his Edgewater home.

The victim was Edward C. Richard, 59 years old, 1358 Thorndale avenue, vice president of Schmidt Brothers, Inc., printers at 538 Federal street. He died in the Edgewater hospital shortly after midnight, a few hours after he had been slugged. He leaves a widow, Anna.

No motive for the crime was immediately apparent to police. Robbery was not even attempted. The sole purpose of the young hoodlums was to assault their victim and this they did after waiting for him and then stalking him.

All Killers Under 19.

Police described the killing as murder of the cold, premeditated type, and most unusual because of the ages of the slayers. One was no older than 16 years, the eldest was 18 or perhaps even younger. All wore black lether coats. One squinted through spectacles.

The three boys were first seen in front of the Richard home shortly before 8 p. m. by James Rees, who lives in the same apartment building, and his cousin, William Rees, 1331 Elmdale avenue. They were just loitering. Later they pretended to throw snowballs in front of the home. They were strangers.

About 8:30 the trio called at Broadway Armory garage, 5921 Broadway, where Richard kept his car. One, about 18 years old, 5 feet 8 inches tall, and slim in build, asked Sam Lavin, 1202 Granville avenue, the manager, if "Mr. Richard keeps his car here." Lavin answered affirmatively, whereupon the youth inquired directions to Richard's home and whether or not he had driven his car in yet. Lavin answered their questions and the trio left.

Woman Tells of Attack.

A few minutes later Richard drove in and started home on foot. What happened thereafter—the time is fixed at 9:15 p. m.—was told by Mrs. Frieda Bray, 1428 Thorndale avenue.

"Mr. Richard was walking ahead of me," she told Sergt. William Messett, "and as he neared his home three boys approached. Two of them ran off the sidewalk and the third into his hallway. As he stepped in front of his house two of them assaulted him and one struck him on the head with a dark object. Then all three ran."

GIRL OF 18 STUDIES WITH 6,000 BUDDING YOUNG ENGINEERS

New York, Feb. 24.—[Special.]—Gladys Lovinger, 18 years old, is the leading lady in a real life drama which you might like to call, "six thousand men and a girl." She's the only female student at Uptown City college, where she enrolled six days ago.

"I'm so busy studying I don't even see the boys," Miss Lovinger said today when she made her first comments about her unique status. "Nobody makes passes at me either. The boys here are students, with capital letters."

To look at Miss Lovinger you never would guess that she intends to lavish her charms upon blueprints and steam shovels. Yet the lady is a budding engineer. She's studying physics, drafting, analytical geometry, and engineering English at the school of technology. She's shooting for a B. C. E. [bachelor of civil engineering] degree.

FATHER SHINES AS BABY COMES DURING SHOWER

Quite unexpectedly, Fritzof Siqueland was the honor guest as well as the only man among forty women at a baby shower last night. And it was—ah, embarrassing.

For some time Mr. Siqueland and his wife Dorothy had been expecting a first arrival in the family about the middle of March. Accordingly, forty women friends agreed to bring their daintily wrapped shower gifts to the home of another friend at 4311 North Mozart street last night. They were there, but the scheduled guest of honor wasn't. Mrs. Siqueland was at that moment in Evanston hospital, and so was her 8 pound baby girl, to be named Joyce.

But the guests and the gifts clamored for attention, so blushing Mr. Siqueland was drafted. Yes, he had to open the packages before eighty amused feminine eyes.

He is a cousin of the late Col. T. A. Siqueland, Chicago banker and army officer, and a brother of Thorgeir Siqueland, a Norwegian diplomat. He lives at 1533 Sherwin avenue.

Tired of Important News? Here's a Butterfly Item

When Miss Vanda Joy, a waitress in a restaurant at 5475 Lake Park avenue, opened a window in the place yesterday, a butterfly flew in. The butterfly is white, with yellow and black markings, and is by no means a moth, Miss Joy reported.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 24.—[Special.] — Lord Terence Conyngham Plunket and Lady Plunket, wealthy residents of London, England, and Pilot T. J. Phillips were killed late today when their plane crashed in a fog. Phillips was endeavoring to land on a private airport on the W. R. Hearst estate at San Simeon, near San Luis Obispo, Cal., after a 250 mile flight from Los Angeles.

James Lawrence, son of Sir Walter Lawrence of London, world traveler, a guest of the Plunkets, was injured critically and severely burned. Lawrence was thrown clear of the wrecked plane, but the other three were trapped in the flaming wreckage.

Guests at Estate.

The Plunkets and Lawrence were to be guests at Mr. Hearst's estate. Phillips was employed by the publisher and was piloting a Vultee plane owned by Hearst's San Francisco and Los Angeles newspapers.

Coroner C. W. Palmer said he was informed the plane arrived over the airport about 4 p. m. and circled it several times, and then crashed when trying to land in the fog. The weather at Los Angeles, when the plane took off, was clear.

Arrived in U. S. Tuesday.

The nobleman, sixth Baron Plunket, arrived in the United States last Tuesday aboard the liner Queen Mary, accompanied by Lady Plunket, who was the daughter of Mrs. J. W. Dean, better known as Fanny Ward, the actress. They were frequent visitors in this country.

Lord Plunket's father had served as governor of New Zealand and was an heir to the Guiness fortune. Lord Plunket was born on July 12, 1899. The family claimed to be a branch of the old Irish house of Plunket.

During the world war he served in the 4th battalion of the rifle brigade.

Weds Flyer's Widow.

He married Dorothe Mabel Lewis, daughter of the actress and the late Joseph Lewis, in 1922. She then was the widow of Capt. Jack Barnato of the British Royal Air force.

Lord and Lady Plunket had three sons, Patrick Terence William Span, born in 1923; Robin Rathmore, born in 1925, and Shaun Albert Frederick Sheridan, born in 1931.

Lady Plunket was 34 years old.

Phillips became a pilot for Hearst two years ago. He leaves a widow and a daughter, Betty Jean, 9.

'JOKER' IN BRITISH-FASCIST DEAL BARED; RIOT IN VIENNA

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 24.—Great Britain's scheme to get volunteers out of the Spanish civil war struck a new snag tonight when it was disclosed that Germany and Italy had inserted a "joker" in their acceptance of the British plan.

Berlin and Rome made it a condition that the French frontier shall be controled against shipments of arms and the transfer of volunteers to the Spanish government immediately after two nonintervention committees reach Spain to arrange for the withdrawals of volunteers from both sides in the conflict. On the other hand, Germany and Italy insist that ports under rebel control remain open for six weeks longer.

Not Previously Known.

This proviso in the drastic about face in British foreign policy engineered last week-end by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain had not previously been known.

Britain's new foreign policy, which precipitated the resignation of Foreign Secretary Capt. Anthony Eden, calls for reaching a working agreement with the dictator nations of Europe, whereas Britain previously had been lined in opposition to them.

Dispatches from Paris tonight indicated further that the promises to Britain on nonintervention in the Spanish civil war were not all that had been believed. One Paris report was that Premier Mussolini offered to withdraw 15,000 Italian soldiers from Spain in return for recognition of Gen. Francisco Franco, Spanish rebel commander, as a belligerent, with the rights of a belligerent.

Would Leave Arms in Spain.

Semi-official comment in Paris to this report was that Mussolini was being "tricky." These 15,000 troops, it was said, would be the least valuable Italian infantry units and they would not only leave their arms, equipment and munitions behind for the rebels to use, but the very ships going to Spain from Italy to fetch them home would first unload cargos of arms and munitions.

In other words, it was asserted, the Spanish war is about to enter a new phase, namely a "war of arms and armament," and Mussolini is basing his reported deal with the British on this supposition. Il Duce was believed to have based his deal with Reichsfuehrer Hitler to keep hands off in the recent pro-Nazi shakeup of the Austrian government on the supposition that in return he would get strong German backing in arms and ammunition.

Newest and Best Materials.

Latest dispatches from the Teruel battlefront in eastern Spain indicated that war materials used by the Spanish rebels were of the newest and Austrian Chancellor Says Nation Must Remain Free.

Speech Angers Berlin

BERLIN, Feb. 25.—[Friday.]—(AP)—Prominent Nazis expressed indignation today over last night's speech in Vienna by Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg.

They resented particularly the Austrian's warm praise for Premier Mussolini of Italy in contrast with his failure to say a kind word for Reichsfuehrer Hitler.

They even saw a decided barb in his statement that a hard year of civil strife in Austria had ended with "a hard day" at Berchtesgaden when he met Hitler.

Some Nazis felt Schuschnigg had "spoiled chances for internal peace in Austria" by telling Austrian Nazis they must henceforth work for perpetuation of the principles of the late Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, who was assassinated by Nazis, or keep away from public activity altogether.

It was generally felt here that Schuschnigg had confirmed a feeling widespread abroad that Austria was being "swallowed" by Nazi Germany.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Austria, Feb. 24.—Close on the heels of a defiant proclamation by Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg tonight that "Austria must remain Austria" and a warning that his government would not tolerate a renewal of illegal Nazi activities, disorders broke out in Vienna and the provinces.

At different points in the capital, notably in the shopping districts, bands of Nazis began aggressive demonstrations to shouts of "Heil Hitler," and "One race, one state!" Other jeering groups started a march into the Jewish quarter. Fights between Nazis and adherents of the Fatherland Front party, returning from patriotic demonstrations, began and the police intervened.

Nazis Wreck Loudspeakers.

In the city of Graz, Styria, Nazis insisted that the mayor hoist the German swastika over the city hall, and when this was refused, they wrecked the loudspeakers broadcasting Schuschnigg's speech. It was reported that the leader of the Fatherland Front party in Styria was dismissed as the result of the Nazis' pressure.

While the Graz incident may be exaggerated it is hard to exaggerate the ominous purport of a demonstration which occurred in Vienna cemetery yesterday. A group of Nazis laid wreaths on the graves of Franz Holzweber and Otto Planetta, executed assassins of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, without police intervening.

In his address to the nation, Schuschnigg, a dictator against his will, answered Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler with quiet courage. He had the same background of flags and regimented crowds and he spoke before the same kind of a handpicked parliament as did the German Fuehrer last Sunday.

Insists on Independence.

His answer to Hitler was that little Austria must and did consider her destinies linked with those of the whole German people. Nevertheless, he said, Austria insisted now as always on retaining her separate identity within this partnership of blood and interest.

"We are determined that Austria must remain Austria," Schuschnigg said. "We did not choose our borders. We did not make the map. But what we have we are bound and determined to keep. We are a German Christian state. My government is directing all its efforts toward Austria's freedom and independence."

As if to reassure Austrians, lest this stubbornness bring down Hitler's wrath upon their heads, Schuschnigg voiced his confidence in the agreement of the German government to respect Austrian sovereignty, and above all, the Fuehrer's personal pledge given to him at Berchtesgaden, Bavaria. The chancellor said he trusted this pledge and in the further one not to meddle in Austrian affairs.

Thus, while Schuschnigg's speech and the imposing patriotic demonstrations in Vienna which accompanied it reassured the country considerably, especially as to the government's determination to keep up the fight for Austrian independence, the ultimate outcome of this fight still seems uncertain.

This uncertainty gave a dramatic quality to the chancellor's speech, which was heightened, if anything, by his sober style and carefully drawn juridical distinctions. Standing on the rostrum of the historic parliament building, Schuschnigg spoke with a determined ring in his voice.

"The question of our existence is involved and we are banded together seeking a solution of this special task," he said.

Coalition Rule Rejected.

"The constitution recognizes no parties and no party state. It is based on the profession and guild principle of the people. Therefore, there are no coalitions either in political life or in the administration.

"The government will not and cannot therefore be, as in earlier times, an administration of coalitions.

"Today marks the beginning of a new political life. It [this life] contemplates freedom for all within the limits of the Fatherland Front and in so far as they do not disturb the fundamentals of government.

"It is time to forget past catchwords and slogans uttered by clericals with long beards, conservatives, and liberals. For us it is not a question of National Socialism [Naziism] or socialism. What is healthy in any one's program will find a place in ours.

Makes Bid for Peace.

"We seek to live in harmony with our neighbors and with all the peoples of the world.

"We regard it as our right and also our duty to keep on good terms with all, including the great democracies—England, France, and the United States—and, not to be underestimated, Switzerland."

Schuschnigg acknowledged a debt to Premier Mussolini of Italy in saying:

"We have always admired his unbendable determination in the leadership of his own country.

"We admire him for his understanding of Austrian problems, although he always tried to avoid any impressions of interference in our internal affairs.

"This inspired confidence in me makes it repeatedly possible to discuss with him matters outside the political problems of today."

Crowd Mobs Schuschnigg.

Following his speech, Schuschnigg emerged from the parliament building to walk down the Ringstrasse to the war monument a quarter of a mile away.

The moment the frail, spectacled, studious looking chancellor, surrounded by his cabinet and completely without police guards, appeared, thousands of Austrians broke into frantic applause. The cheering crowd swept through a strong police line around the monument and literally mobbed Schuschnigg.

Police guards of honor stood by helplessly, unable to reach him. They did not seem particularly worried and made no effort to break up the mob. It was something which could not happen to any other European dictator.

PAROLEE ADMITS KILLING FARMER IN CHICKEN THEFT

Arrested on suspicion in Grand Rapids, Mich., several days ago, Albert La Vance, 38 years old, colored, was returned to Chicago as a parole violator. When he was locked in a cell at the detective bureau Sergt. John Hanrahan asked: "I suppose you know why you're here?" La Vance replied he supposed it was because of the shooting near Kankakee two years ago.

He then confessed that while he and three other colored men were stealing chickens on the Timme farm in Kankakee county on Aug. 22, 1935, a man approached with a rifle. "I killed him with a .45 automatic," said La Vance. The slain man was John Blievernicht, 21 years old.

One of the men named by La Vance has since been killed by the police, but the other two, Claude Hill, 1667 Waseca place, a former convict, and Beauford Slaughter, 1951 West 18th street, were arrested. When La Vance was confronted with these two he repudiated his confession, but the three are being held for the sherif of Kankakee county.

Germans Abandon Symbols for Before and After Christ

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 24.—The historical terms "Before Christ" and "After Christ" will be eliminated from German history, the Association of German Historical experts decided here today. The symbols B. C. and A. D. will be replaced by symbols meaning "before and after time computation." Many historical names of Germanic tribes were altered to sound more Germanic, "to do more justice to racial pride."

GERMANIA CLUB DENIES PART IN ANTI-NAZI CLASH

Continue Cases of Four Arrested in Fracas.

Officials of the Germania club yesterday disclaimed any responsibility for the clash between Chicago Nazi Storm Troopers and anti-Nazis at a meeting Wednesday night in the clubhouse at 108 Germania place.

William Bieber, manager of the club, would not discuss details of the incident, but Marshall Keig, federal court trustee for the organization, which is in bankruptcy, said club members were not involved in the trouble.

"The bund has been hiring the hall for weekly meetings for the last few years," Keig said. "Our club is being reorganized and we can use this income. I am going to investigate the matter further, however.

Political Issues Ignored.

"The club is anxious to eliminate political issues, for we realize that it is usually the death of a cultural and social group when it takes sides. The club has been in existence more than fifty years and now has 350 members, many of them prominent citizens."

The meeting Wednesday night, attended by 1,000 persons, was addressed by G. Wilhelm Kunze of New York, director of public information for the bund.

At the close of his address assailing Jews and praising Fascism, Kunze said he would answer questions, but he ignored one put by Dr. Erich Von Schroetter, former professor of languages at the University of Chicago and Northwestern university and now editor of an anti-Nazi magazine. When Von Schroetter insisted on an answer a storm trooper pushed him against the wall.

As the meeting was ending a salute was called for the Nazi flag, which hung beside the American flag. Two boys, John Fisher, 18 years old, 2936 North Major avenue, and Ray Pauly, 15, of 4242 North McVickers avenue, refused to salute.

Scuffle and Arrests Follow.

A Nazi sympathizer, William Wernicke, 6250 Wayne avenue, tried to compel them to do so, the boys said. A scuffle followed. Wernicke, Dr. von Schroetter, and the Fisher boy were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct.

The cases were called yesterday morning before Judge Gibson E. Gorman in the Boys' court and were continued to March 11 on the request of Wernicke.

Horitz, who was charged with malicious mischief for breaking the camera, was granted a continuance to March 4 when he was arraigned before Judge Oscar S. Caplan in the Felony court.

HITLER TO OPEN NEW NAZI DRIVE AGAINST JEWS

MUNICH, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Reichsfuehrer Hitler tonight assured veteran Nazis who shared the sorrows and triumphs of his first step toward power that Germany would insist on the return of her war lost colonies and accept no substitute. At the same time, he proclaimed a new drive against "Jewish agitators in Germany."

Der Fuehrer was welcomed tumultuously as he entered the Hofbrauhaus where, exactly eighteen years ago, he announced creation of the Nazi party and proclaimed his famous program of twenty-five points.

Hitler in his speech attacked what he called malicious rumor mongering. He ridiculed reports that 40,000 Nazi legionnaires in Germany were mobilized on the Austrian border despite the Berchtesgaden peace agreement. Such stories, he charged, are the work of "Jewish international poison mixers. We can draw a lesson from all of this," he concluded. "We soon will proceed energetically against Jewish agitators in Germany."

FASCIST 'JOKER' IN VOLUNTEERS DEAL DISCLOSED

Italy Asks Watch on French Frontier.

best. The newest types of German planes and Italian heavy artillery bombarded the town. Every shipment of German and Italian arms was reported to have been accompanied by technicians. Thus, the Italian offer to withdraw a few thousand infantrymen was considered by the French to be hypocritical.

Recent estimates placed the number of Italians aiding the Spanish rebels at 90,000—half of them combatants and half technicians. The number of Germans was estimated to be between 10,000 and 12,000 aviators and technicians. The withdrawal of 15,000 Italian infantrymen would be nearly meaningless, Paris sources said.

Italy Anxious for Loan.

Reports that Italy was demanding of Great Britain a share in the control and defense of the Suez canal provoked the comment that the canal company is both French and British, and that Mussolini will have to consult France as well as Britain about it.

The earl of Perth, British ambassador to Rome, reached London tonight to discuss Mussolini's demands. It was understood that these include not only a large loan from Great Britain but supposedly naval parity with the French and British fleets in the Mediterranean.

Germany's acceptance of the British proposal for withdrawing volunteers from Spain was delivered today by Dr. Ernst Woermann, German chargé d'affaires.

FRENCH PREPARE TO MAKE BARGAIN WITH MUSSOLINI

Shift Toward England's Type of Diplomacy.

PARIS, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Premier Camille Chautemps, with his own government strengthened by the refusal of political leaders to form a national union cabinet, tonight turned toward the British plan of negotiating with Italy.

Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos had hinted earlier this week that France might adopt a policy parallel to that of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain as a possible solution to the continental isolation in which that diplomacy has left her.

Chautemps, however, apparently had sought to strengthen his own hand before trying such a course. Parliamentary leaders pictured him now as confident of his strength and considering overtures to Italy.

Sees British Ambassador.

Delbos saw Sir Eric Phipps, the British ambassador, tonight, presumably to advise him of the French view and to ask that Chamberlain keep Paris informed of his plans.

At the end of a long chain of "ifs"—if negotiations with Italy are begun, if they are successful, if an agreement is adhered to—members of the chamber of deputies even talked of conversations with Germany.

The parties earlier had rejected the premier's offer to dissolve his cabinet if a national union government could be organized to cope with France's serious foreign problems. The reaction in chamber lobbies was that the decision enhanced Chautemps' position by showing that the parties were not ready to drop their squabbles.

Premier's Prestige Increased.

The premier's increased prestige was demonstrated later when the second section of his labor code, concerning collective industrial contracts, was adopted by a 442 to 108 vote, as compared with the 383 to 218 vote for the first section less than a week ago.

Because he insisted on unity to "fling in the face" of Premier Mussolini and Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler in foreign affairs, the members said, Chautemps wanted an all-party coalition. Not getting it, he demanded a heavy parliamentary vote of support on foreign policy.

The lean toward Chamberlain's "realistic" diplomacy both by parliament and the cabinet followed what France considered the house of commons' decision to "try" Chamberlain's plan.

AUSTRALIA HUNTS U. S. SOLUTION TO 'PERFECT CRIME'

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Police shifted their investigation into a "perfect crime" of four years ago—slaying of a beautiful girl clad in luxurious pajamas—to the United States today in the belief the victim might have been an American.

Investigation of the murder was revived when a new witness, Charles Lynch, a traveling showman, told police he had evidence the victim may have been Nancy Ling of San Francisco. A girl's half burned body was found stuffed in a roadside culvert in September, 1934. Thousands since have viewed the embalmed body but identity of the victim and her murderer were not learned.

Lynch said the Miss Ling came to Sydney early in 1934 with a magician styled "Carter the Great." Lynch was a member of the same company but quit that year. Miss Ling also quit the show the same year.

He Knew Hitler

WILLIAM SCHULTZ.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—William Schultz, a carpenter, recalls a week thirty years ago when Adolf Hitler "spoke few words." "I was a carpenter then, like now," Schultz said, telling of the time when Hitler, then a house painter, worked beside him on a house in Vienna.

"This Hitler is not like what he used to be. In a week he spoke few words. A young boy he was, like me. He brought sausages and beer for lunch."

BRITISH SILENCE RADIO CRITIC OF DUCE AND HITLER

LONDON, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Col. Josiah Wedgwood, Laborite member of parliament and former war time military commander, was banned from the radio by the British Broadcasting corporation today after he refused to delete criticism of Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini.

Wedgwood and Dr. Alfred Salter, also a Laborite member of parliament, were scheduled for a debate on the subject, "The Way to Peace."

"Owing to the unfortunate crisis in imperial affairs, a few criticisms which I happened to place in my manuscript on Mussolini and Hitler have caused my contract to be canceled," Wedgwood said.

A British Broadcasting corporation spokesman said, "We had hoped he would see his way clear to modify the draft of his talk. It had nothing to do with political events of the last few days."

DE VALERA TALKS WITH ENGLAND NEAR DEADLOCK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 24.—Anglo-Irish talks looking to the settlement of long standing differences between England and the Irish Free State may end in a deadlock on all points except a trade agreement, it was believed here tonight.

Prime Minister Eamon de Valera of Ireland is understood to be unyielding on the issue of a united Ireland, and the British are unwilling to change the status of northern Ireland.

Conferences continued throughout the day, but it seemed doubtful that any agreement would be reached on partition or that De Valera would meet British defense requirements unless given strong hope for a united Ireland within a reasonable time.

RUMANIA VOTES 99 PCT. TO MAKE CAROL DICTATOR

King's Constitution O.K.'d in Oral Plebiscite.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Rumanian voters overwhelmingly approved in an oral plebiscite today the new constitution sponsored by King Carol II. of Rumania. It was announced unofficially that 99.87 per cent of the voters favored the constitution, which centers power in the crown. The vote was said to be 4,283,395 for and 4,413 against. In Bucharest the unofficial count was 216,865 in favor, 323 against.

The Supreme court will certify the vote Saturday and the government will take an oath under the new constitution Sunday. King Carol and Crown Prince Michael appeared smiling upon the palace balcony tonight to view a torchlight parade celebration.

Tell Vote to Officials.

The voters displayed keen enthusiasm in voting for the constitution, which Carol proposed three days ago. Members of workers' groups and societies marched in a body to the polls where, instead of writing their votes, they spoke an individual "yes" or "no" to an election official.

This oral voting was decreed especially for the plebiscite. Henceforth the secret ballot will be used as under the 1923 constitution which Carol suspended after the fall of the anti-Semitic government of Premier Octavian Goga on Feb. 10. Eighty-eight per cent of the voters cast ballots, compared with a 60 per cent turnout in the last election. All Rumanian citizens more than 21 years old were entitled to vote.

King Can Veto Laws.

The new constitution of 100 articles gives the king power to appoint half the senate and gives him veto power over all legislation. The chamber of deputies will be elected according to membership in three guilds: Farmer-labor, commerce and industry, and the intellectual professions.

There was no mention of political parties in the constitution, but the guild method of election was expected to limit their influence. The right to urge a change in the form of government is expressly forbidden.

Sixth U. S. Flying Fort Joins Others in Peru

LIMA, Peru, Feb. 24.—(AP)—The sixth of the huge United States army bombers on a good will flight to South America landed here today from Arica, Chile, where it halted at dusk Wednesday on the trip from Santiago. The first five reached here yesterday. The bombers planned a takeoff for Panama tomorrow morning.

ATTACKS ON WAR DICTATOR BILL IN TOKIO CLOSE DIET

Party Men Howl Down Cabinet's Speaker.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Feb. 24.—Government efforts to place the country under a state of national mobilization and obtain dictatorial powers in times of stress [such as the war in China] created an almost unprecedented uproar in the lower house of the diet tonight. The tumult was so great that the speaker adjourned the house for the night. Predictions of a cabinet crisis unless the government modifies the national mobilization bill were heard.

The disorder was precipitated when members of the lower house shouted down the government's attempt to answer bitter criticism of the bill voiced by Takao Saito, leader of the Minseito [majority] party.

Saito charged that passage of the bill would enable the government to dispose of the people's private property and goods without restriction, and would empower it to do as it pleased with foreign trade.

Defies Foreign Minister.

As the session opened this afternoon Foreign Minister Koki Hirota spoke instead of Prime Minister Prince Fumimaro Konoe, who was ill. Hirota explained that the bill was aimed at mobilizing the entire power of the state to the best advantage for purposes of national defense.

"We seek to supply the army and navy with fighting strength without interruption by supplying war materials adequately, and also by making operations of national economic activities secure," the foreign minister said.

Saito leaped immediately to the tribune, charging that there are serious doubts that Japan needs such a law at this time, despite the warfare in China. The measure would conflict with operation of the constitution, he said. He declared the bill springs from German Nazi law.

Fears for Japan's Future.

"At the outset of the present incident [the China war] the government announced a policy of nonaggravation, but look what has happened," the party leader thundered. "One wave has stirred up 10,000 other waves, and the international situation thereby has been affected to such an extent that a complex and delicate situation has been caused in our international relations. At the present time there is much cause for apprehension regarding the future of the nation.

"I can understand the government's motive introducing the bill, but it is imperative that neither the government nor the diet, at this time, depart from the regular path. To depart from this path will constitute an offense of high treason against the state."

Saito asserted the path which the nation should follow is set down in the imperial constitution and in the spirit of the constitution.

Diet Is Adjourned.

A resolution questioning the government's sincerity was introduced. It charged that Hirota was dodging the responsibility of making an answer. The outcries continued, growing in volume, until the diet adjourned.

The parliamentary conflict followed four hours of terror in Japan as civilians and military forces scanned the skies for an armada of Russian made Chinese bombing planes reported flying over the China sea toward Kyushu, southernmost island of the Japanese imperial group.

Chinese bombers yesterday raided Taihoku, capital, and Shinchiku, a seaport city, of the Japanese island colony of Formosa, killing eight persons and wounding twenty-nine. Today's reports that a new air armada was heading toward Japan caused raid alarms to be sounded not only in Formosa but Kyushu, and spread apprehension even to Tokio.

Four hours after it was given the anti-air raid warnings were canceled. One spokesman said it was presumed the Chinese planes turned back toward China after realizing they had been seen.

Divorces 3d Husband

MRS. ELEANOR RAND.

Carson City, Nev., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Close Sturges Gautier Rand, 27 years old, heiress to a breakfast foods fortune and daughter of thrice married Mrs. Joseph E. Davies, wife of the American ambassador to Belgium, won an uncontested divorce today from George C. Rand, her third husband. District Judge Clark J. Guild granted the decree at a private trial on grounds of cruelty. The Rands were married May 26, 1934, at Roslyn, N. Y.

JAPS HIT STRONG DEFENSE IN RACE TO TAKE RAILWAY

SHANGHAI, Feb. 24.—(AP)—A Japanese army racing for the glory of being the first to cut the Lunghai railroad, backbone of China's resistance on the central front, was reported today to be attacking Kinsiang, about forty-four miles from its goal.

The column, one of Japan's forces converging on the Lunghai corridor from the north, apparently had advanced twenty-five miles due south from Kiasiang in western Shantung province. The 22d and 81st divisions of the central Chinese army have prepared strong defenses at Kinsiang.

Two Chinese were killed and ten injured in the Shanghai international settlement when a terrorist's bomb blew out the front of the building occupied by the American registered, anti-Japanese newspaper Hwa Mei Wan Pao. This was the third attack on the paper, of which Hal P. Mills of New Orleans, La., is publisher.

DIVORCED, SENDS HIS CHILDREN TO THE PHILIPPINES

Since June 30, when her ex-husband, Francisco Naval, was awarded custody of their children in a divorce decree, Mrs. Alberta Holtz has been trying to locate them. The children are Francisco Jr., 7 years old, and Clarita, 6.

Her attorney, Samuel M. Starr, searched in vain through public school registrations. Through life insurance records, Mrs. Holtz yesterday told Judge John J. Lupe, she found Naval at 1654 Congress street Wednesday.

But the children weren't there. Mrs. Holtz showed the court their picture, leaning against a palm tree. She said Naval told her he had sent them to live with his sister in the Philippine Islands. Naval was ordered to explain this violation of the court order March 3.

JARECKI TELLS OF BIG DROP IN BALLOT THIEVERY

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, pursuing his campaign for renomination, said last night that during his tenure of office ballot box thievery had been cut from about 700 votes per precinct to less than 15.

"And if they get away with 15, that's a lot," he added.

The head of the election machinery spoke before the Colored Big Brothers at 4100 South Park way on "Crime Must Go."

"Any one who steals ballots is undermining our happiness," Judge Jarecki said. "He's next to a traitor. We can prevent crime only by putting into office men who will protect the laws of the community. You and I are sovereign. We're the bosses. I recognize only one boss—the electorate."

REBELS REACH STRATEGIC PASS IN DRIVE TO SEA

HENDAYE, France.—[At the Spanish Frontier.]—Feb. 24.—(AP)—Picked Spanish insurgent shock troops tonight reached the "gate to Valencia" —the mountain pass of Escandon—in their drive toward the Mediterranean coast in east Spain. Insurgent tacticians ordered the troops to advance into the rugged hills on both sides of the highway to Sagunto, southeast of Teruel, which are defended by strong government barricades.

Gen. José Varela, commanding the offensive, sought thus to avoid what he called a "death trap," between the precipitous La Clavela mountains to the southwest and the barren hills above the Valbona river valley to the northeast.

Await Cavalry's Report.

On the rebels' left flank, one extended from the Sagunto highway, the government's last broad communication line to Valencia, back to Formich and the Escriche river valley. On the right flank, the other spread toward the southwest and west into the hills on both sides are clear.

No advance along the highway itself, insurgent military advices said, will be attempted beyond Escandon until Navarrese cavalry units report the hills on both sides have been swept clear.

Government Disputes Claims.

Insurgents said one column of the offensive, aimed between Barcelona and Valencia, the government's main strongholds, had broken through Castralvo, on the Sagunto highway about fifteen miles southeast of Teruel.

The government was said to be massing reënforcements, however, and disputed the insurgent claims of success on their right flank. Government reports said the insurgents had been repulsed at Castralvo.

CHINA REPORTS AMERICANS WILL STAY IN WAR ZONE

HANKOW, China, Feb. 25 [Friday]. —(AP)—The United States government, it was disclosed today, has informed Japan it has no intention of ordering evacuation of Americans in the Central China war zone as requested by the Japanese army.

The blunt refusal of the United States to order evacuation of American missionaries and other Americans in the Chinese Lunghai railway area, which Japan is attacking, was contained in a note delivered by Ambassador Joseph C. Grew to the Japanese government at Tokio.

It was understood in diplomatic circles here that Washington's note to Tokio, regarded as one of the sharpest documents from the American government to Japan since the far east hostilities began, asserted Americans have a perfect right to carry on their duties in any part of China regardless of the presence of the Japanese army.

The note was in answer to a request by the Japanese embassy at Peiping on behalf of the army that the United States and other foreign powers withdraw their nationals from the Central China war zone.

Porto Rican Indicted for Threatening U. S. Judge

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Ramon Gomez Gutierrez, a nationalist, was indicted today on a charge of sending a threatening letter to United States Judge Robert Cooper with intent of extortion. Gutierrez confessed he wanted Judge Cooper to promise to deal lightly hereafter with nationalists. The justice department has been asked to appoint a special judge to deal with the case.

Wichita, Kas., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—The value of a child's smile was set at $5,250 when the mother of Charlotte Shafer, 3 years old, was paid that amount after she had sued for $30,000 for injuries to the child. Her parents plan to use the money for surgery in an attempt to remove the scars. Charlotte was injured in an automobile accident.

DOCTOR CHARGED WITH DIVORCEE'S ABORTION DEATH

Dr. William E. Holland, 70 years old, with offices at 30 North Michigan avenue, was ordered held to the grand jury yesterday on charges of murder by abortion in connection with the death of Mrs. Mary Cline, 36 years old, 4905 Lake Park avenue, a divorcee.

Mrs. Cline died in the County hospital Jan. 18. Testimony that Dr. Holland had performed the abortion was given at the inquest by Mrs. Delores Murtaugh, 26, of 4320 Berkeley avenue, a sister, and Dr. John W. Cornell, 6108 Kimbark avenue. They quoted Mrs. Cline as naming the doctor.

Dr. Holland denied he had performed the operation. He said he was called in afterward. He was held in the county jail.

DEMOCRATS O. K. EIGHTH DISTRICT COALITION DEAL

Democratic committeemen of the Eighth senatorial district, comprising Lake, Boone, and McHenry counties, met in Woodstock yesterday and voted to certify only one candidate for state representative for the district. Republican committeemen previously had agree to certify two. Since three are to be elected in the fall, this action assures that one Democrat and two Republicans will be elected, which has been the traditional arrangement. The only contest will be in the primaries in which seven Democrats and six Republicans will run. The highest Democrat and the two highest Republicans will be unopposed in the fall.

WILLED $30,000, HE'S MR. SPITZ IN DOG WORLD NOW

Mrs. Margaret McDermott was 67 years old. Her sister had just died, and before her she saw a succession of lonely, empty days and nights in her apartment at 5347 Wayne avenue.

One day in a neighborhood grocery she came upon a dirty, bedraggled Spitz puppy. His eyes were large with woe. Malformed, his front paws turned outwards, and he waddled like a duck. His skin was sore from a painful rash. His coat was matted. He appeared, in dog parlance, to be a mutt.

But the spinster's heart warmed to him. Timidly she asked the grocery man if she could give the dog a home. "Take him," he said.

Transformation of a Pup.

That was ten years ago. Miss McDermott carried the pup back to her apartment, washed him, and bought ungents and oils to cure the skin disease. She fed the puppy regularly and well. He began to fill out and his white coat took on a sheen.

"After weeks and months of this care," said Mrs. Samuel Anderson, 5349 Wayne avenue, last night, "the puppy became the handsomest dog in the neighborhood. Miss McDermott named him Pet."

After more than seven years their happy, quiet, uneventful life together ended. Miss McDermott died on June 4, 1935, leaving her entire $30,000 estate in trust for Pet.

She named the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company and Attorney George A. Trude as trustees.

Cousins Contest Will.

But two cousins of Miss McDermott, Martin J. Clark, 335 North Latrobe avenue, and Mary J. Prendergast of Los Angeles, Cal., sued to invalidate the will, alleging their cousin was incompetent when it was drawn.

Yesterday Judge Joseph Burke ruled that Miss McDermott's will was valid. His decree included a stipulation by the Anti-Cruelty society, which is named residuary legatee, to pay each cousin $500 upon the death of Pet.

Since his mistress' death Pet has been with Attorney and Mrs. Trude in their home at 4810 Dorchester avenue. They have found a suitable mistress for him, said Mr. Trude, and soon Pet will go to his new home.

As if he knew what was in store for his old age, Pet opened his mouth in a doggy ear-to-ear grin and barked happily. No worries for Pet—only a life of ease, plenty of trees, and all the dog biscuits he wants to eat.

PHONY INSPECTOR TURNS OUT TO BE FORMER CONVICT

Trouble continued to pile up yesterday for John Casper, who has bilked many Chicago tavern owners by posing as a federal liquor inspector and inducing them to cash small checks. Seventeen of his victims identified Casper at the West North avenue police station Wednesday night and yesterday.

And while this was going on, police looked up Casper's record, finding that he is a parole violator. Under his real name, John Kwaitkowski, he he was sentenced to Pontiac reformatory for from one to ten years in 1915 as an embezzler. In 1917 he joined the army and had not been heard of since.

Casper's checks usually were for less than $15 and thus kept him in the petty larceny class. But on one occasion he passed a check for $17. Now he faces confidence game and habitual criminal charges.

GEN. SHERIDAN'S WIDOW IS DEAD IN WASHINGTON

Survived by Three Daughters.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—Mrs. Irene Rucker Sheridan, 88 years old, widow of Gen. Philip H. Sheridan, civil war cavalry leader, died at her residence here today after a long illness. She left three daughters, Mary, Irene and Louise Sheridan.

Mrs. Sheridan was a member of a distinguished military family. Her father, grandfather and two brothers all were officers of the United States army. Her father, Maj. Gen. Daniel Henry Rucker, was stationed at a post in New Mexico when she was born.

Wed 9 Years After War.

Nine years after the close of the civil war she was married to Lieut. Gen. Sheridan.

For a time the couple lived in Chicago, but when her husband was placed in command of the army in 1883, they moved to Washington. Gen. Sheridan died five years later in Nonquitt, Mass.

When it was rumored that Mrs. Sheridan would remarry she declared: "I would rather be the widow of Phil Sheridan than the wife of any living man."

Pretty, Vivacious Woman.

In her Washington home, redolent with the presence of the famous cavalryman, Mrs. Sheridan, a pretty, small, vivacious woman, lived with her three daughters. She entertained with weekly receptions which were attended regularly by Washington's best society.

In 1908, when the $50,000 national memorial to Gen. Sheridan, whom Gen. Grant ranked as a soldier with Napoleon and Frederick the Great, was erected in Washington, Mrs. Sheridan took a four story home overlooking the site of the memorial, placing in her new home all of the mementos of her husband which adorned their former home. These ranged from swords, army saddles, bridles, Mexican sombreros, and rare coins to canes, rare chinaware, and many other mementos of his colorful career.

Mrs. Sheridan and her three daughters were received in audience with Pope Pius at the Vatican in 1926.

9 BANDITS GET PRISON TERMS FOR 100 HOLDUPS

Nine robbers, who used a fake sawed-off shotgun made of pipe to terrorize their victims in more than 100 robberies, were sentenced to prison terms yesterday by Chief Justice Cornelius Harrington of the Criminal court.

The punishment of two, Elmer Watt, 19 years old, of 7365 South Chicago avenue, and Joseph Kostyn, 23, of 7711 Greenwood avenue, was fixed at 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary. Four were sentenced to 1 to 10 years. They are Joseph Caruso, 22, of 7031 Vernon avenue; Donald Turner, 18, of 516 West 65th street; Herbert Anderson, 21, of 1405 North Pulaski road, and Bernard Naples, 22, of 846 East 75th street.

Bernard Torretto, 22, of 7534 Dobson avenue, and Donald Carty, 21, of 1009 East 75th street, are to serve two year terms in the Bridewell, and James McGrew, 47, of 1709 West 91st street, one year.

Salesman Takes Chance on a Curve; Runs Into Trouble

Judge Gibson E. Gorman of Municipal court fined Frank Brine, 17 years old, 8551 Exchange avenue, $50 yesterday on complaint of Mrs. Nellie Winn, 33, of 322 East 25th street. Mrs. Winn objected to the way Brine measured her with a tape measure when he said he wanted her dimensions for the records of a correspondence school course he was selling.

ICKES UNDER FIRE AS PROPONENT OF TOTALITARIANISM

Assailed for Radio Talk to British Isles.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Interior Ickes were challenged on the floor of the house today to deny that they are establishing a totalitarian United States.

Representative John Taber [R., N. Y.] expressed amazement at what he termed the astounding speech made by Ickes in a broadcast to the British Isles last Tuesday night. The speech was not put on American air waves.

In the speech Ickes criticized totalitarianism [the dictatorship principle that all power should be vested in the head of the state] as "alien to the spirit that dominates English speaking democracies of the world."

Cites Ickes' Record.

Coming from Ickes, Taber asserted, that statemen twas astounding. The secretary of the interior's record, especially as administrator of the Public Works administration, is that of one attempting to destroy the power of the congress elected by the people to control and prevent usurpations on the part of the chief executive, the New York congressman charged.

"I call upon the secretary of state and the President to say whether or not they approve of that address and that method of communicating with other nations," Taber declared, referring to the Ickes radio speech. "I call upon them to say whether or not they are embarking on such a program such as Stalin embarked upon when he tried to attack and control the people of other lands.

Compares Program to Hitler's.

"I call upon them to say whether they are embarking upon such a program as Hitler has embarked upon to establish and promote Nazism throughout the United States."

Taber said that Ickes' record showed him consistently attempting to set up a totalitarian state in this country.

"First, with moneys that were appropriated by this congress for relief, he established a detective agency, with federal funds, to spy upon the actions of those who were opposing him politically," Taber said. "He used relief funds to allocate the money for building projects which this congress had deliberately refused to appropriate money for.

"He used these lump sum relief appropriations to allocate the money for the promotion of great projects which this congress never in the world would have authorized. He has repeatedly attempted to promote legislation designed to destroy the liberties of the people.

"At the present time he is back of and supporting the bill to destroy the independence of the controler general of the United States. What would that do? It would permit the executive branch of the government to spend money by a subservient auditor and auditing system regardless of the limitations imposed by congress.

"Ickes promoted the NRA and other measures designed to destroy small business. He has supported measures designed to give the secretary of agriculture total control over agriculture. Yet this man goes out and broadcasts to foreign peoples that totalitarianism is foreign to the principles of democracy. Mr. Speaker, it is a most stupendous fraud upon the peoples of any land for a man with a record like that to pronounce against totalitarianism."

Taber also attacked the Ickes radio speech as tending to involve us in war with other nations. Foreign countries should be dealt with through the state department, he declared.

Charges U. S. Misrepresented.

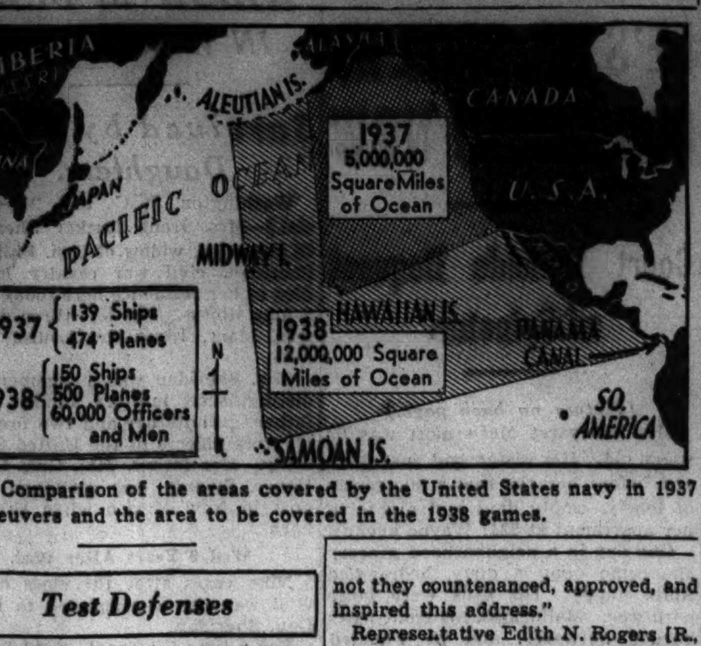
"That is the only safeguard we have for peace," he told the house. "It is the most dangerous thing to international good relations that has come in a generation for this man to presume to speak directly by way of the radio to the people of foreign lands and totally misrepresent his own views and his own actions and the result of them to those peoples.

"The administration and the state department should say whether or not they countenanced, approved, and inspired this address."

Representative Edith N. Rogers [R., Mass.] inquired if the Ickes speech was not in line with the President's Chicago speech in which he spoke of quarantining nations who behaved badly?

"The Ickes speech is exactly in accord with that speech and it is dangerous to the liberties, the freedom and the peace of America," Taber replied.

Navy Extends Maneuver Area



Comparison of the areas covered by the United States navy in 1937 maneuvers and the area to be covered in the 1938 games.

Test Defenses

Washington, D. C., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—The approaching war games in the Pacific will be the most extensive and realistic ever undertaken by the United States navy, it was said today. The maneuvers, which will begin in March and continue six weeks, will test the adequacy of the nation's west coast defenses.

Nearly 60,000 men, 150 warships, and 500 planes will take part in the gigantic exhibition. The activities will cover an area more than double that required for last year's maneuvers.

The pseudo battlefield will extend over almost 12 million square miles, extending westward to Hawaii and Midway Island and from Alaska and the Aleutian Islands on the north to Samoa on the south. The floating forces used 5 million square miles last year.

The ships and planes will be manned by 3,600 officers and 55,000 men—more than half the officers and enlisted men in the navy. Their operations will be headed by Admiral Claude C. Bloch, commander of the fleet.

Thousands of miles of cruising under war conditions will face the surface, air, and underseas ship navigators. Both the wallowing seas of Arctic weather and the mixture of dead calm and sudden storms in the south will furnish the factory for giving men and ships the nearest actual test possible.

ASKS U. S. COURT TO STOP THIEF'S PRISON DODGING

Whether or not the federal court should keep at liberty, on probation, a man who faces commitment to prison by a state court will be decided on March 15 by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

The case involves Alvin F. Speece, a Gary garage owner, who was arrested two years ago in a roundup of an auto theft gang accused of using his garage as a hide out. He received a suspended sentence in federal court, accused of interstate transportation of a stolen auto. Later he was convicted in the Criminal court on a charge of stealing an automobile and was sentenced to 1 to 20 years in prison.

His attorney, however, succeeded in delaying his commitment on the ground that he was under jurisdiction of the federal court. Yesterday Assistant State's Attorney William B. Crawford asked Judge Wilkerson to terminate the federal probation term.

Husband and Wife Drop Suits and Are Reunited

Attorney Norman Becker yesterday presented Judge Thomas J. Lynch with a stipulation dismissing the separate maintenance bill of Mrs. Alice Shifris, 24 years old, and the cross-bill for divorce of her husband, Sidney, 26. For more than a year Shifris has been in and out of court in disputes over alimony. Mrs. Shifris, said the lawyer, had joined her husband in Milwaukee.

M'NUTT CALLS ON PRESIDENT; HIS STAY BRIEF

Roosevelt Delays Hearing Philippine Report.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—The political bandwagon on which he hopes to ride to the presidency in 1940 brought Paul V. McNutt, United States high commissioner to the Philippines, to the White House today.

The visit followed an extravagant Washington coming out party given in honor of McNutt yesterday by fellow Indianians.

The former governor of Indiana came to the White House to give President Roosevelt a first hand report on Philippine affairs and an account of a brief visit to the Sino-Japanese war area. He also came to measure White House reaction to what his friends acclaimed as the opening gun of a favorite son presidial boom.

Hear Reports Tomorrow.

Mr. Roosevelt put over listening to McNutt's reports until Saturday. The high commissioner was told that the President will have more time on that day.

The high commissioner mentioned his unacknowledged political aspirations to the President. McNutt said he told Mr. Roosevelt not to be disturbed by some of the things which had been written in newspapers about the reception and its political significance. McNutt said that the President replied he was not the least disturbed.

There was no surprise among observers at the reception accorded McNutt at the White House. Mr. Roosevelt has been frigid to everyone mentioned as a possible successor to him in 1940 with the exception of Solicitor General Robert Jackson.

Gov. Townsend Sees President.

In the afternoon the White House made its rebuff to McNutt more pointed when Gov. M. Clifford Townsend of Indiana, a McNutt protégé, was given an audience. Gov. Townsend talked Indiana politics and economics.

To newspapermen, after his brief visit with Mr. Roosevelt, McNutt gave an account of the impressions he gathered on his visit to Shanghai almost a month ago. He had high praise for the ability and courage of Rear Admiral Harry E Yarnell, commander of the American Asiatic fleet.

Federal Agents Seize Still and 3 Prisoners

Agents under the directon of E. C. Yellowley, supervisor of the federal alcohol tax unit, seized a 500 gallon whisky still, a 700 gallon alcohol recooker, and three prisoners in a raid on a building at 217 North Maplewood avenue yesterday. The agents destroyed 10,000 gallons of mash and 545 gallons of alcohol. The prisoners gave their names as Will Morehead, colored, 3718 Indiana avenue; Mike Greco, 2001 West 70th street, and John Gudagnoli, 1011 West 22d street.

The Genius Behind the International Flower Show Comes from Older Men and Women

MR. CHARLES TOTTY—famous rose grower, in his greenhouse. Mr. Totty was one of the organizers of the first Flower Show. This year is the show's 25th jubilee.

Mr. Charles Totty, spokesman for the show, says:

"Most of our Exhibitors and Prize Winners Are Over 40"

PROMPTLY at 2 o'clock on March 14th, the doors of the 25th International Flower Show will swing open to admit winter-weary New York crowds to their first sight of SPRING . . . 4 acres of it, peaceful, fragrant, beautiful.

"Few people realize the months of thought, planning and hard work that make possible such a show," says Mr. Charles Totty, eminent horticulturist. "From the day one show ends to the moment the next one opens, an army of men and women is at work."

The Flower Show offers a unique opportunity to amateurs and professionals alike to prove the worth of long experience. And it is not surprising to find that most of the prize-winning exhibits, the most perfect plants and blooms, are entered by growers who are specialists, with the technical knowledge only many years of learning can give.

The majority of the judges, too, are people in their middle years who have acquired the background and discrimination so necessary for this difficult task.

Men and Women Past 40 Make the Best Gardeners

Last year, 100,000 people found pleasure and inspiration at the Flower Show. Each year a larger proportion of the people who attend are men and women in their forties and fifties. Each year they, learn more from the experts about how they can transfer some of this beauty to their own gardens.

"The most successful gardeners are people over 40," Mr. Totty says. "It takes patience and good health and energy to do it—but so does everything else worth while."

Begin to Enjoy Your Best Years—As They Are

Over 50—Lining up New Sales Leads

Dear Life Begins:

I've been on the road 28 years, traveling 35,000 miles a year. I've always worked plenty hard and I used to think I had an "iron constitution."

Well, four years ago I changed my mind about that. My digestion began to act up. Sleep deserted me, too. I kept on working, but my efficiency and sales record were way below par.

Around that time I hit Buffalo. I was telling a chap at the hotel how awful I felt and he suggested Fleischmann's Yeast. I'd heard about it and read about it—and this time I paid attention.

Walter L. Watson
Energy picked up

After eating it for ten days, I discovered my digestion had started working right again. Soon, my energy began picking up. I can tell you it was mighty good to wake up in the morning and feel like pitching in and working.

These days I'm able to take care of the service calls on my clientele and still dig up new leads. What good health has done to my sales record is great!—WALTER L. WATSON

Elected District Committee Woman

Dear Life Begins:

A year ago, at 39, I despaired of ever feeling well again. Sometimes I went two days without eating—food gave me such indigestion and bilious attacks—and it seemed as though I was never without a headache.

A doctor had recommended Fleischmann's Yeast to a co-worker of my husband's—and one night my husband arrived home with three cakes of it. He stood over me while I ate the first one. And he kept me eating it regularly thereafter—he said you had to give a thing a fair trial.

Mrs. Alice M. Moeller
Freed of headaches

And I'm certainly glad I did. I've gotten rid of the sick headaches and bilious spells and I feel so grand I wish I knew a really expressive way of saying it.

Thanks to my new energy, I'm doing all my own work, besides learning to drive the car and establishing my own subscription business. I've been elected committee woman in our district, too. If you'd seen me a year ago, you'd understand how happy I am to have the energy to take it on.—ALICE M. MOELLER

Veteran, 41, Keeps Busy at Paying Hobby

Dear Life Begins:

I was disabled in the War and can't get around without assistance—but my hobby, making lamps, trays and other useful articles out of reed basketwork, keeps me busy and brings in good compensation.

Until a few years ago, not being able to exercise had a bad effect on my system. I felt I was getting in worse shape all the time. Food seemed to ferment in my stomach instead of digesting and my system was sluggish.

Jeremiah McCarthy
Feeling fine now

The first thing I noticed after I started eating Fleischmann's Yeast, my interest in food revived. The sluggishness began to clear up, too. Was I glad when I didn't have to take weakening "doses" any more!

I still eat Fleischmann's Yeast every day—and in spite of lack of exercise, I keep as fit as the next fellow. My weight is right and I feel fine.
JEREMIAH McCARTHY

Slowed-Down Digestive Action Can Make You Age Too Fast

Failing strength and energy in people over 40 often starts with a slowing up of digestive action.

Around 40, the flow of digestive juices from the walls of the stomach ordinarily begins to be scantier and weaker.

For new energy, give your digestion help. Fleischmann's Yeast has a special tonic effect on the digestive system. Each cake contains millions of tiny, living yeast plants—present only in fresh yeast. These help to stimulate a fuller flow of stronger digestive juices.

4 vitamins in this health-building food give you additional help. They are the Nerve Vitamin, the Bone Vitamin, the Cold-Resistance Vitamin and the Vitality Vitamin.

You'll soon learn to like the fresh, malty taste of Fleischmann's Yeast. Eat 3 cakes regularly every day—one cake ½ hour before each meal. The ½ hour is important. It allows for the preparation of a free, powerful gastric flow—to act quickly and thoroughly on your food.

Start eating this fresh food today—see how soon you'll notice a splendid improvement in your health!

IGOE INDORSED AS ANTI-HORNER TICKET LEADER

Wins County Committee Backing for Senate.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Primary hostility among the Illinois Democratic leaders was advanced a stage yesterday when the Nash-Kelly controled county central committee indorsed a state slate, headed by Michael L. Igoe for senator, to oppose the candidates backed by Gov. Horner and a number of downstate county chairmen.

The Chicago Democrats voted unanimously to support Igoe and the following other candidates: Bruce A. Campbell, Belleville, for state treasurer; Congressman Lewis M. Long, Sandwich, and State Treasurer John C. Martin, Salem, for congressmen-at-large; John A. Wieland, Calumet, for another term as state superintendent of public instruction, and Ald. Walter J. Orlikoski [35th] for clerk of the Supreme court.

Begin Campaign March 5.

All of the candidates appeared before the committee meeting in the Morrison hotel after they had been indorsed. They promised an intensive state-wide campaign beginning March 5 and continuing until the primaries on April 12. Their audience of committeemen and about 100 downstate Democrats cheered enthusiastically at the repeated predictions of victory over the Horner slate.

Mr. Campbell, who is chairman of the Democratic state central committee, gave the meeting what it wanted to hear when introduced by the presiding officer, P. A. Nash, Cook county chairman and national committeeman.

"This ticket," Campbell boomed through the microphone, "will redeem Illinois Democracy in April and it will win in November."

When it came his turn Mr. Igoe, the United States attorney for northern Illinois, repeated the Campbell forecast in slightly different words and added that he was prepared to meet any issue raised by the opposition camp.

Calls Roosevelt Main Issue.

"There is only one real issue in this primary," Igoe declared, "and that is where do we stand with President Roosevelt and the Roosevelt program?

"I don't attempt to say that everything the President says and does is correct, but I do say that his every effort is for the betterment of the American people. Roosevelt is the articulate heart of the country in which we live and those carping critics who try to run as Democrats, but actually wait only the opportunity to stab the President in the back, have no place on the Democratic ticket."

This was interpreted as a dig at Congressman Scott W. Lucas of Havana, Gov. Horner's senatorial candidate who opened his campaign last night in Decatur. Lucas, former national judge advocate of the American Legion, opposed the Roosevelt Supreme court packing plan.

Dieterich Frozen Out.

One thing emphasized by the county committee meeting was the discarding of Senator William H. Dieterich of Beardstown, who now finds himself a candidate without organization support. He was snubbed by the governor last fall—presumably because he opposed Horner in the 1936 primary—and yesterday saw his abandonment by the potent Nash-Kelly organization.

The senator was in Chicago yesterday enroute to his home, but would not talk politics with interviewers. At the committee meeting rumors multiplied that he proposes to give up his candidacy before the deadline for withdrawal late tomorrow. Should he remain in the race, about his only certain promise of support would come from the federal jobholders whose appointments he sponsored.

Downstaters Boom Igoe.

From the beginning of the meeting, the downstaters made it plain that Igoe was their candidate, which made a big hit with the Chicagoan. State Representative Schaefer O'Neill of Alton, who presented Igoe's name, declared that more than 100,000 signatures of downstate voters had been obtained for his petition.

"Wherever you go, it is Igoe for United States senator," O'Neill said.

Mr. Campbell's name was placed before the committee by E. J. Coyle of Carrollton and Mr. Martin's by Ward Holt, state's attorney of Marion county. Congressman Long was urged upon the committee by Dr. N. M. Ogilvie of Sandwich, Supt. Wieland by Prof. Robert Brown of the University of Illinois, and Ald. Orlikoski by John Szumnarski, committeeman of the 35th ward.

Change Sides in Shuffle.

Observers at the meeting commented upon the shift in positions since 1932, when the Democrats first elected all their candidates for state office. In the primary of that year Mr. Lucas was the candidate for senator on the ticket recruited by Igoe, who was running for governor. Igoe's opponents were Campbell and Gov. Horner. Now Igoe and Campbell are on the same ticket, and Horner, who supported Dieterich in 1932, is for Lucas.

The Igoe slate candidates will open their campaign in Springfield on March 5 and will then divide into two groups, one headed by Igoe and the other by Campbell, for an intensive tour of the downstate counties. They will campaign the last two weeks before the primaries in Cook county.

Walter J. Orlikoski (left) was approved for the primary race for clerk of the Supreme court. The committee also indorsed Bruce A. Campbell as candidate for state treasurer.

Marble Helpers' Union Placed in Receivership

Acting on a petition of 90 of the organization's 110 members, Judge Michael Feinberg of the Circuit court yesterday ordered the Marble, Mosaic and Terrazzo Helpers' union, local No. 198, placed in receivership. The petition charged John Testo, business agent; John Fascia, president, and Charles Quagliardi with mismanagement, terrorism, and illegal occupation of their offices after they had been voted out by the membership.

HORNER CHOICES OPEN PRIMARY ELECTION DRIVE

Chicago Bossism Is One Issue, Asserts Lucas.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Decatur, Ill., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—Led by Congressman Scott W. Lucas of Havana, the Horner choice for United States senator, the six state candidates on the governor's Democratic slate for the April primaries opened a campaign here tonight that will take them into 102 counties in Illinois.

Sounding the keynote for the group, Representative Lucas declared that the campaign issues were Chicago bossism and the unwritten law of politics that one of the two United States senators must be a downstater. Chicago now has one senator, James Hamilton Lewis.

Lucas is being advanced for the seat now held by Senator William H. Dieterich of Beardstown. Two other chief entries against Lucas in the Democratic primaries are Michael L. Igoe, United States district attorney, and Newton Jenkins, both of Chicago.

Dieterich Poses Question.

With the Cook county organization indorsing Igoe, the question of importance to Lucas' backers tonight was whether Senator Dieterich will remain in the race or will pull out.

"This action on the part of the bosses of Cook county occasions no surprise to fearless voters in every section of Illinois," Lucas said, commenting on the indorsement of Igoe.

"There is one thing certain. With Thomas Courtney, state's attorney of Cook county, on the firing line against the machine, and with Judge Edmund K. Jarecki watching the election machinery, we will get an honest count of votes in Cook county."

Issue for Republicans.

Lucas said that if the Democrats took this year's senatorship from downstate, they would drop a grand issue into the lap of Republicans in the November election. He said:

"I do not believe that the Democrats of Illinois, whether they live in Chicago or downstate, subscribe to the proposition that both United States senators should be chosen from the city of Chicago.

"It is apparent that if this were accomplished it would give our Republican opponents, now floundering for an issue, the one argument which they will stress as their claim for election next November."

Lucas said his first concern is that Illinois shall go Democratic in the fall and strengthen President Roosevelt.

"Illinois," he said, "has one large county which contains about half the population. The other 101 counties have the other half. It has been the experience of our state for many years that the party in control has not sought to elect both senators from downstate or both from Cook county.

Cites Practical Reason.

"There was a practical reason for this. Cook county is a great industrial center. The people in most of the remaining area are engaged in farming, mining, and rural pursuits, although we do have downstate some large cities.

"I do not say that one group or section is entitled to any greater consideration than any other group or section. However, the people have adhered steadfastly to the theory that in a representative democracy all sections of the state should have their voices heard in the councils of the nation."

Mr. Lucas, who fills the seat of the late Speaker Henry T. Rainey, opposed the administration's court packing bill, and urged the American Legion, of which for four terms he was national judge advocate, to take a similar stand.

In discussing other matters, Mr. Lucas dwelt upon foreign affairs, social security, banking, unemployment, labor, business, and agriculture. He said that if elected he would sustain the ideals of Franklin Roosevelt.

Pledges Vote for Defense.

He said he would vote for all money necessary for adequate national defense, but "not for one dime to send American boys across the seas merely to pull chestnuts out of the fire of some other country."

On business, Lucas said he voted for the housing bill as a building stimulant and that business will receive encouragement when the house reports a bill modifying the excess profits and surplus corporation tax.

Lucas also described his efforts in leading the fight of a bloc of congressmen to incorporate a mandatory corn loan feature. "I also labored in behalf of an amendment to reduce farm marketing quotas on corn and wheat," he said. "We were successful in this fight, and today these principles are the fundamental law of the land."

State Senator T. V. Smith, who is a candidate for congressman at large, lauded Secretary of Agriculture Wallace in his speech.

"If business men were able to reach as much agreement among themselves as the farmers have been able to reach through Secretary Wallace, a more affirmative program for business might have resulted," said Smith, who is a professor of philosophy at the University of Chicago.

Two Caravans to Make Tour.

Tomorrow morning the six Horner slate candidates will divide for the automobile platform campaign. In the caravan led by Mr. Lucas will be Thomas L. O'Hern, Peoria, who is running for congressman at large in the primaries, and Frank A. Jensen, candidate for superintendent of public instruction against John A. Wieland of Calumet City, the incumbent.

The second caravan will be headed by Louie E. Lewis of Christopher, speaker of the house, Horner candidate for state treasurer. His chief opponent is Bruce A. Campbell of Belleville, Democratic state chairman. With Lewis will be Adam F. Bloch, candidate for renomination as Supreme court clerk, and Senator Smith.

CHARGES GOV. EARLE USED STATE POWER TO AID CIO STRIKE

Johnstown, Pa., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—Gov. George H. Earle of Pennsylvania was charged with using the power of the state department to close the Bethlehem Steel mills here last June to help the C. I. O. after the strike had failed. This testimony was given at a national labor relations board hearing today by Lawrence W. Campbell, secretary of the citizens' committee and managing director of the chamber of commerce.

Campbell said he visited the Gautier mill gate at midnight on June 19 and saw "the most drastic thing I ever hope to see," when the state police closed the plant. Then he went to the lobby of the Fort Stanwyx hotel, where he met Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, who told him the governor had refused the committee's appeal that the mills be kept open.

As evidence that the majority of Bethlehem employés wanted to work and did not support the strike, Campbell said he had seen miners in from outlying towns on the picket lines and had heard them complain that not enough steel workers had come out to make the picketing successful.

A LITTLE STUFFY, BOLIVAR, BUT HE'S STILL IN RUNNING

Bolivar, the stuffed elephant that has journeyed to Washington with crowds from the Hamilton Club of Chicago for every Republican presidential inauguration since 1892, had a new home yesterday. The club recently lost its lease on the 16 story building at 20 South Dearborn street, but yesterday 150 members of the old G. O. P. organization moved into new quarters on the 18th floor of the Hotel La Salle and prepared a place for Bolivar.

The elephant needs a little dusting and a few repairs by a taxidermist, but otherwise he looks as jaunty as ever. Frederick A. Rowe, four times Hamilton club president and a member for 40 years, said the new organization, is known as the Hamiltonians.

COOL BREEZES AT EQUATOR GIVE VOYAGER THRILL

Then There's the Bow to Father Neptune, Too.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ABOARD SHIP TJINEGARA.—[By Airmail.]—The trip from Cebu, in the middle of the Philippine Island group, to the Island of Bali, off the east tip of Java, is about 1,400 miles and, on a slow steamer, requires five days, broken by two stops of four hours each at Menado and Macassar.

Arrows locate stopping points on East Indies voyage.

The line of travel is southwest around Zamboanga peninsula of Mindanao Island, through Basilan strait, then across the Celebes sea to Menado, on Celebes Island.

The route is interesting except when the ship is not close enough to enjoy the scenery of the shoreline. The mountain lines are not high enough to be of scenic value. A flying fish shows itself now and then.

Hills Backdrop for Menado.

The passengers aboard amuse themselves by reading and playing the few games available on the sport deck—ping-pong, shuffleboard, miniature golf, and the 10 by 20 foot swimming pool constitute the entertainment. Beer drinking is quite popular. The only bad weather encountered is a cloudburst of short duration the second day out of Cebu.

We approach Menado, a town of 20,000 inhabitants, located on the northeastern arm of Celebes Island of the Dutch East Indies. The hills —about 1,000 feet high—in the background furnish a brilliant array of various shades of vegetation. Two artists aboard bring out their brushes and go to work.

A large semicircle with a clock hand erected on the shore indicates the depth of the tide. The steamer anchors 300 yards off shore for the channel is shallow and the harbor poor. Steamers are loaded by tenders and passengers go ashore by motorboat. Many native canoes are available if wanted.

Copra Export Chief Industry.

Small boats with all different colors of sails ply about. Natives may be seen up and down the shoreline searching for what the last tide may have deposited.

The natives greatly resemble the Filipinos, but speak Dutch instead of a Spanish dialect. The town is about equally divided between the Roman Catholic and Protestant religions, with no Mohammedans.

Points of interest are a cock fighting arena, the race track, and a busy —but untidy—market selling everything imaginable in foodstuffs. The export of copra [coconut meat] is the town's principal industry. Near the race track are a few horses of small thoroughbred type, far superior to any others so far observed in the orient.

The houses and stores around the settlement appear more modern than those in Philippine small towns. Fewer grass huts are in evidence. Buses furnish the transportation inland. Small pony carts and ordinary cattle are plentiful on the streets. The inhabitants appear clean, prosperous, and happy.

Ceremony for First Timers.

Weighing anchor on the minute, the ship heads west along the coastline of the island to Macassar strait, then south across the equator and to the town of Macassar on the southwest tip of Celebes.

We crossed the equator at 10:30 a. m. Feb. 1. Contrary to expectations, the weather was comfortably cool with a good breeze. The sky was overcast.

The ship officers and passengers stage a little ceremony for those who are crossing the equator for the first time, providing, of course, they want to participate. Those so desiring are requested to appear on deck in bathing suits at equator crossing time.

Out comes the fattest passenger aboard dressed as Father Neptune [costumes furnished by the ship], followed by his staf of two pirates, a doctor, and attendants. Each passenger desiring to be initiated is called by name and accused of an offense.

The pirates escort the victim to a table beside the swimming pool where he undergoes trial, examination, and sentence. All the victims are thrown into the pool. The officers know how to put on the show.

PICKETING RESUMED AT DEL PRADO, 2 WEEKS AFTER STRIKE KILLING

Picketing was resumed yesterday at the Del Prado hotel, 5307 Hyde Park boulevard, with the reluctant consent of the state's attorney's office after police had refused to interfere. The Del Prado and Fairfax hotels, 1369 East Hyde Park boulevard, were the scenes of strike violence two weeks ago in which Lloyd Rourke, independent laundry driver, was beaten to death with a baseball bat.

After the slaying the state's attorney's office banned picketing not only by the striking Inside Laundry Workers' union at the two south side hotels but seized pickets at hotels throughout the city. Two pickets appeared again yesterday at the Del Prado and the state's attorney's office ordered that they be driven away.

Hyde Park police, however, backed by Supervising Captain Joseph Goldberg, refused to interfere. Last evening the prosecutor's office announced no further action would be taken.

Two Public Schools Cited as Smoke Law Violators

Two public schools, the Spaulding at 1628 Washington boulevard, and the Avalon Park at 8041 Kenwood avenue, were among five violators of the city smoke ordinance whose representatives failed to appear yesterday before Frank A. Chambers, head of the department of smoke inspection and abatement. The others are Warshawski & Co., 3924 Ogden avenue; Windsor Park laundry, 1726 East 75th street, and Chrysler-Illinois Motor company, 2237 Wabash avenue. All will receive second warning.

ONE MAN'S THRIFT EASES LAST DAYS FOR 410 OLD MEN

J. C. King Home Is Like an Exclusive Club.

This article is another in a series The Tribune is publishing to acquaint its readers with the workings of Chicago's many charitable and semi-charitable institutions.

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

One man's lifetime of self-denial that ended thirty-three years ago has since cushioned the last years of his 410 beneficiaries.

James C. King, irascible and shrewd Vermonter, was one of Chicago's first millionaires. He was self-made. His money was amassed by painstaking scrimping and saving. When he died he left it all, 3 millions, to finance a comfortable home for aged men.

The James C. King Home for Old Men is more than comfortable. It is luxurious. It is also exclusive. No matter how great his need, no man may be admitted to the genteel King establishment unless he has held a former position of standing in his community before ill luck befell him.

88 Now in Home.

There are eighty-eight snowy haired gentlemen, carefully selected and investigated, now sharing their permanent club in the dignified brick structure, which is set back reticently from the corner of Garfield boulevard and South Park way.

There, unmindful that their tightfisted patron and his first wife lived for twenty years in one room, these men wander from lounge to sunroom, from billiard parlor to library, from recreation room to workroom. Tiring of these, they go for a walk, a free movie, or invite their cronies into their rooms for coffee and cigars.

The house has few rules, and no restrictions on the freedom of its residents. They come and go as they please, day or night. They may spend a week-end or a season with friends and return when they are ready.

Long Waiting List.

The pleasures of the King club are so well heralded among the aged impoverished that notwithstanding the $500 entrance fee and the 68 year age minimum, John B. Angus, superintendent of the institution, has a waiting list that stretches many months into the future. Where else, reason the old men, can they be sure of food and lodging, hospital care, tonsorial attention, two tailor made suits at a fitting, and burial when they die? Where else can they be sure of three cigars daily and an occasional toddy with gentlemen of their own standing?

It is another irony, of which the happy old men are ignorant, that their charitable benefactor was never known to buy a newspaper; it was his custom to borrow one from a newsboy and return it when he had read it. Mr. King's home has eighty-eight newspapers delivered each morning—one for each resident.

The courtly old sea captain who spoke so glowingly of the home's cuisine, "and especially, my dear, its strawberry ice cream!" probably did not know that the penurious King refused to pay 50 cents for strawberries to satisfy the craving of his dying wife. She got them, but a head waiter paid the bill.

Abundant Laundry Service.

Then, too, there is the home's commodious laundry, whence comes the fresh white linen that is part of the daily toilet of its impeccable old residents. Mrs. King, it has been recalled, spent two days each week on her knees doing the family wash in her hotel bathtub. Only Jim's collars and his stiff bosom shirt were sent out.

It is the pride of the King home that it met and conquered Gaston B. Means, czar of the confidence men. That was twenty-one years ago, but the old men still talk about it. Their quarrel had to do with the finding by means of a second will, allegedly signed by King on his death bed, giving his entire estate to his second young wife and nothing at all to the home for the aged.

About that time Mrs. King was shot while on a hunting party with Means, who was indicted for her murder, tried, and acquitted. After a long legal fight Probate Judge Henry Horner held the second will to be a forgery.

"We won that fight," explained Mr. Angus, "for a good many reasons." One of the results of the victory this week was the party honoring the birthday of the home's senior member. "Grandpa" George S. Gaskill was 100 years old.

SPECIAL SESSION URGED TO REVISE MORTGAGE LAWS

Aldermen Want Broader State Legislation.

Members of the aldermanic committee who are hearing city housing problems expressed the opinion last night that the city council should be asked to memorialize Gov. Horner to call a special session of the legislature in May to amend the state mortgage laws.

"I feel that some change in the state laws could and should be made," said Ald. William A. Rowan [10th], chairman of the committee. "The laws now in force are restricting the mortgage field, so that there is no loose money from private and commercial sources for new home buildings."

Calls Laws Archaic.

Ald. Rowan's remarks were based on a talk before the committee yesterday by John M. Quinlan, Illinois counsel for the federal Home Owners' Loan corporation. Mr. Quinlan asserted Illinois' laws on mortgage and foreclosure were archaic. Forty-six states have more advanced legislation in this field than Illinois, he said; only Alabama is behind Illinois. Other speakers supported his argument.

The point of the discussion was that foreclosure costs are extremely heavy in Illinois because of the laws. It was estimated that 85 per cent of the costs go to lawyers, masters in chancery, and abstract companies. A foreclosure on a $5,000 home may cost as much as $700 and take eighteen months, Mr. Quinlan estimated. A more equitable law would cut the cost to $75 and reduce the time to four months, he said.

Under present laws, people and companies hesitate to lend money on mortgages, knowing the high cost and long time of foreclosure, said Ald. Rowan. With fairer laws, more money would be available, and better and more legitimate borrowing would result, he asserted. It would mean more money to build new homes in Chicago, he added.

City Code Retards Activity.

The city building code, however, is also a detriment to increased home building, said Rowan. As a consequence, a ring of new suburban homes is being built around Chicago. Suburban codes are more liberal and land is cheaper, he explained. It is almost impossible to build a home for less than $5,000 in the city, he said. Ald. Rowan said an attempt might be made to amend the code to permit semi-fireproof single unit homes in the city, so as to attract more local home building.

Ald. Rowan's committee will hold two sessions today, one of which will be devoted to federal and state legislation on housing.

COUNSEL WILL SEEK TO QUESTION SCOBIE FOR LENORE MILLER

Miami, Fla., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Attorneys for Lenore Miller, Chicago dancing teacher, filed notice today they would seek an order requiring David P. Scobie, Chicago and Miami millionaire, to submit to oral examination in her $100,000 damage and breach of promise suit.

Scobie never appeared in court during several hearings before the late Judge Jefferson B. Browne and no action has been taken since November, 1936. Wallace Russ, attorney for Miss Miller, said he wished to question Scobie regarding his assets.

The suit charges Scobie with inducing Miss Miller to come here on a promise of marriage and breaking a promise to divorce his wife. Mrs. Scobie is the daughter and sole heir of Porter B. Yates, founder of the Yates-American Machine company of Beloit, Wis.

Air Rifle Pellet Is Taken from Eyeball of Boy, 12

The air rifle pellet, which was fired Tuesday into the right eyeball of Edward Allendorph, 12 years old, 6130 North Mozart street, was removed at the Michael Reese hospital yesterday by Dr. Harry S. Gradle. Physicians said it would not be known for several days whether the boy's sight could be saved. The injury occurred when the rifle, in the hands of another boy, was accidentally discharged.

IF WALLS WERE GLASS

By CALEB

MAETERLINCK wrote "The Life of the Bee." He also wrote "The Life of the Ant." Both are fascinating studies. If someone could take a slice down through the middle of our store, laying open to public view the swarming cross-section of ant-like activities which are constantly carrying on, another fascinating story could be told. Or if our walls and floors were glass and one could peer through section after section and floor after floor, the department store would be seen as a city of amazing versatility within four enclosing walls.

From Holden Court on the first floor, merchandise and foodstuffs are being hurried into ascending elevators. A persisting stream of green packages and boxes is similarly flowing out of the store into vast trailers for transport to our delivery center.

In one locale, a valuable piece of jade is being shown to a collector. In another, Mrs. Middle Income is selecting a pattern for a modest utility dress, and Mrs. Fashionable is selecting a pattern to which a suit will be made of our finest woolens.

Floor by floor our innumerable activities are carried on. Men are busy repairing shoes; a large laundry is washing our linens, and garments for our maids and waitresses.

Skilled watchmakers are at work. Lenses are being ground for the glasses of particular persons. Initials are being stamped in gold on luggage. A beautiful ring is being made to order. A broken Venetian glass vase is being restored. Snapshots are being finished. Heraldic stationery is being engraved. Millinery is being fashioned to suit the individual requirements of many customers.

Scores of workers who know but little of these other activities are pouring the results of a lifetime of experience into the production of perfect fur garments. Numerous employes are having a rest period, listening to music. Our Training Division is conducting classes for newcomers to our store. Telephone men are installing a switchboard. Electricians are renewing some wiring. Machinists, 'way below the streets, are tooling some mechanical parts.

But these are only a scattering and insignificant few glimpses of what goes on under our roof. The sum of all these activities rolled into one, and the many men and women involved, make Marshall Field & Company.

MOVE FOR NEW TVA DAM STIRS SENATE STORM

Vandenberg Lashes Into $112,000,000 Project.

dled adequately by the six other dams on the Tennessee river, with Wilson and Norris completed and Pickwick Landing, Guntersville, Chickamauga, and Hiwasse well along in construction.

"The question was asked in the hearings, 'Whoever heard tell of a project for flood control that was placed at the mouth of the stream?'" said Senator Miller. "The engineer very truthfully replied that he never heard of such a project.

"We place this dam, nearly 9,000 feet long, twenty miles from the mouth of the Tennessee, and we make a lake 184.2 miles long; we have a shore line there more than 2,000 miles in length, longer by 300 miles than the Pacific coast. The reservoir will flood five towns. It will cover 400,000 acres of land, which must be purchased at a cost averaging $38.50 an acre, or a total of $15,300,000 for land alone. Yet it is said that it is built for flood control because, perchace, it will hold back out of the Mississippi 200,000 cubic feet of water per second."

Labor Board Under Fire.

Another bitter controversy in the senate concerned the action of the appropriations committee in cutting the appropriation for the National Labor Relations board from $2,955,000 to $2,570,000. The committee struck out $385,000 which the board wanted to hire additional employés.

"What the committee did was to give them the same amount of money they got last year," said Senator Carter Glass [D., Va.], chairman of the appropriations committee. "The committee did not want to extend the labor board's tentacles into every community of the United States. Some of us believe the Labor Relations board ought to be abolished."

Senator Elbert D. Thomas [D., Utah], chairman of the labor committee, protested indignantly. He said the opposition of Senator Glass to the philosophy of the Wagner act was a strange reason for cutting down the board's appropriation. He praised the board's administration of the act.

Senator Edward R. Burke [D., Neb.], author of an unsuccessful resolution to investigate the National Labor board, said he could not leave unchallenged the statement of Senator Thomas that the act and the board's administration of it had improved labor relations.

Thomas sought a record vote, but could not get one. The $385,000 was restored by a voice vote.

Plan for Proposed New TVA Dam

Diagram of the area to be affected by the proposed $112,000,000 Gilbertsville dam in Kentucky which precipitated a controversy in the United States senate yesterday. The proposed Tennessee Valley authority dam was assailed as being unjustifiable as a power, a navigation, or a flood control project.

Arrow marks site of the dam. The lake which would be formed by the dam is shown in white.

CALLS FOR NEW LAWS TO HANDLE CRIMINAL INSANE

Psychiatrist Condemns Jury System.

A revision of criminal codes to remove from the jury's province the decision on a defendant's plea of insanity at the time of his crime is recommended by Dr. Foster Kennedy, noted psychiatrist, in an article in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical association.

Attention has been directed to laws involving insanity pleas in Chicago as a result of the recent arrest of John Harbut for robbery. In 1933 Harbut, accused of forty robberies, was sent to the Chester State Hospital for the Criminal Insane. Held sane three years later, all the robbery charges were nol prossed. He has entered a plea of not guilty to his latest robbery and his trial has been set for March 2.

Many Vicious Criminals Freed.

Dr. Kennedy, who is chief of the neurological service at Bellevue hospital in New York, said that present laws, which permit jurors to pass on a defendant's mental condition, have resulted in acquittals of many vicious criminals who again endangered society on their release. He urged that disposition and treatment, including punishment, be based on a study of the individual offender by qualified and impartial mental experts coöperating with the court. The jurors' function, he said, should be to determine only whether the crime was committed by the defendant.

Other recommendations made by Dr. Kennedy were:

1. No maximum term should be set in any sentence. When incurable persons have proved dangerous, society has the right to demand their imprisonment or segregation, either greatly prolonged or permanently.

2. No parole or probation should be granted without suitable psychiatric examination.

3. In considering applications for pardons and commutations of sentence careful attention should be given to reports of qualified experts.

4. A panel of qualified medical opinion should be chosen, if possible from university and major hospital staffs, to advise the conscience of the court. These physicians should be paid by the state only.

Says Law Is Not a Clinic.

"We have been so glamored by our desire to safeguard the liberty of the person," Dr. Kennedy said, "that we have become negligent of the safety of the mass. Law is an instrument for the protection of society. It is not a clinic.

"The whole system whereby a defendant employs and pays for medical opinion in the courts is wrong and should be abolished. I can see no reason why a defendant should have any more constitutional right to pick his medical expert than he has to pick the policeman who arrests him or the judge who presides at his trial."

Golden State Limited, Chicago Bound, Wrecked

Trenton, Mo., Feb. 24.—(AP)—The Rock Island railroad dispatcher's office here said its Golden State Limited, en route to Chicago from Kansas City, had been derailed near Reed, Mo., at 11 p. m. tonight. The train had just left Kansas City after arriving from California. None of the eighty passengers, most of whom were bound for Chicago, nor any of the trainmen were hurt.

BOLSTER THEORY ROBBERS KILLED EXILED DENTIST

Police yesterday discovered new clews which they hope will lead them to the slayers of Dr. Max Bernhard Sammet, exiled German dentist.

The clews confirmed police belief that Dr. Semmet was shot to death in an encounter with robbers. His body was found Sunday afternoon in a gangway adjoining a vacant building at 229 South Paulina street.

Shoveling the snow away in front of the building, detectives discovered a puddle of blood, a .32 caliber bullet that had been fired from a Colt automatic pistol, and 76 cents. The bullet apparently had ricocheted from the wall of the building.

Tells of Seeing Scuffle.

Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan disclosed that he had found a witness who told of seeing three men scuffling with a fourth near the building soon after midnight. The informant said that after several shots were fired the three men fled.

Attention was still being given a woman's fur scarf found near the scene. This fur had been torn from a red cloth coat and it led the police to think the robbers may have had a woman companion.

Such a bandit gang is known to be working on the west side. Robert N. Wilson, 219 West 72d street, reported that he was held up early yesterday by two men and a woman at Canal and Adams streets.

"Don't try anything," one man warned, "we killed the last fellow that resisted us."

Forced Into Alley and Robbed.

Wilson was forced into an alley near Adams and Clinton streets, where the girl took his brief case, $15, his diamond ring and a watch.

Dr. Sammet's widow, Inga, who lives in New York, made a statement to the police yesterday, but added little to facts already known. She said her husband left Germany because he was a Jew and Nazi dentists had made it impossible for him to carry on his profession. While a student at the University of Illinois college of dentistry, she said, he was supported by loans made by friends. He lived at 1622 Jackson boulevard.

Miner, 17, Held in Gun Slaying of His Bride, 15

Whitesburg, Ky., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—At Cranks Creek, south of here in Harlan county, Dennie Noe, 17 years old, a miner, was held today in the slaying of his schoolgirl wife, Lena Mae, 15 years old, whom he married recently.

Sherif Herbert Cawood, who investigated, said Monk Martin, a neighbor, also is being held in the case. The sherif said Martin gave Noe the gun with which he shot his wife four times. The Noes had been having marital difficulties, Cawood asserted.

2 GET JAIL TERMS FOR VIOLATING BLUE SKY LAW

Judge Albert E. Isley of Newton, Ill., sitting here in the County court, yesterday sentenced William L. Dickelman, 3827 Wilton avenue, and Scott R. Weinland, 1451 East 71st street, each to 90 days in jail for violating the Illinois securities act.

A jury convicted them of selling unregistered gold mining securities through the West Coast Minerals Co., Ltd., formerly at 10 North Clark street. The state charged investors lost $84,000.

According to investigators the stock was sold to 430 men and women, many of them aged and most of them in poor circumstances.

Home of Union Agent Is Damaged by Bomb

Terre Haute, Ind., Feb. 24.—(AP)—A bomb explosion tonight damaged the home of O. B. Soucie, business agent of the International Union of Operating Engineers. No one was injured. Mrs. Soucie, who was alone in the house, said her husband was out of the city.

LEMON with SODA
Instead of Harsh Laxatives

EVERYONE knows that harsh laxatives do not cure constipation but only irritate the intestinal tract.

Instead, try this. First thing every morning squeeze the juice of a lemon into a tall glass of cold or warm water. Into another glass, put half a teaspoonful of ordinary baking soda (bicarbonate). Pour back and forth, and drink when foaming subsides.

Make this a daily habit. See how you benefit, right from the start.

"MY CHILDREN CALLED ME CROSSPATCH! until I found American Family Soap!"

Says Mrs. ELIZABETH SMITH

"I know I was always nagging the children to keep their clothes clean as long as possible to save on washing. But who wouldn't be cross and irritable after scrubbing and boiling clothes all day only to have them come out dingy and gray-looking after all? Then one day I tried American Family Soap—and what magical results! I was through washing in half the time, and hung out the whitest wash you ever saw! Now the children are glad, too, because I'm my old self again!"

THERE'S no mystery about the amazing way American Family Soap turns out a far whiter, sweeter-smelling wash than ordinary soaps—without boiling, scrubbing, hard rubbing, or the use of strong bleaches. For laboratory tests have proved that American Family contains as much as ⅓ more suds-making material than other leading brands of bar soap in this territory—including soaps containing naphtha.

It's this extra suds-making material that gives American Family Soap greater washing power. That produces the rich, creamy, active "DOUBLE-SUDS" which float out even the grimiest dirt in record time, and with utmost ease to clothes.

Because these "DOUBLE SUDS" take the place of boiling, scrubbing, hard rubbing and strong bleaches, colored fabrics retain their gay brilliance. White clothes come out snowy white. All washables last unbelievably longer.

A short trial with American Family Soap will reveal why this famous brand has been the leading seller in this market for over 90 years. And why countless thousands of women know—"It's cheaper to buy good soap than new clothes." Made by Procter & Gamble. Trade-Mark Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

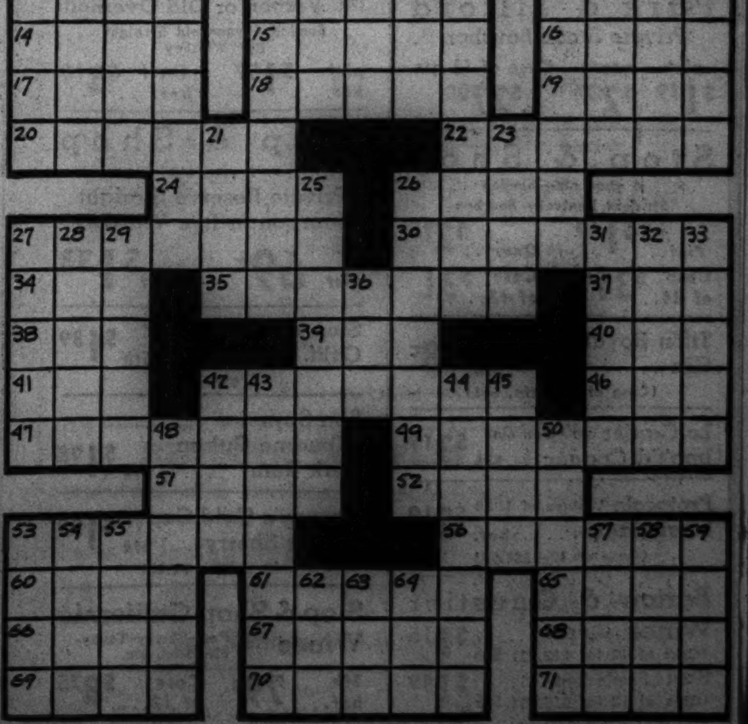
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



PRESIDENT ACTS TO MAKE PEACE IN PENNSYLVANIA

Gets Guffey's Word He'll Stay in Senate.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt late today assumed the rôle of peacemaker in Pennsylvania politics snarled by the conflicting ambitions of United States Senator Joseph P. Guffey and John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers and C. I. O. dictator. He conferred with several Democratic leaders of the state.

In paving a peaceful way out of the state's scramble, the President for the third time openly set himself in opposition to the announcement of Postmaster General James A. Farley that the administration would keep its hands out of local political fights.

McIntyre Sent to Kentucky.

Mr. Roosevelt sent White House Secretary Marvin H. McIntyre to Kentucky to appear at a testimonial dinner for Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, who faces a stiff fight to retain his seat from Gov. A. B. [Happy] Chandler He sent his son and secretary, James Roosevelt, into Florida to throw White House support to United States Senator Claude Pepper, who is being opposed by a large field of candidates.

The President's third foray into state fights was taken here as definite indication that Farley has been dropped as a political mentor. For some time the party boss, who has been preaching harmony at any cost, has not enjoyed the confidence of the White House, which fact has given rise to reports that Mr. Roosevelt is determined to create his own party in order to drive his program through.

Showdown Fight Due.

The fight in Pennsylvania is regarded as a showdown between organized labor, as represented by Lewis, and Guffey's organized machine. Lewis has behind him the powerful miners' union and the state's C. I. O. followers, while Guffey, through patronage, has built one of the mightiest state organizations in the history of American politics.

Tension among Democrats in the state was brought into the open when Gov. George H. Earle announced himself a candidate for the senate seat of James J. Davis, Pennsylvania's Republican senator. Lewis promptly insisted that Lieut. Gov. Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer of the U. M. W. A., be nominated as Earle's successor.

Guffey Is Receptive.

Then Guffey announced he would not be unreceptive to the gubernatorial nomination himself. Lewis asserted that labor could not be taken so lightly and immediately began work in Pennsylvania in behalf of Kennedy.

White House concern over the situation developed when Kennedy's followers declared they would run him as an independent if he lost the primary. Such a split, it was feared, might throw victory to the Republicans.

Agrees to Stay in Senate.

Apparently hoping to avert that disaster, the President today consented to see a Pennsylvania delegation. After a conference lasting nearly two hours, Gov. Earle told newspaper men that Mr. Roosevelt had only one suggestion on the matter.

"He said: 'I need Senator Guffey in the United States senate and I request that you leave him there,'" Earle quoted the President.

The import of this is that Guffey will remain in the senate and that Gove. Earle will get machine backing to become his colleague.

MRS. CARMELLA ESPOSITO.

Financial difficulties besetting Mrs. Carmella Esposito, 800 South Oakley boulevard, widow of "Diamond Joe" Esposito, west side politician slain by gangsters in March, 1928, were revealed in the Felony court of Judge Oscar S. Caplan yesterday as Mrs. Esposito appeared to press a charge of theft against Mrs. Viola Doran, 22 years old, 2314 Polk street, and a charge of receiving stolen property against Charles Kramer, 42, 6231 Champlain avenue. Mrs. Esposito accused Mrs. Doran of stealing pawn tickets on jewelry valued at $5,700 on which she had obtained loans in Chicago and New York, and selling them to Kramer. She testified that she had sold one ticket to obtain money to pay interest on the loans. Mrs. Doran testified that she bought all of the tickets from Mrs. Esposito. Judge Caplan discharged the defendants.

A verdict of suicide while temporarily insane was returned yesterday at the inquest over Jacob Philipson, 59 years old, former merchant tailor, who plunged to his death Wednesday from the sixteenth floor of the Fort Dearborn hotel.

ROOSEVELT BIDS FOR CONTROL OF AVIATION IN U. S.

Has Bills Redrafted for New Air Commission.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—At President Roosevelt's request, sponsors of bills in the senate and house to place the regulation of commercial aviation under the interstate commerce commission have changed the measures so that they would vest control in a new commission to be appointed by the President.

Representative Clarence F. Lea [D., Cal.], chairman of the house interstate commerce committee, already has substituted a tentative draft for his original measure, which the committee has reported and which is on the house calendar. He did this, he said today, because of the wishes of the administration.

Senator Pat McCarran [D., Nev.], whose original bill has been reported by the senate interstate commerce committee and is now on the senate calendar, also is drafting a substitute to create a new commission for the regulation of commercial aviation.

President Reverses Self.

"President Roosevelt called me in about six weeks ago and asked me to do this," said McCarran. The senator recalled that in 1934 he favored the creation of a new commission to regulate aviation but that the President opposed it. Mr. Roosevelt then wanted all transportation placed under the control of the I. C. C. McCarran therefore introduced a bill putting aviation under the I. C. C., but now that the President has reversed himself, the senator is drafting a new bill.

There is a widespread suspicion in congress that the administration wants a new commission, to be appointed by the President, because it does not wish to surrender political control of the aviation industry.

The charge has often been made, notably by Senator McCarran, that the postoffice department has used the air lines as a political football ever since Mr. Roosevelt canceled the air mail contracts in February, 1934. After the army had attempted to carry the mail, with a loss of 12 pilots, the air lines were forced to reorganize and were given new contracts on terms which they pronounced unsatisfactory.

Provides for Five Members.

Senator McCarran said his bill would create a five man commission, not more than three of whose members could be chosen from one political party, and that they would be appointed for six year terms. He conceded the independence of the commission would depend upon the character of the men whom the President would appoint.

Besides the opportunity to name a whole new commission, Mr. Roosevelt's opposition to the I. C. C. as the regulating agency for aviation is believed to have been influenced by the probable fate of his reorganization bill. That measure places control of all the independent establishments, including the regulatory and rate making agencies, in the hands of the President and his cabinet subordinates. There is much doubt, however, that congress will include the I. C. C. in the proposed concentration of power.

Lea's Measure Similar.

Representative Lea's substitute bill would create a five man civil aeronautics authority, each member to receive $10,000 a year and serve six years. The bill would prohibit air carriers from engaging in transportation without a certificate issued by the authority, and the certificate could be modified, suspended, or revoked after notice and a hearing, if the public convenience and necessity required.

The carriers would be required to comply with the provisions of the railway labor act, under the authority of the national mediation board. All charges for air transportation would be regulated by the authority, including the rates for carrying the mail.

ORDERS EXTRADITION.

Gov. Horner yesterday ordered the extradition to Minneapolis, Minn., of Alfred Thomas and his wife, Marie, wanted there on charges of conspiring to operate a lottery swindle.

BILLIONS FOR FUTILITY.

Senator Bailey of North Carolina spoke briefly on the 250 million dollar supplementary relief bill the other day. It was one of the most devastating speeches which have been heard in Washington in many a session.

Mr. Bailey has a memory and he used it with telling effect. He reminded the senate that in 1935 congress appropriated almost 5 billion dollars to prime the pump. This huge sum was voted on the assurance that the pump would stay primed. The President told congress and the country that the appropriations for relief then sought would enable the federal government to "quit this business of relief."

The money was voted. It so far failed of its objective that an additional 9 billion dollars has since been appropriated for the same purpose. And even that has been of no avail. Mr. Bailey quoted the President's own statement that unemployment had increased by 3 million in three months. This increase has taken place in this fiscal year in the face of the expenditure of 1¾ billion dollars already and the prospective expenditure of almost 2 billion dollars by June 30.

The record proves the futility of these colossal appropriations in restoring employment. Today, as Senator Bailey said, we have a national debt of 38 billion dollars. "If all we can do is to reach our hands into an empty treasury and borrow more and more money from the banks, with the public debt going higher and higher, and unemployment continuing to increase, we might as well go home," he said in summing it all up.

The administration has operated on the theory that the country could squander itself back to prosperity. The theory has been proved false. It did not work and it will not work, but it is the only theory that the administration knows. These doctors have only one prescription. They persist in dosing the patient with it in face of the fact that the more of it their patient takes the sicker he grows.

HIGH JINKS BY THE HIGH COMMISSIONER.

High Commissioner Paul V. McNutt, fresh from the Philippines and getting fresher every hour, came home like a provincial Roman procurator buzzing with the idea that the legions had called on him to be emperor. It isn't easy to make Washington boggle its eyes, but a pushover to get it where there is anything to eat and drink. The high commissioner is lucky. He's several hundred years this side of the time when he'd find something poisonous in his soup the next time he was invited out to dinner. He'll find it only in the looks he gets.

The first stage of High Commissioner McNutt's trip to Washington after he landed on these shores got an army officer into trouble. Col. Davenport Johnson, commandant of Hamilton aviation field in California, flew the Indiana politician to Denver to enable him to make a banquet date. Col. Johnson has been transferred to the army aviation Siberia, Chanute field in Illinois. If there had to be a military Siberia it would be in Illinois. [Our senators may take their bow.] The high commissioner got away with this flight, but the unfortunate officer didn't.

In Washington the returning procurator was given a reception by admiring friends and the town hasn't seen anything like it since the dry era wet receptions at the embassy oases. There was a notable absence of the upper burocracy and for a time the Indiana Ludlows and Larrabees had to keep marching through the reception line like a ten man imperial guard parade on the stage, but when word of the smorgasbord penetrated to the beer and highball strata the friends of McNutt became legion.

No one can know what they'll make of the menu down in Brown county, Indiana, or even in Turkey Run and New Harmony when they read of patisserie Viennoise, mignardises and buffet delice Diana. When McNutt gets home he'll have to square himself by giving a number of hot dog picnics, but he needn't worry about squaring himself at home for a while. There's a job of doing that in Washington and it won't keep. Provincial procurators who think to roll into the national capital with the glint of triumph in their eyes, imperial purple flowing from their shoulders, and the mob acclaiming them will find that they would have been safer on the farther side of the Rubicon. Mr. McNutt says he is not a candidate for the presidency. That, now, may be true. There is such a thing as premature funeral baked meats.

GENTLEMEN BALL PLAYERS.

Australia has selected the cricket team which will go to England in April for the matches. Among the players are Mr. Bradman, the Joe Di Maggio of the team, Mr. Dwyer, Mr. Johnson, Mr. Babcock, Mr. Fingelton, Mr. Hassett, Mr. O'Reilly, and Mr. Fleetwood Smith.

The attention of our sports writers may be called to the fact that at no time is a player mentioned without his "Mr." The inference is that these are all gentlemen as distinguished from players, and great as they are as batting and bowling terrors their gentility is unimpaired by their sporting activities.

Might it not be an improvement in American baseball reporting if things were done differently over here? Several players of the St. Louis Gas House Gang might be kept in dignified behavior if, for instance, it was always Mr. Dean and never Dizzy, and the effect upon the New York Giants might be considerable if Mr. Terry were never Bill.

Our own Cubs are always gentlemen. Mr. Hartnett and Mr. Grimm would suffer no change in temperament if they were never Gabby and Charley. In fact, it has been noted by sports writers that the gentlemanly conduct of the Cubs increases as the season lengthens and when what is known elsewhere as the contest becomes spirited. When the Cubs come to the post-season game with the White Sox, their conduct is perfect. Every man a little gentleman.

Inasmuch as the Cubs are unlikely to change their deportment and behavior, it might even things up if the gentlemen of the other clubs were to become all Misters.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN RIDES THE STORM.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain weathered the storm in parliament roused by the resignation of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, withstanding an attack on his ideas of international morality, although it was well delivered by the formidable debaters Winston Churchill and David Lloyd George. Mr. Chamberlain defended himself well. He might have done even better if he'd felt free to slash deeper into the illusions, deceits, and hypocrisies which have been passing current for fair dealing.

He said the league of nations had been saying it would do things it never could do, was a pretentious failure, and would have to reduce its program to fit any usefulness it might find. No small nation could trust it and none should be beguiled into thinking differently. There is no diplomatic immorality in recognizing facts. There can be a great deal in deceiving people into relying upon something they aren't going to get.

Mr. Chamberlain seemed to be prepared to recognize that there wasn't much difference between the Italian occupation of Ethiopia and the British occupation of neighboring Kenya, or Britain's position in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan. If there is any difference it is only that the British got theirs first. There isn't any difference between British occupation of Hongkong and the Japanese occupation of Shanghai except, again, that the British got theirs first. Both locations needed a war to be acquired. If the Japanese are going further, the difference is quantitative and not qualitative. Mr. Chamberlain, to promote the peace of Europe, seems to be willing to recognize these realities.

Something can be gained by getting the indefensible hypocrisies out of European negotiations. A small state which insists upon including in its territory a protesting minority of another people who do not want to be absorbed and who have another fatherland is making a mistake and weakening its claim to its own independence. The British have no moral claim on the German African colonies because nothing of the colonial system rests upon international ethics but merely on force, and Germany's colonies were lost in Europe. Many colonies may be only imperial window dressing. They are not worth a European war.

There are small European countries which seem to be getting along very well. They are peaceable and prosperous. They are not demanding colonies, they haven't got oppressed minorities, and they don't seem to be very much afraid of their big neighbors.

Mr. Chamberlain hopes that France, Italy, and Germany can find reasons for being peaceable more attractive than the occasions they have found for irritating one another. He may be disappointed and he may be tricked, but in seeking to find an accord instead of a war he is at least acting as a sensible man, and if he has to discard a lot of deceptive pretense of indefensible one-sided morality in order to get down to realities, he is acting as an honest statesman.

The United States, it would seem in retrospect, is very much in luck. Chamberlain might have hooked us last fall when Mr. Roosevelt invited Great Britain and France to use the United States in an attempt to force Japan out of China. He refused to do it and the United States escaped. If he makes his peace with Germany and Italy, the American people will get a good illustration of the fact that they are not involved when other nations begin their maneuvers for self-advancement and the serving of self-interest. It's a lesson we ought to have been able to figure out for ourselves.

Editorial of the Day

"CHISELING" ON THE INCH.

[Toronto Globe and Mail.]

Because of wars and other spectacular goings-on throughout the world little attention has been paid to a serious bit of news from Washington. While legislators there have been preoccupied with national and international affairs, neutrality, boycotts, and the like, a house of representatives committee has decided that Uncle Sam's standard inch measure is too long.

Innocently, of course, it appears that England has been "chiseling" on the inch; also on the yardstick. With the wear and tear of years these official measures in London are shorter than they were, say, a century or so ago, Washington claims; and this seems reasonable enough. But, with characteristic tenacity and complacency, England says an inch and a yard are whatever length English standards say they are.

So there seems nothing to do but shorten the United States inch, too; then the yard will look after itself: the usual 36 inches—but English inches.

How much shorter is the English inch? Washington has the answer and here is where the business becomes interesting; also gets into rows of decimals, like this: United States inch, 25.40005 millimeters; English inch, 25.39996 millimeters. See the difference? Not with the naked eye, of course, but it's there.

It is said there is "an understanding" between Washington and London that something will be done about this; but they hint that also regarding the two navies, in a somewhat larger field. And there has been more fuss over the alleged naval "understanding" than about the unifying of the inch.

This inch issue may be regarded by those who scorn decimals as not worth the attention of legislative solons, but it is important. Think it through. Shorter inch, shorter foot, shorter yard, and so on up to the shorter mile; which means, of course, more miles round the world. It also means new speed records for all races; old records will be "inched out" as they say in sports circles. Doesn't all this matter at all?

Washington claims this disparity in inches creates an "intolerable" situation, though hardly another international crisis. Still, there are other implications that might be figured out, but decimals in their serried rows tend to chill enthusiasm in this direction.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

CHICAGO HAS NO BOHEMIA of the kind it had in the '20s, when ambitious young women rented garages, painted the floor vermilion, donned smocks, and invited friends in to listen to poetry by candlelight. The artists of the town are for the most part hard-working folk who live separately, like John Pratt and Edgar Miller (Architect John Holabird is now sitting for his portrait in Mr. Miller's studio in an old house on Tower court), the Gustav Dahlstroms and the Edgar Millmans. There are a few artistic patches in the town, however. One is West Burton place, between Wells and La Salle, the little section formerly known as Carl street. Here are several modernistic structures, usually remodeled by the artists themselves, with large studio windows proclaiming their artistic occupancy. Best known of the West Burton place artists is Boris Anisfeld, the kindly, picturesque, black bearded painter and instructor who leaves his Chicago studio behind in the summer for a Victorian house on a mountainside in Central City, Colo. Another artistic patch is on Stony Island avenue, about 60th street, where a big barnlike structure called Coudige castle, and the Weinstein building next to it, which was built as a hotel for World's Fair guests of 1893, shelter painters and writers. Gertrude Abercrombie lives here, and Emil Armin and Roff Beman in Coudige castle. A gathering place for artists from all parts of the city—a kind of artists' club—is the Artists' union on East Superior street, where excellent exhibitions are held and the artists gather for food and talk.

DESIGN.

When misting rain becomes embossed
Upon the pane, in patterned frost,
Design within design is lost.

Just so my dreams of love are caught
In changing patterns, subtly wrought
Of wilful fancy, wistful thought.

Though frail, these patterned dreams persist,
And faintly etched, they'll still exist,

Ruth Taebel.

SHE WAS OLD and stooped and quite shabbily dressed, and with the aid of a cane was making her way slowly along State street during the evening rush hour. I was moved to compassion and took the liberty of asking her how far she was going. "To Chicago avenue," she quavered. "Then here's carfare," I offered. "You'd better take a street car." She shook her head sadly. "I couldn't run the risk," she said. "I'm in a hurry."

Edward C. Warner.

Big Town Minutiæ.

A gorgeous butterfly hatched out from a cocoon on a cactus plant standing on a sunny window sill at 2154 North Kimball avenue. Conductor No. 8078 on an eastbound Grand avenue car helped a blind man off the rear platform, escorted him to State street, and placed him on a south bound car. The man with the Bible you've seen walking loop streets had just shouted his usual "Beware! Meet Thy God!" when the lights changed and a car missed him by inches. A young woman at "King Richard II." Tuesday evening produced a thermos of coffee and a glass from a large knitting bag and sipped hot coffee during intermission. . . . There's not much goes on that our scouts don't tell us about.

WE STOPPED IN TO SEE RICHARD, for 22 years the literary headwaiter of the town and now a restaurateur himself, and to eat goulash in his paneled, lether-wainscoted establishment. We found him keeping up his old traditions. He produced a handsome new photograph of Ben Hecht, which the author and playwright had given him last time he went through town. It was inscribed "To Richard, who still holds the gates of Athens." Richard produced, upon request, his famous copy of Harry Hansen's "Midwest Portraits," which has a chapter on Schlogl's, where Richard was head waiter, discussing the literary lights whom Richard served there and autographed by all of them. Christopher Morley supped at Richard's last time he was in town; Dr. Morris Fishbein is a patron; Charles Layng was in the other day to eat the tenderloin steak chopped and fried in butter that is a specialty.

POWER TO 'EM.

Our Pilgrim forefathers had troubles galore;
But mercy! Our Pilgrim foremothers had more!
They put up with the trials our forefathers knew,

Marjorie F. W.

IT'S ONE OF THOSE apocryphal Goldwyn stories—from our State street source. A new picture supervisor was to be selected, and Goldwyn called in two executives to help in the choice. The possible candidates were brought in, one at a time. "How much is 2 and 2?" inquired Goldwyn of the first. "Four," he answered. "Very accurate," nodded Goldwyn, "but lacking in vision, in viewpoint, in imagination. Wait outside." The second man was brought in. "How much is 2 and 2," he was asked. "Six," he answered. "Hm-m, not so accurate," considered Goldwyn, "but showing a broader outlook and freshness of conception. Wait outside." The third man was brought in. "How much are two and two?" Goldwyn asked. "Thirty-nine and a half," he answered. "H-mm—, accuracy very bad," said the big boss, "but showing great originality and scope. Wait outside." He turned to the two executives. "Well, which one am I going to choose?" he asked. "The man who said 2 and 2 make 4," answered the first executive, "because of his accuracy." "Wrong," said Goldwyn, and, to the other executive, "Which am I going to choose?" "The man who said 2 and 2 make 39½. Because he is a fellow who isn't afraid to take chances." "Wrong," smiled Goldwyn. "I am going to take the one who said 2 and 2 make 6!" "Why?" asked the executives. "Because he's my wife's nephew," answered the movie magnate.

TRY TO UNDERSTAND THE COLON.

WITH most of us the colon is a much maligned part of the anatomy. It may be likened to a rather lengthy sausage that begins in the lower right side of the abdomen, travels up to the region of the liver, thence across to the left side in the proximity of the spleen, turning downward, making a final bend [like a plumber's trap], and ending in the rectum. Its interior is beautifully lined with mucous membrane, and the wall possesses two rather strong, muscular coats with a thin outer covering which is capable of elaborating lubricating fluid.

The job of this pythonlike casing is to retain for a time the bulky residue of digestion. Furthermore, it has the power of absorbing water as well as certain minerals and salts.

When all is normal in this area bacteria are not able to play their usual tricks, for there is something in the chemistry of the bowel which neutralizes poisons produced by microbes. In addition, the glands secrete a considerable quantity of mucus which lessens the friction of the intestinal contents. But, alas, a single "break in the dike" may upset this well ordered plan. In some instances both lining and wall may become inflamed. When this occurs we are dealing with a condition termed colitis, the most stubborn form of which is designated chronic ulcerative colitis.

The causes are many. Occasionally a germ, supposedly harmless, may go on a rampage and take on vicious propensities in the presence of some dietary deficiency or injury. Or—if vitamins and minerals are lacking—the lining cells may lose vitality, become diseased easily, and slough away partly, leaving raw, bleeding surfaces. The commonest culprit is an organism which, after it is strong enough to grow, brings on swelling and other typical signs of inflammation. In many cases a variety of the streptococcus—the diplostreptococcus—is the offender.

Ordinarily the diagnosis is not difficult. Blood mixed with pus and mucus may be found in the discharges. Now and then there is a low fever, and in the late afternoon a temperature as high as 100 degrees. Spells of diarrhea, with traces of blood and a generous amount of mucus, coming on suddenly and accompanied by griping or cramping, are sufficient warning that the colon probably is misbehaving. Loose bowels for a few days may be ascribed to some dietary indiscretion, but if the symptom appears periodically—particularly if it becomes more severe—there is just one thing to do: investigate this channel and—in the search—ameba must always be considered and sought.

Because of irritation, the tube may become unduly sensitive, and may contract to the size of a cord. If the infection is virulent enough life may be in danger, but for the most part this is not the case. However, the resistance may drop with fair rapidity and anemia may develop because of loss of blood.

Feeding [diet] is the first problem. If there are several stools daily, rest in bed is imperative, and foods must be chosen which will be free, or practically so, from residue—fiber. Nevertheless, the menu must be balanced so as to provide the necessary quota of protein, vitamins, and minerals.

The victim must not expect to recover quickly, because the trouble undoubtedly dates back many years. If there is no blood in the stools, so much the better. We may be dealing then with an irritable colon or a simple colitis. A popularly lauded remedy—namely, colonic irrigation—is seldom helpful, and many cases are reported in which it has been harmful rather than beneficial. Sometimes an intestinal antiseptic can be used to good advantage. Again patients will tolerate the administration of kaolin [clay] with excellent results.

We can avoid this distressing malady, however, if we will give but a relatively minor amount of attention to combating constipation through strict adherence to a balanced ration with all the necessary food elements, at the same time taking care not to overindulge in edibles and thus abuse this important structure.

PROBABLY HIVES.

C. S. writes: I am troubled with an itch at night, appearing in round blotches. The more I scratch the larger these bumps grow.

REPLY.

Probably hives due to some food or to the presence of a substance in your home to which you are sensitive.

IT REQUIRES SKILL.

R. D. writes: Will removal of superfluous hair on the chin by electrolysis endanger one's health?

REPLY.

SHARING ESTATE.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—About seven years ago my mother died and left every one of the five children a part of her share, but in order that the property might not be lost, the children signed their share back to their father, and now he married again.

1. If my father should die now, would the children be entitled to a share of the estate or does she [stepmother] get everything?

2. Is it possible to do anything about it at this time?

3. If he sells the property [house and three lots] for cash, would we still be entitled to a share?

4. This question is something of a different problem. Can a stepmother put one of the children out of the house even if he does work and is not married? She is raising the board so he will move, but if he doesn't pay what she asks, only a reasonable amount, could she force him to move?

F. J.

1. The children would inherit a part unless the father arranges otherwise by will.
2. No. You should have taken care of this at the time of deeding the property to your father.
3. No.
4. Depends on who owns the home and on the age of the child.

ON PRICES.

Continued high prices of many of the commodities not subject to highly competitive market forces intensifies the downward pressure on all other prices.

This seems to be a sound statement of an economic law. It is difficult, offhand, to imagine any commodities as to which this exact situation exists today, except, of course, gold and silver. The administration, in setting abnormal prices, removing these two commodities from the competitive field, has certainly violated the rule it purports to indorse. Many of its measures designed to control production and prices, both in industry and agriculture, will, no doubt, also violate this rule.

The economic ineptitude of the administration is beyond belief. If it could discover that money wages are different from real wages—measured in terms of purchasing power—it would be helpful. Similarly, it is time the administration discovered that prices, while they have causative effects, are primarily results of other conditions.

The business watch does not run well after being dipped in the administration's economic tea and greased with deficit butter.

ARTHUR D. WELTON JR.

DETECTIVE WORK.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—Why should Franklin Pearce pick on Harold Gray in Orphan Annie for switching Shanghai Peg's leg from left to right? That's nothing compared to what Bill Holman did in today's Smoky Stover. In the first picture the fire laddie with the gala shirt has a yellow belt; in his next appearance the shirt is a smock; and in the next it's a shirt again with a red belt.

A. GEEMAN.

HELSINKI OR HELSINGFORS?

Chicago, Feb. 21.—Mr. Mason Warner, who conducts a column in the Sunday travel section, is in error again this week. He persists in referring to the Finnish capital as Helsingfors. That name, Mr. Warner, has been discarded since 1919. The name of the capital of Finland is known as Helsinki.

GEORGE DONOHUE.

MISS McCAHEY.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—Every story you printed about the recently assigned principals carried this line: "Miss McCahey is a sister of James B. McCahey" . . . So what?

I have spent many hours in Miss McCahey's office, and have made the following observations, which are shared by many parents of children in the Warren school:

She knows nearly every one of her pupils by name: she knows their family problems; she helps their older brothers and sisters get jobs; she is an exceptionally fine educator, efficient and understanding; she has her master's degree. In short, she has everything it takes to make an ideal principal, and she had all these qualifications long before her brother took office, but her brother happens to be president of the school board, so let's throw her out!

A MOTHER.

PROPOSITIONS.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—It is easier to make a promise than to keep it.

It is easier to let others think than to bother about thinking.

It is easier to make a mistake than to confess it.

It is easier to make bad laws than to enforce good ones.

It is easier to get lost physically, mentally, and spiritually than to find your way back to a clear road, to sanity and to truth.

It is harder to be a man than a puppet.

LINCOLN IN MILWAUKEE.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 21.—In reply to J. G. Pohl's letter, and in defense of the city of Milwaukee, I would like to bring the aforementioned gentleman's attention to the statue of Abraham Lincoln at the head of Lincoln Memorial drive that starts just north of the North Western depot and runs along the lake north.

I might add that this statue was given to the city of Milwaukee by the Grand Army of the Republic, the school children of Milwaukee, and the citizens of Milwaukee several years ago.

F. H. ELDRED.

ITALY'S OBLIGATIONS.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—In your editorial of Feb. 17 you stated that Italy betrayed Germany in 1915 by joining France and Great Britain. If your statement was correct it would mean that France and Great Britain attacked Germany and Austria-Hungary. The military alliance between Italy, Germany, and Austria-Hungary clearly stated that: Italy, Germany, or Austria-Hungary had to help militarily any one of the allied parties only if said party was attacked. Any one knows that this did not happen.

ANGELO ZUCCO.

THE ROURKE MURDER.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—In his letter in this morning's TRIBUNE, Mr. Sam R. Hasting asked why those of us who protested the killing by the police of the ten workers last Memorial day are not similarly indignant at the killing of the nonunion laundry driver, Lloyd Rourke. Mr. Hasting and others of your readers may perhaps be interested to know that at a recent meeting, the Chicago Civil Liberties committee, which helped to lead the protests against the Memorial day massacre, denounced the murder of Mr. Rourke. It also stated that it regarded this killing as a further evidence of police failure to protect innocent men, just as the Memorial day shooting was evidence of their wantonness in taking innocent lives. The committee pledged itself to coöperate with the police and state's attorney in any attempt the latter might make to expose the real culprits. The Civil Liberties committee is opposed to all forms of illegal violence whether used by employers, unions, or the police themselves. We should be glad to have Mr. Hasting coöperate with us toward these ends.

IRA LATIMER,
Secretary, Chicago Civil Liberties Committee.

HER FAVORITE NEWSPAPER.

Cleghorn, Ia., Feb. 21.—I am 400 miles from Chicago and my paper comes a day late, but here are some of the reasons why I, a high school teacher, continue to take it.

1. One science class is making a scrapbook on the life of Su-lin and now they have the little sister to add.

2. Another science class is saving the articles, "Day by Day at the Experimental Farm."

3. My home economics classes get valuable material every week from your food columns and from your advertisements.

In the end—the other teachers who teased me at the first of the year because I didn't get an Iowa newspaper come around to look for an idea for an address or the latest in spring shoes.

I hope I never have to teach without it.

FROM BEVERLY HILLS.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—The outbreak of lawlessness on 95th street between Ashland and Western avenues is becoming a matter of concern among merchants and other business people in that section. With only a handful of patrolmen traveling beat in the territory, bounded roughly by 75th street, 103d street, State street and Western avenue, it is no wonder the lawless element have put their finger on a weak spot. Sixty additional policemen are said to be needed to furnish anywhere near adequate protection. Let us hope that before the hoodlums make the most of the present situation action can be taken.

BEVERLY HILLS MERCHANT.

MOVIES.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—Why all the fuss about two feature movies? Movies are for adults and not children. Only a small per cent is fit for children to see. Why do they not have kid movies that last only one hour? Why should adults, who need some recreation once a week, be treated the same as babies? It is better than frequenting taverns.

MARIE ZIMMERMAN.

From Across the Sea

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS.—France would require all applicants for automobile driving permits to submit to a medical examination, and all those not up to par would be given only a conditional permit compelling them to pay part of the damages for any accident they might become involved in, if the distinguished Academy of Medicine had its way.

Under the plan all holders of driver's licenses would have to take out insurance, but in the case of the physically unfit the policy would automatically compel them to pay a certain fraction of the damages out of their own pocket. Furthermore, old drivers with physical and mental powers presumably slowed by age, would be issued a special license limiting them to driving low speed cars.

The proposal was brought up once more at the latest Academy of Medicine meeting by Prof. Parisot, well known specialist in hygiene—it was first made in 1922 when the Academy voted such a resolution.

In 70 per cent of automobile accidents, Prof. Parisot declared, the driver concerned is physically unfit.

"In the list of things taking human life," he said, "the automobile ranks ahead of typhoid and diphtheria bacilli. Why not apply preventive medicine in the case of automobile accidents?"

He asserted that while all drivers should be compelled to buy insurance, this might make many persons careless in the feeling that the insurance company would bear any loss their mistakes might bring about. But if all physically under par drivers were under the obligation to pay part of these damages, that would be a strong deterrent.

To further its idea and encourage acceptance by the lawmakers the doctors will call a national meeting of representative motorists, motorcycle riders, bicycle riders, and pedestrians to discuss it.

DEATH (FOR NONCOMBATANTS) BEFORE DISHONOR

VOTERS' LEAGUE GIVES ITS VIEWS ON LEGISLATORS

1937 Session Is Called Chaotic; Lash Spending.

A lack of great issues and bitter factional warfare in the Democratic party caused chaotic conditions and a tedious waste of time during the 60th Illinois general assembly, according to the report of the Legislative Voters' league made public yesterday. But the report also said the 1937 session enacted an unusual amount of important legislation.

The report mentioned that Gov. Horner's administration had increased appropriations for the ordinary expenses of government above those of preceding years of his own and Gov. Emmerson's administration.

Reports on Legislators.

The findings on outgoing senators and representatives from the Chicagoland area outside Cook county follow: [League findings on the activities of assemblymen from Chicago will be printed in the Metropolitan sections of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE.]

41ST—Richard J. Barr [R., Joliet]—Dean of assembly in point of service; potent force in shaping legislation; one of the sponsors of bill creating legislative council; while the league's point of view has differed with that of Senator Barr in many matters, we take pleasure in paying tribute to his remarkable talents.

HOUSE.

8TH—Thomas A. Bolger [D., McHenry]—Worked hard and did excellent service as revenue committee chairman; made a good record. Richard J. Lyons [R., Libertyville]—Introduced bills to fix minimum salaries for fire and police in small cities; a valuable legislator. Nick Keller [R., Waukegan]—Usually voted intelligently, talkative.

10TH—Frank B. Wilson [D., Woosung]—Did well as agriculture committee chairman; record good. Edward C. Hunter [D., Rockford]—Tried to take an unusually active part in the house for a new member; does not appear very level headed. David Hunter Jr. [R., Rockford]—Record creditable.

12TH—Charles D. Franz [R., Freeport]—Served eight terms with a good record; did useful work as farm drainage committee chairman. John A. Bingham [R., Galena]—Ending fourth term with credit. Franklin U. Stransky [R., Savanna]—Gave close attention to legislative work; deserves further opportunity.

14TH—John F. Petit [D., Batavia]—Did fairly good work. Chairman contingent expense committee which failed to hold house operating expense within economical bounds. John M. Peffers [R., Aurora]—Mr. Peffers died during term. John C. Friendland [R., Elgin]—Showed fitness.

20TH—Ben W. Alpiner [D., Kankakee]—Serves the public dependably. Harry L. Topping [R., Kankakee]—Gave fair service. George B. Allen [R., Braceville]—Gave attention to house business and may develop with more experience.

24TH—Tom M. Garman [D., Urbana]—New member, made favorable impression, may be more useful with experience. E. E. Sturdyvin [D., Champaign]—In two terms he has not shown much effectiveness. Everett R. Peters [R., St. Joseph]—Showed some independence and capacity; looked after University of Illinois interests rather carefully.

35TH—Henry J. White [D., Somonauk]—Effectively active for first term member. Henry C. Allen [R., Lyndon]—Mr. Allen died near the close of his eighth term. Dennis J. Collins [R., De Kalb]—Applied self to relief matters and introduced drivers' license bill. Record creditable, in spite of tendency to be unduly partisan at times.

39TH—Jeremiah F. Walsh [D., Utica]—First term, may develop with more experience. Edward G. Hayne [D., Ottawa]—Handicapped by ill health; faithful in attendance; worked for appropriation to provide radium equipment for cancer clinics. Ole E. Benson [R., Ottawa]—Ending ninth term with good record.

41ST—Lottie Holman O'Neill [R., Downer's Grove]—Ending seventh term with good record. Warren L. Wood [R., Joliet]—Did not appear to apply self effectively; record fair. Joseph S. Perry [D., Glen Ellyn]—Showed ability, should improve with more experience.

TOWNSEND WILL FIGHT JAIL TERM IN HIGHEST COURT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—Dr. Francis E. Townsend, author of the old age pension scheme which bears his name, has changed his mind and will carry his fight against a thirty day jail sentence for contempt of a house committee to the United States Supreme court.

Dr. Townsend arrived here from California today.

If the final fight fails the frail Californian, 71 years old, will have to begin serving his sentence in the District of Columbia jail. His only other hope is for a Presidential pardon.

The contempt case against Townsend arose when he abruptly walked out of a hearing last May 21 before a house committee investigating his pension plan. He was cited for contempt of the house in the Federal District court here when he refused to return to the hearing.

The District court found him guilty after trial and imposed a jail sentence of 30 days and a fine of $100.

Quiz Grocery Union Agent on Window Smashing Today

Marshall Rose, a business agent for the Grocery Clerks' union, Local 1248, who was arrested yesterday in his union offices at 159 North State street, will be questioned today at the state's attorney's office about the recent smashing of grocery windows in the south side. Capt. Ray Crane of the Hyde Park police said the vandalism followed attempts to organize store employés.

Wields Vases

ANN SHERIDAN.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—Pat O'Brien, movie actor, was telling friends today how he was left in state of "momentary amnesia" after being struck over head by vases wielded on movie set by Ann Sheridan. The vases were of the "break away" type, with thin sides, but they had heavy bases. Miss Sheridan made the mistake of bringing the bases in contact with the head of the actor.

Striking WPA Workers Vote to Return to Aurora Job

Two hundred and fifty workers on a WPA sewer project in Aurora, who went on strike a month ago, voted yesterday to return to work. Their principal objection was to a five hour day, which they said compeled them to make too many trips to the job. Most of their demands were met and the work will proceed in eight hour shifts.

TURN TO THE 18th CENTURY

for elegance; turn to Carson's for February values like this all mahogany dining room set

$198

"Unquestionably the finest dining room group we have ever made, in design, materials, construction and finish"—that's what the manufacturer of the suite shown above says about it. It is fine furniture. All mahogany, with 5-ply construction on all flat surfaces and hand-fitted drawers with 3-ply dustproof construction. The set includes a table, 6 chairs and a buffet.

DINING ROOM FURNITURE, NINTH FLOOR, WABASH.

$129.75

Look at the dresser—it is taken from a fine Chippendale reproduction and the rest of this handsome suite is designed to match it. Mahogany veneers cover the gumwood frames; drawers are fitted over center drawer guides and dustproof in construction. The set, which includes bed, chest and dresser with mirror, is a manufacturer's closeout and thus is marked at this uncommonly low price.

WAR ON JUVENILE CRIME DECLARED BY COMMISSION

Joins with Area Project in Program.

A decision to attack crime by means of a battle against juvenile delinquency was made yesterday by directors of the Chicago crime commission, who adopted a program calling for coöperation with the Chicago Area Project in the districts which breed youthful criminals.

This project, started by the state department of public welfare as an experiment in curbing juvenile crime, has been in operation in Chicago for nearly two years under the supervision of Dr. Paul L. Schroeder, state criminologist. Mayor Kelly is honorary chairman. Youths are encouraged in athletic activities and useful work and merchants are asked to give jobs to boys whose parents are in need.

Told of Crime Ratio.

Meeting yesterday in the Mid-Day club, members of the crime commission were informed that between 60 and 70 per cent of juvenile delinquents come from an area which contains only 30 per cent of the city's population. This area compares roughly with the so-called blighted districts of the near north, west, and south sides.

"Our studies show that these disproportionate figures have held true ever since records were kept—since about 1900," said Carroll H. Sudler Jr., president of the Area Project. "In this time nationalities and races in the area have changed repeatedly."

Experiments begun in 1932 have proved, Sudler asserted, that the fault lies with the communities. And by correcting the attitudes of the people in communities toward crime and juvenile delinquency, startling results have been achieved, he said.

Decline in Arrests Shown.

In the south side experimental district, containing about 15,000 persons, the number of juveniles arrested in each year since 1931 has declined steadily while surrounding neighborhoods showed no change. The figures:

Year—	Number arrested.	Year—	Number arrested.
1931	85	1935	27
1932	80	1936	14
1933	60	1937	13
1934	35

"This is the most inspiring movement I have ever found," said Bertram J. Cahn, president of the crime commission, in speaking of the area project. "It gets to the bottom of the crime problem by changing the people who should be the most concerned."

The crime commission will aid in developing the area project program in three or four new neighborhoods.

PINBALL GAMES ILLEGAL IN STATE, KERNER HOLDS

Thousands of pinball games such as are licensed by Illinois cities and towns are illegal, Attorney General Otto Kerner declared yesterday in an informal opinion requested by State's Attorney Bernard Wall of McLean county. Wall asked the decision to determine his course against operators of pinball machines in Bloomington.

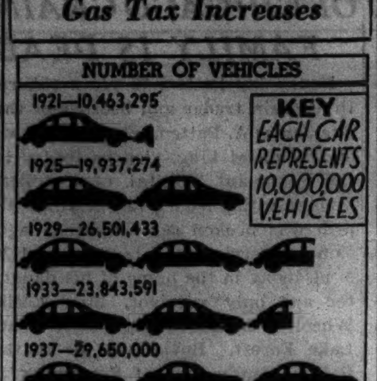
The attorney general expressed the belief that most of the machines can be adjusted to pay the house a certain percentage. He added, however, that their status under the law cannot be determined with surety until the state Supreme court has ruled on Chicago's ordinance licensing bookmakers.

The attorney general's opinion, Police Commissioner Allman said, does not affect Chicago. Such games are banned here under a city ordinance.

Truck Driver's Negligence Blamed for Train Wreck

Responsibility for the wreck of the Wabash railroad train in Worth Tuesday was placed on the truck driver, Frank Gregson, 7848 South Ashland avenue, in a report yesterday by Joseph R. Skidmore to the Illinois commerce commission. The train, traveling 78 miles an hour, struck Gregson's truck, killing him and injuring 27 train passengers.

Gas Tax Increases



Comparison of the number of vehicles paying gasoline tax in selected years since 1921.

Today is the nineteenth anniversary of the first gasoline tax in America. An excise of 1 cent a gallon became effective in Oregon on Feb. 25, 1919. Today the gasoline pump has become a leading contributor to governmental revenue. For nineteen years total collections appropriated 7,145 million dollars.

The history of this form of excise was traced yesterday by the American petroleum industries committee. It showed the rapid spread of this tax to other states, Massachusetts and New York completing the roll call in 1929. Illinois had its first gas tax in 1927.

The petroleum industry in its study recommends repeal of the federal gas tax. It also urges states to enact statutes or to amend their constitutions to prohibit appropriations of gasoline tax revenue to purposes other than street and road work.

EX-FELON GUILTY IN ROBBERY OF EVANSTON HOTEL

John De Lorenzo, 28 years old, an ex-convict, was found guilty of robbery with a gun by a jury in the Criminal court of Judge Robert J. Dunne yesterday. Judge Dunne overruled a motion for a new trial, but deferred sentence until March 2.

De Lorenzo was wounded and captured by Policeman Henry Engstrom of Evanston after robbery of the Evanshire hotel on Oct. 27. A dime more than the amount taken in the robbery was found in his pocket, together with an Evanston police star. In April, 1927, De Lorenzo was sentenced to 1 to 10 years in prison for larceny. He was later paroled and returned to prison for violating his parole. He was discharged in January, 1934.

WINNETKA ASKS 40 M. P. H. SPEED LIMIT ON TRAINS

A recommendation that trains of the Chicago and North Western railroad be limited to a speed of forty miles an hour through the village of Winnetka was made to the Illinois commerce commission by Mark H. Hovey, consulting engineer for the village. The commission is conducting hearings on the vilalge's petition for more adequate protection at crossings. Hovey recommended that automatic electric gates be installed at all nine Winnetka crossings. The village has pointed out that many deaths and injuries have resulted from crossing accidents.

TOLL HIGHWAY PLAN IS ABSURD, SAYS AUTO CHIEF

Calls 12 Billion Dollar Proposal Fantastic.

BY HAL FOUST.

Carl Barrett, president of the Illinois Automobile club, yesterday cited absurdities in various proposals pending before congress for an 8 or 12 billion dollar transcontinental superhighway system in America.

"Because the schemes are fantastic," said Mr. Barrett, "they have received more attention from the press than from economists or engineers. They don't stand up under even casual analysis.

"On a federal expenditure of 8 billion dollars, the Illinois portion of this cost, based on the state's proportion of national income tax collections, would approximate 800 millions. This is almost twice as much as has been spent on the Illinois highway system in the last quarter century.

Cites Disparities.

"Under the transcontinental highway scheme, Illinois would receive one, two, or maybe three cross state speedways on which a toll would be charged. If $800,000,000 were spent on highways in this state through regular channels, Chicago could receive an elevated highway system and all of the heavily traveled trafic arteries in Illinois could be modernized.

"Of the theoretical alternatives, the superhighways would be favored for a drive from Chicago to San Francisco or from Chicago to New York. But these long trips are of minor concern in the automobile safety and transportation problem. Of much more concern to Chicago automobile owners is an improvement in driving conditions between their homes and their places of employment, conditions that would not be affected by the transcontinental toll system.

Tells Chicago's Needs.

"We need a superhighway between the loop and Oak Park but we don't need a superhighway between Pierre, S. D., and Broken Bow, Neb., and the farmers out there would use their existing state roads rather than pay a toll."

Dispatches from Washington, D. C., said that Representative John Buell Snyder [D., Pa.] was seeking a hearing before the house roads committee on his 8 billion dollar plan for nine superhighways to criss cross America on nine routes. Senator Robert J. Bulkley [D., O.] introduced a similar proposal a few weeks ago in a senate bill that, according to reports, was receiving earnest consideration by President Roosevelt as an unemployment relief measure.

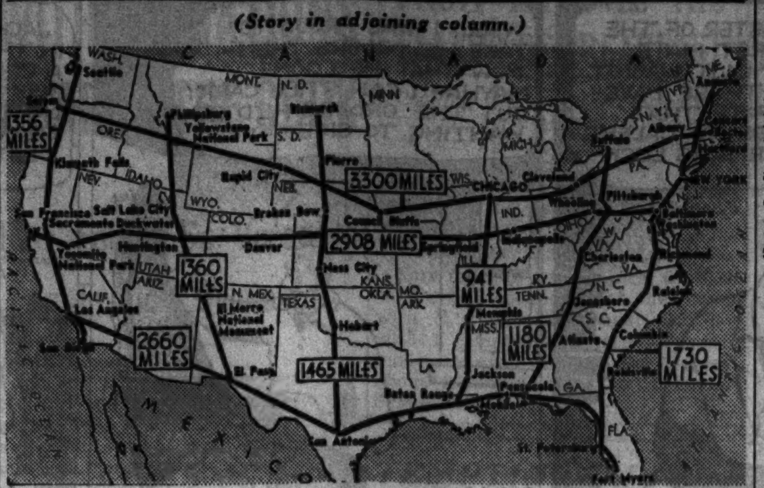
COMPLETE PLANS TO MOVE TRACKS, ENLARGE AIRPORT

The city council airport subcommittee will begin on Monday the drafting of a new ordinance which, it hopes, will solve Chicago's airport expansion problem. Ald. Roger J. Kiley [37th], chairman of the subcommittee, said yesterday that plans for the ordinance and final disposal of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad tracks which now block the extension of the landing field have been formulated.

The new program calls for the transfer of the C. & W. I. tracks from their present position along the line of 59th street to a new location just south of 55th street. This will place them on the northern edge of the landing field area in a position where they will not interfere with use of the field by airplanes. Ald. Kiley said he believes the ordinance may be passed at next Wednesday's council meeting.

TRANSCONTINENTAL HIGHWAY PLAN

(Story in adjoining column.)



The program of Representative John Buell Snyder of Pennsylvania for a system of superhighways crisscrossing the country which is now pending in congress. The project, which would cost 8 billion dollars, was branded "fantastic" and absurd by Carl Barrett, president of the Illinois Automobile club, yesterday.

SPEEDER PICKS FINE AS PENALTY AFTER JUDGE GIVES CHOICE

"You can take your choice, a fine of $100 and costs, ten days in jail, or stop driving for six months," Judge John Gutknecht told Newel Fiske, 7123 Clyde avenue, in Trafic court yesterday. Fiske, found guilty of speeding for the fourth time since June, 1937, first chose to get a chauffeur to drive for him, but finally decided paying the fine would be cheaper. Judge Gutknecht gave him until March 4 to raise the money.

Harry Skrine, 3948 Arthington street, a taxicab driver, was sentenced to ten days in the county jail and suspended from driving for 90 days by Judge Charles E. Dougherty in Safety court yesterday for drunken driving.

Harold Kuester, 3939 Bernard street, was sentenced to five days in jail and suspended from driving for 90 days for reckless driving. Paul Goodwin, 5452 Broadway, was fined $10 and costs and suspended from driving for 30 days on a similar charge.

A SAMSON NAMED JOSEPH IS SHORN; BLAMES DELILAH

Joseph Modica, a tavern owner, bought $1,000 worth of clothing and trinkets for Mrs. Delilah Young, a spiritual adviser, better known as Madam Arlee, and lent her $2,750 on her promise to cure his stomach ache. Madam Arlee disappeared, and Joseph still has his stomach ache.

That was Modica's story in Felony court yesterday. On the basis of it Judge Oscar S. Caplan ordered the woman held to the grand jury in bond of $7,500 on a charge of operating a confidence game.

Mrs. Young, who was arrested in San Antonio, Tex., and returned to Chicago, told a different story.

"I owe this man nothing," she said. "He paid me for my friendship. I broke up my family and left my husband to be friendly."

Mrs. Young is 45 years old and operates a palmistry salon at 2137 North Clark street. Modica lives at 1405 Clybourn avenue.

SLAYER IS HELD TO JURY; WIDOW TELLS HER STORY

Adam Klazura, 19 years old, who shot and killed his brother-in-law, Adam Tomczak, 30, with whom he lived at 8639 Baltimore avenue, on Feb. 17, was ordered held to the grand jury on a charge of murder yesterday at the coroner's inquest. Mrs. Rose Tomczak, 28 years old, the widow, testified that her husband taunted Klazura because he did not find work and that the shooting occurred after Tomczak pushed her out of their home.

HELD AS WRITER OF THREAT NOTE TO CLARK GABLE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 24.—(AP)—The federal bureau of investigation announced tonight it had taken into custody a man alleged to have written an extortion note to Clark Gable of the movies, using the name of a woman neighbor against whom the man had a grudge. He is Gaylord Forsyth, 30 years old, of Fonda, Ia.

The note, the bureau said, was written over the signature of Alice Schnetter, also of Fonda, but Forsyth said she had no knowledge of the extortion plot and that he signed her name to the letter out of spite.

The letter, the bureau said, was postmarked Fonda and dated Feb. 9, addressed to Gable at Hollywood.

BIT OF VEHICLE STICKER COSTS DRIVER $10 FINE

A fragment of paper the size of a dime brought a fine of $10 to Benjamin Prichalski, 2435 Clybourn avenue, in the Automobile court of Judge Cecil C. Smith yesterday. Prichalski was stopped Tuesday by detectives who could find only a fragment of a vehicle license sticker on his car. Prichalski admitted buying a sticker from a stranger for $1, then scraping most of it off the windshield when he saw he was to be questioned. Capt. Thomas Duffy of Sheffield avenue station said the bit of paper was the smallest piece of evidence he had ever offered in court.

SISTERS WAITING FOR STREET CAR INJURED BY AUTO

Harry Kemin, 834 Milwaukee avenue, was arrested last night after his car injured Helen and Estelle Wasko, sisters, 2327 West 22d place, as they were waiting for a street car at 23d street and Western avenue. Both girls suffered cuts on the legs and were treated at St. Anthony's hospital.

Clarence Kreiger, 6143 Glenwood avenue, was seriously injured yesterday when his car collided with a truck driven by Emory Robb, 7936 Ogden avenue, Lyons, at Pulaski road and Foster avenue. Kreiger's car was hurled against a parked car and into the grounds of the Bohemian National cemetery. He was taken to Swedish Covenant hospital.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 150 persons had been killed in trafic accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 123 were killed in Chicago, where 2,549 persons were injured during the same period.

[See Editorial page for The Massacre clock.]

Capt. Prendergast Resumes Duties After Long Illness

Capt. John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed police, resumed active duty yesterday after an illness of six weeks. During his absence, Supervising Capt. Richard Gill of the first division served as acting chief.

RADIO COMEDIANS SHAKE OFF DUST OF HOLLYWOOD

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

You may expect to hear a lot of jokes about streamlined trains and club car bores, along with the usual references to Ida and the five girls, on Eddie Cantor's program next Wednesday. The Cantor company is en route east from Hollywood. Final broadcasts of their present gasoline series and their new cigaret show will be aired from New York. Cantor, who a year ago had to change his theme song from "I Love to Spend Each Sunday with You" to Wednesday, will have to make it Monday shortly. Reason show is being moved from Wednesday to Monday is this:

His present 7:30 to 8 spot is followed by Lawrence Tibbett and Andre Kostelanetz for a cigaret concern. It would hardly do for Cantor's new boss, who also makes cigarets, to be on just ahead of Tibbett, turning over the Cantor audience to a rival. So the new series will be on Monday definitly.

Other Hollywood comedians trekking to New York shortly are Jack Benny and Phil Baker. Fred Allen and Oliver Wakefield and Paul Whiteman had preceded Cantor. Movie commitments will keep Tenor Kenny Baker in the west when Benny goes to New York so Jack probably will be rounding up a new singer while in the east. Fact that the Jack Oakie show, Hollywood Mardi Gras, with Lanny Ross, Walter O'Keefe and Charlie Butterworth, and Dr. Christian with Jean Hersholt, are folding, will make quite a hole in the Hollywood broadcasting picture.

Chicago has a new sponsored network of sizable proportions due to bow in over WLS-NBC at 9:30 p. m. Saturday, March 12. Titled the Family Party, this show promoting the sale of tractors will feature Everett Mitchell as master of ceremonies, comment by Joe Dumond, a hymn singing session with Josh Higgins [Dumond], and songs by Annette King, with Joe Gallichio leading the orchestra. And each week there'll be a personality prominent in agriculture as guest. First one scheduled is Robert L. Bristow of Saluda, Va., recently voted the "Star American Farmer" by the Future Farmers of America organization.

When Lum and Abner go to CBS next Monday under a new sponsor Announcer Carlton Brickert ends his long association with them. He will continue in the Story of Mary Marlin but has been written out of the script for a week so he can take in the Mardi Gras at New Orleans.

Irene Winston of the cast of "Tovarich," which recently closed here, has decided on a career in radio. She has joined the cast of "A Woman in White" on NBC. . . . Ruth Glascott, radio writer, is blossoming out as a comedienne on W-G-N's On A Sunday Afternoon show this week-end. She has created a new character, Minerva Dimwittee, a sort of feminine Oliver Wakefield, which she is to portray. . . . Hal Kemp's engagement on that telepathy series for Sunday evening has been canceled. His songstress, Maxine Gray, is still confined to Passavant hospital as a result of head injuries sustained in that railroad wreck Tuesday. . . . Bob Burns' blood pressure is up several notches, the result of having been notified that there are signs of oil on his back forty near Van Buren, Ark.

MURDERED BOY'S MOTHER FAILS TO MAKE $1,000 BOND

Mrs. Grace Loomis of Lombard, who was arrested by Du Page county authorities Wednesday and charged with driving while intoxicated, failed to make a $1,000 bond yesterday and was kept in the county jail at Wheaton. Mrs. Loomis was the foster mother of Roger Loomis, 5 years old, who was found slain in Lombard a year ago.

Although dozens of suspects have been questioned, no trace has been found of the boy's slayer. Mrs. Loomis told investigators at the time he disappeared that she had let him out to play. Later she reported that a boy told her Roger was picked up by a man in a battered flivver. The body was discovered the following day on a prairie in the outskirts of the village.

Deputy Sherif Charles Thielen caused the arrest of Mrs. Loomis. He alleged that her car crashed into his on Feb. 16 and caused damage of $100.

Story of Tourist Travel Written in Milk Bottles

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 24.—(AP)—An accurate index of tourist travel is the exchange of milk bottles recovered in other states, members of the Michigan Allied Dairy association were told today. Loy McIntosh of Chicago, representing the National Association of Bottle Exchange Managers, reported that 68,866 Michigan milk bottles were recovered in Chicago in 1937 compared with 38,071 during 1933. On the other hand, Michigan exchanges returned to Chicago 57,727 milk bottles in 1937 against 33,079 in 1933.

Literary Digest Suspends Publication for 2 Weeks

New York, Feb. 24.—[Special.]—Literary Digest, the weekly news magazine, today announced the suspension of publication for two weeks. The next issue of the magazine, it was said, is expected to appear on March 12. The suspension, it was announced, is in connection with reorganization of the company, plans for which are almost completed.

"The magazine is solvent and its assets exceed its liabilities," George F. Havell, the publisher, announced.

22,000 FLEE FLOOD IN ARKANSAS; 30,000 SANDBAGS SAVE TOWN

Flooding wide areas of plantation country east and west of here, the stream was beginning a slow drop from the row of 30,000 sandbags piled atop the levee in front of the town. The bulwark was holding sturdily.

Elsewhere in Arkansas the flood situation abated. The Arkansas and White rivers fell at nearly all major stations.

River Perils Missouri Town.

Kennett, Mo., Feb. 24.—(AP)—The turbulent St. Francis river threatened to break through rain soaked dikes on both the Missouri and Arkansas sides tonight. One major danger spot appeared to be in Arkansas near the Holly Island bridge, just west of Kennett. Men were rushed to sandbag the barrier which protects rich farmlands.

ROBERT O. BLAIR, COFFEE BROKER, LEAVES MILLION

The estate of Robert O. Blair, a coffee broker, who died April 5, 1936, amounts to $1,048,333, according to an inheritance tax return filed yesterday in the County court. After minor bequests Blair's widow, Rilla, 4933 Woodlawn avenue, and three children will share the remainder.

The estate consists of $701,730 in securities, $96,603 in real estate, and a $250,000 trust, established in 1926, which is not taxable. The federal inheritance tax is $107,629 and the state tax $31,140.

The will of Judge Joseph B. David, leaving a $20,000 estate in insurance policies, was filed with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court. Judge David, veteran of the Superior court, died Feb. 17 at the age of 74. He left $2,500 each to four grandchildren and the rest to two daughters, Mrs. Adelaide Glassner and Mrs. Louise Jonas. A son, Sigmund, was bequeathed his legal documents, and a son-in-law, James J. Glassner, will receive the judge's law books.

DENIES UNION EFFECTED CUT IN HOSPITAL HOURS

Dr. Delmar Goode, manager of the United States Veterans' hospital at North Chicago, yesterday denied an assertion by officials of the United Federal Workers Union that they were responsible for a reduction from 12 to 9 hours in working time of night shift employés. Dr. Goode said the change was made voluntarily and had been contemplated for some time. The U. F. W. is a C. I. O. union.

Dr. Goode was called unfair in his attitude toward union leaders by Irwin Elber, midwest organizer for the Federal Workers. Elber said he had been elected a representative of the local at the hospital, but that Dr. Goode had refused to hold a joint conference with him and union employés. Dr. Goode said he did not want a joint meeting because he considered Elber an outsider and preferred to deal directly with the workers.

Naval Militia Commander Is Feted at Banquet

A testimonial banquet in recognition of his forty years' service with the Illinois Naval militia was given last night to Capt. Edward A. Evers, commander of the militia. GROCERS REACH STALEMATE ON PRICE INCREASE Upward Trend Fails to Continue This Week.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Retail food merchants in Chicago and nearby suburbs failed to continue the upward trend in prices started last week. Shoppers will find no important changes in prices since their tours of the neighborhood retail food stores and shops last Friday and Saturday.

Wholesale prices of meats continued the upward swing which set in recently. Fruit and vegetable prices on the central market are beginning to go lower.

Pot Roast Veers.

Pot roast of beef, the traditional economy cut for Sunday dinner, has been reduced 1 to 2 cents a pound in some places, while other shops raised their prices as much as 4 cents a pound. Similar ups and downs will be found in the prices of rib roasts of beef. Prices were cut yesterday as much as 4 cents a pound in several shops, while other butchers advanced their rib roasts 2 cents a pound.

Round steaks are off 2 to 4 cents a pound in many shops. Both frying and stewing chickens are higher in a few shops. Four cents a pound has been added to the price of pork loin roast in some retail meat markets. A few raised their prices on trout and white fish, while others cut them on pike as much as 2 cents a pound.

Few Vegetables Higher.

While wholesale fruit and vegetable prices have a tendency to go lower, several items on the green grocers' retail counters are higher. Green beans and green peas are up 1 to 4 cents a pound in most stores. Spinach is a little higher than last week, but still is reasonable.

Brussels sprouts, cauliflower, broccoli, radishes, and rutabagas are higher in some places.

Egg prices are about the same in stores generally. In a few places, however, the price was raised 1 cent a dozen on lower priced eggs.

American cheese is down 2 cents a pound in stores here and there. Butter dropped 1 cent a pound in a few stores that had not reduced their prices along with other merchants two weeks ago.

New Potatoes Down.

New potatoes are cheaper in stores generally. Old white potatoes and Idahos for baking have been reduced slightly in a few stores. Sweet potatoes, cabbage, and fresh tomatoes are off in several places. Tomato prices have been cut as much as 5 cents a pound.

On the bargain counters a small number of stores are featuring spaghetti, macaroni, and dried prunes.

Live stock and wholesale meat prices continued to climb. Good and choice steers are up 25 to 40 cents a hundred pounds, compared with last week's prices. The week's top was $10.50. Beef is 25 to 50 cents a hundred pounds higher, according to John Campbell, federal reporter at Union stockyards.

Hogs Reach $9.25.

Farmers were paid 50 to 75 cents a hundredweight more for lambs this week than last, the top for the week reaching $8.60. Dressed lamb carcasses are quoted strong to $1 a hundred higher.

Hogs are strong to 40 cents a hundred pounds higher than a week ago. They reached a top of $9.25 a hundred, the highest since last November. Fresh pork is $1 to $1.50 a hundred above prices a week ago.

Increased receipts of fresh fruits and vegetables from southern states continued to force wholesale prices downward during the week at the central market. Green beans, cabbage, head lettuce, dry onions, radishes, rhubarb, spinach, sweet potatoes, California oranges, fresh tomatoes, and new potatoes are lower than last week. Broccoli, cauliflower, fresh peas, and strawberries are higher.

An Inviting Dessert

CANS CONTAIN WIDE VARIETY OF VEGETABLES

Humblest and Fanciest Packed in Tins.

June isn't the only time for weddings. If you're planning to entertain a bride soon, you'll like the Tribune booklet, "Parties for the Bride-to-Be," on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, Tribune Tower and 1 South Dearborn street, for 3 cents. BY MARY MEADE.

In yesterday's column I listed the canned fruits available to the housewife nowadays. Today I'm naming the vegetables, exclusive of soups, pickles, and other vegetable products which would fall into the specialty class.

8Z tall, containing 1 cup.
No. 1, containing 1⅓ cups.
No. 1 tall, containing 2 cups.
No. 2, containing 2½ cups.
No. 2½, containing 3½ cups.
No. 3, containing 4 cups.
No. 10, containing 13 cups.

CANNED VEGETABLES AVAILABLE.

Artichokes, whole	Corn, whole kernel
Artichokes, hearts	Corn on the cob
Asparagus, tips [white or green	Hominy, lye
	Hominy, milk
Asparagus, stalks [white or green]	Kale
	Lentils

	Succotash
Carrot sauce	Tomatoes
Carrots and Peas	Tomato pulp
Carrots, puréed	Tomato juice
Cauliflower	Turnips
Celery	Turnip greens
Celery juice	Vegetable juices
Corn, cream style

Few vegetables are canned in a substandard grade. There are only three grades for most vegetables — fancy, choice, and standard.

FANCY GRADE VEGETABLES are the finest available, of uniform quality and size, good color. The liquor in which they are packed must be quite clear.

CHOICE GRADE VEGETABLES must be from good stock, fairly uniform, and the color must be good, although needn't be as uniform as that for fancy vegetables. The liquor may be slightly discolored.

STANDARD GRADE VEGETABLES are of average quality, may be slightly discolored, and need not be uniform. The liquor may be somewhat turbid.

TRY A CUPBOARD PUDDING — JUST THIS AND THAT

A cupboard pudding is one made from this and that on the pantry shelves. Old Mother Hubbard might have concocted some such dish had she not found her cupboard bare. Next time you find yourself with graham crackers, dates, and tapioca on hand, try this cupboard pudding.

CUPBOARD PUDDING.
[Serves 6.]

3 cups milk
2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
⅓ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
10 graham crackers
½ package dates, sliced
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg

Scald milk in double boiler. Stir in tapioca, sugar, salt, and graham crackers [rolled]. Cook 15 minutes stirring frequently. Remove from stove, add the dates [sliced], and vanilla, beaten egg, and cool. Pour mixture into buttered baking dish and bake in rather slow oven [325 degrees] 40 minutes. Serve warm or cold with plain or whipped cream.

A Sure Hit for a Hungry Man: Buckwheat Cakes

RAISED BUCKWHEAT CAKES.
[About 1½ dozen cakes.]

2 cups milk, scalded
¼ cake compressed yeast
½ teaspoon salt
1¾ cups buckwheat flour
1 tablespoon molasses
¼ teaspoon baking soda
¼ cup water, lukewarm

Cool milk until lukewarm; crumble yeastcake into it and add salt and buckwheat flour, beating until smooth. Let rise overnight. Just before baking, stir in mixture of molasses, soda and water. Bake on lightly greased, hot griddle.

STANDARD RECIPE WITH VARIATIONS SPARES THE COOK

Few Found So Versatile as French Dressing.

A good standard recipe with several variations is a life saver to the woman with a large family and three meals a day to prepare. By mastering and memorizing the one recipe, she has several dishes at her command.

Few recipes are so versatile as French dressing. By changing an ingredient here and there the very character of the dressing is changed. It may be made into an ideal dressing for fruit salad, or for vegetables. In addition French dressing is simply prepared.

STANDARD FRENCH DRESSING.
[1½ cups.]

4 thin slices onion
5 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon paprika
Few grains cayenne
1 cup salad oil

Let onion slices stand in vinegar for 20 to 30 minutes; strain. Combine remaining ingredients with strained vinegar in large bowl or jar. If jar is used, cover closely and shake vigorously. Beat with rotary beater if bowl is used. The dressing may be made in larger amounts and stored in the refrigerator. Always shake or beat just before serving.

VARIATIONS.
[Use half the standard recipe.]

ANCHOVY DRESSING—Cream 2 teaspoons anchovy paste with seasonings; add to French dressing along with 1 tablespoon each of chopped parsley and onion.

CHEESE DRESSING—Add 2 tablespoons grated cheese. Parmesan and Roquefort or any other nippy cheeses are recommended.

CHIFFONADE DRESSING—Add 1 tablespoon each of chopped green peppers and pimientos, 1 tablespoon each of chopped olives and cucumber pickle and 1 hard cooked egg, chopped.

CREAM FRENCH DRESSING — Add 2 tablespoons sweet or sour cream.

CURRENT JELLY [BAR LE DUC] —Omit cayenne, paprika, and onion and add 4 tablespoons currant or bar le duc jelly, whipped with a fork. Serve at once.

FRUIT JUICE FRENCH DRESSING—Omit onion and vinegar; use a combination of 2 tablespoons fruit juice [grapefruit, orange, or pineapple] and ½ tablespoon lemon juice.

HONEY FRENCH DRESSING—Omit onion, pepper, and paprika, use lemon juice rather than vinegar and add ¼ cup honey beaten until frothy with a fork. Serve at once.

LIME FRENCH DRESSING—Omit onion and paprika and use equal parts lime and lemon juice rather than vinegar.

MINT DRESSING—Add 1 tablespoon chopped mint.

7 Minute Icing Flavored with Lemon Is Delicate

A delicately lemon-flavored icing is to a plain cake what the fairy godmother was to Cinderella—a wave of the spatula and the cake is ready to go to a party. Lemon-flavored seven-minute frosting is delicious.

LEMON SEVEN MINUTE FROSTING.

1 teaspoon white corn sirup
⅞ cup sugar
1 egg white
3 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon grated lemon peel
Dash of salt

Cook in double boiler 6 to 7 minutes, beating constantly with rotary beater. Remove from heat, beat thoroughly and spread on cake.

COOKING CEREAL WITH FRUIT IMPROVES THE FLAVOR OF BREAKFAST

Cooking the breakfast cereal with the fruit is often an improvement over serving them both separately. Baked apples stuffed with cooked cereal are a good example. Leftover cereal can be used in this way to good advantage.

BAKED APPLES WITH CEREAL.

Core medium sized apples; fill each center with cooked cereal, then cover with ¼ cup brown sugar and dot with 1 tablespoon butter. Bake in moderate oven [350 to 275 degrees] about 30 minutes, or until tender. Serve with cream.

TEMPTING APPLE MUFFINS BRING LATE RISERS OUT

The teasing odor of hot apple muffins will bring the breakfast laggard down to the table in a hurry. These tempters, with their sugar and spice topping, really belong to the coffee cake family.

APPLE MUFFINS
[Twelve medium muffins]

¼ cup butter or margarine
⅝ cup granulated sugar
[½ cup plus 2 tablespoons]
1 egg, well beaten
2¼ cups pastry or cake flour
3½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup milk
1 cup apples, cored, pared, and chopped

Cream butter or margarine and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg and continue creaming. Sift flour once, measure, combine with other dry ingredients, and sift three times. Add dry ingredients and liquids alternately to the creamed mixture, a small amount at a time. Mix just until dry ingredients are moistened. Fold in the apples. Pour mixture into well greased muffin tins. Sprinkle top with a cinnamon and sugar mixture. Bake in a quick oven [425 degrees] until done — approximately twenty minutes.

GREEN PEPPER RING ENHANCES SUNDAY ROAST

Maybe the garnish doesn't make the dish, but it does wonders in selling a food to its public. A ring of stuffed green peppers will certainly enhance the Sunday roast.

GREEN PEPPER GARNISH

6 medium green peppers
2 cups cooked, salted rice
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chili sauce
¼ cup water

Cut peppers in halves, lengthwise, remove seeds and parboil for three minutes. Combine remaining ingredients, mix thoroughly and stuff into pepper cases. Place around roast the last 40 minutes of baking. Serve on platter in ring around roast.

A NEW PANOCHA FOR ADDICTS OF PEANUT BUTTER

Peanut butter addicts will want to try this new quick panocha which uses peanut butter to insure a smooth, creamy texture.

PEANUT BUTTER PANOCHA.

2 cups sugar
¼ cup white corn sirup
½ cup evaporated milk
1 tablespoon butter
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped pecans
⅓ cup peanut butter

Boil together all but last three ingredients. Boil slowly, stirring occasionally, until sirup forms a soft ball [234 degrees F.] when tested in cold water. Cool until lukewarm, then add three remaining ingredients. Beat until candy holds shape. Knead with hands, then shape into small rolls, 1 inch in diameter. Slice diagonally.

Symphony Does Good Job with a Dull Concert

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Frederick Stock and the Chicago Symphony orchestra are determined not to disturb us too often by thrusting bright and searing flames of beauty under our contented noses. Last night in Orchestra hall they played a fine dull concert which served admirably to mark time between the bright Read-List session of a week ago and the Hindemith and Casadesus programs with which March will start.

Edmund Kurtz, principal cello of the orchestra, appeared as soloist of the evening, rasping around like a great fellow in parts of the first and third movements of the d'Albert concerto, but drawing a considerable amount of suave sound out of his instrument in the andante. Either the comfortable pre-war beauties of the concerto or the agility of Mr. Kurtz's performance pleased the audience mightily and brought on a large volume of hand clapping at the end.

Mr. Stock and his men gave the Bruckner Third symphony a presentation full of lyrically lovely effects. The sweet, introspective passages, in which the work is so rich, found in these searching strings and phenomenally well blown horns the tone colorings which Anton Bruckner must have foldly imagined, yet never heard with fleshy ear.

Poor Mr. Bruckner never seems to go over very well. This symphony does not organize its excellences effectively nor retain the feeling of drive and direction which is necessary in a large scale work. And the ending is almost limp, so that applause starts tentatively and never does get out of hand.

Mr. Stock prefaced the Bruckner with a light and sparkling performance of Weber's "Abu Hassan" overture and wrote finis to the evening with the Glazounow Concert Waltz. I was going to say that Glazounow, in this work, differs from our beery friend, Johann Strauss, principally in his inability to think up really rousing waltz tunes. However, there have been quite enough dyspeptic remarks in this column already.

Billy Maher Celebrates 50th Year with Postoffice

William [Billy] Maher, assistant superintendent of mails in the "Nixie," or dead letter office at the new postoffice, was congratulated by Postmaster Ernest Kruetgen and other postal officials yesterday as he completed fifty years in the postal service. Mr. Maher entered the postoffice department as a clerk Feb. 24, 1888, under Postmaster Solomon Judd. He was born in Chicago March 10, 1871, and lives at 7340 South Green street.

According to CULBERTSON

MR. MEEK'S PSYCHIC.

[A Tragic-Comedy in One Act.]

Scene: A bridge table.

Time: The present.

Characters.

Mr. and Mrs. Hornett, respectively West and East. [What they think of each other's bridge is unprintable, and they're both right!] Mrs. Blank, North, and Mr. Meek, South.

Mrs. Blank [coquettishly]: Now, partner, dear, both sides vulnerable, and we simply must take the rubber! Remember, we're only eight thousand four hundred and ten points ahead.

Mr. Hornett: Of course, we all understand you mean "approximately." You're so careless about odd points.

Mr. Meek [hastily]: My deal!

As usual, Mr. Meek gets a little giddy upon picking up a big hand. He intends to open up with "three hearts" but, to his horror, hears himself say "three spades," and, before he can correct the misnomer, Mr. Hornett steps in with a resounding "double!" The bidding then proceeds as follows:

South	West	North	East
3 spades	Double!	Pass	Pass
4 hearts	5 diam'ds	5 hearts	6 diam'ds
6 hearts	7 diam'ds	7 hearts	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

Mr. Hornett viciously slaps down the king of diamonds and, from that point on, the defenders can do nothing more constructive than moaning and groaning. Mr. Meek, still quivering from his initial slip of the tongue, does not require much composure to ruff the opening lead, draw the one outstanding trump, and discard dummy's spades on his own long clubs. Feeling like a pickpocket, Mr. Meek then nervously spreads his hand, revealing the two spades. Mr. and Mrs. Hornett stare at them silently, then . . .

Mrs. Hornett [to Mr. Hornett]: This is the end! I've played my last game as your partner! I'd rather join the circus and be shot out of a cannon!

Mr. Hornett: I strongly approve that idea. The job just fits your mental capacity! May I point out, Snow White, that it was you who doubled seven hearts?

Mrs. Hornett: Well, we could have taken two spade tricks, couldn't we? Of course, I should have realized that it would be a major miracle if you were to lead the right suit!

Mr. Hornett: O, sure! A spade lead was marked! I was supposed to know that Meek, of all people, had psyched in spades!

Mr. Meek [slightly insulted]: I didn't psyche. The spade bid just slipped out!

Mr. Hornett: Some slip! [He thinks for a moment.] Jumping jelly fish! We could have made seven spades against anything but a diamond opening by North. It would have been cold against any lead if my esteemed partner had become declarer!

Mrs. Hornett: O, I'm sorry, dear! Of course I should have bid seven spades!

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Going from counter to counter in the shops these days we discovered that this is a good time to stock up on cleansing cream. We were particularly enamored of a pound jar of one of our "favoritest" cleansers in all the world. It comes in smaller sizes too, of course—but there's something about a pound jar, at a good price, that appeals to us in our thrifty moments. You feel you can practically wallow in it—which is not only a good feeling but good for your face!

We like this cream because it's such an elegant softener as well as a cleanser. It may be treason, but we have a soft spot in our heart for cold cream. This might be termed a new fashioned cold cream. It has the sterling, rich virtues of the cold cream of old but none of its disadvantages in the way of stiffness. This is fluffyish, but it's jampacked with softening oils.

The somewhat fluffy consistency makes it pleasant to use and the richness of it makes it a very good one to use if the skin is inclined to dryness. Lots of women who've taken to it use it as a combination cream—first as a grime chaser [and it's good in this rôle] and afterward as a softener. You can leave a thin film on overnight to get in some good work as an oil replenisher.

This is a thorough cleanser and if you're wise you'll take your time when you use it. Slather plenty on and leave it on for a couple of minutes. You get in some good and much needed oiling in this way and actually do a better job of removing the grime and the makeup than you otherwise would. If you use it at night as a softener, apply a bit more after the cleansing ritual. It's a double edged weapon against dryness.

Find Epperly Charms Both in Oil and Crayon

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The exhibition of oil paintings and crayons by Richard R. Epperly, shown under the auspices of the All Illinois Society of the Fine Arts in the third floor gallery at the Stevens hotel, is exceptionally interesting. The crayons are particularly fascinating. In fact, in one case where the artist has painted an oil and then put the same material into a crayon, the crayon is the more penetrating work.

The picture with which Mr. Epperly has turned the trick is "Madeleine, Paris," in which the little church stands in the rain with a flower vendor in front of it. The crayon is entitled "The Flower Vendors" and raindrop for raindrop, flower for flower, line for line, it is the "Madeleine," but one loves it none the less for that.

The several crayon portraits are charming. "Gloria, Mexico," "Joyce," "Ruth, Mexico," "Enrique," and the "Laughing Child" are delightful. The laughing portrait of George Arliss is most likable. Outside of the portraits there are several crayons and oils that attest in full to the painter's ability: "Still Life," "Aphrodisiac," "Rouen, France," "Zimipan, Mexico," "Church Near El Paso" [lovely], and "Château, Fontainbleau."

The exhibit will close March 5.

Two young artists, John Stenvall and John Winters, share the walls at the Chicago Woman's Aid, 185 North Wabash avenue. Of the two, Stenvall is infinitely the more distinguished draftsman and the greater artist. His work shows he has something to say and that he knows how to say it. His feeling for composition rarely betrays him and his color is exciting. Most of the things in this show are small—water colors and drawings—but in each of them is atmosphere and power.

Winters, on the contrary, seems to be still looking for a goal. His work appears to be flat, tepid, stilted, and trite. It is the kind of painting that Art institute juries have liked for a number of years, but one wishes he would give it more backbone and greater resilience.

The exhibition will continue to March 12.

Feminine or Sophisticated

FROCK IN JUNIOR SIZES.

This spring dress may be dainty and feminine or sleek and sophisticated. Your personality is the first consideration. Select the ultimate styling to conform to it. The sketch at the left gives the princess frock a Peter Pan collar with ruffled edging. A gay print is used. No other trimming is needed than the collar, since the colors in the material give all the life that is necessary.

If you're the more sophisticated type you may prefer the version sketched at the right. It has a V neckline and trims it with a nosegay. [If your beau doesn't send flowers use artificial ones.] The puffed sleeves are long in this model, which may grace tea table and the dinner hour alike.

Style No. 2689 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19 years. Size 15 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅝ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

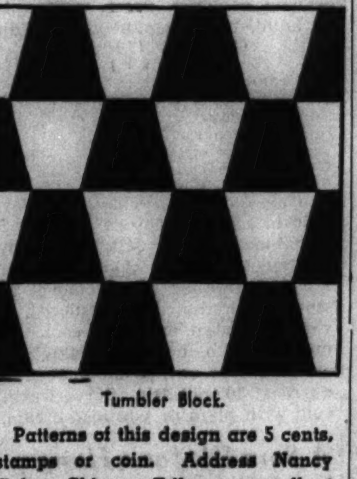
"Tumbler Block" Is Among Oldest Four Patch Quilts



Tumbler Block.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Tumbler Block" is one of the oldest of the four patch designs, and was among the first quilts attempted as a deviation from the "crazy" quilt. These "Tumbler" quilts were used as everyday coverlets and for warmth rather than for a display of needlework ability. The coverlet contains 63 pieced blocks, 32 of which are composed of patches starting with white at the upper lefthand corner. These are set together in an alternate arrangement with blocks in which the blue patch begins at the upper left corner. The quilt is finished with a three inch border and a half inch bias binding.

Neat and Compact Grooming Effect Is a Real Beauty Asset

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Describing a certain woman whose name was on every tongue a while back, one of our smart young men said something to the effect that she was as neat and compact as a piece of new luggage. Which is presented as a thought for today. Neat luggage or blowsy baggage, which are we? We have our days, no doubt, when we feel as neatly put together and as compact as the next woman. And there are days when we feel and know we look like a battered old suitcase, yes?

It's a large question whether some of us ever will attain all-around-the-clock perfection. We aren't closely-knit enough architecturally for one thing. Some don't care. And some haven't the time we think it takes for the always meticulous upkeep.

It isn't all dress that makes this compact personality. It isn't expensive dress, heaven knows. But it is smart dress with accessories so fit and right that they melt into the basic scheme. But more, we think, and have observed in women who answer the pleasing description, it is in management of the body one finds the important cue. Hands, legs, head fit rightly and neatly into a well molded silhouette. You aren't conscious of these appendages, as things apart. They, too, melt into the whole scheme so that when a woman moves about, say, she moves in one piece. Her knees do not precede her. Her feet don't flop or turn out. Her arms don't paw the air or row their way along as she walks. She is a unit in motion and that's the only way you can describe her.

Lectures Win Attention of Nontravelers

BY JUDITH CASS.

ONE of the chief interests of Chicagoans who are not fortunate enough to have gone a-traveling is attending lectures, a form of entertainment that always is popular during the quiet weeks leading into the Lenten season. Enough talks about travel, art, and politics are scheduled for the next few weeks to enable every one to hear something on her favorite subject.

One of next week's speakers is Thomas Mann, 1929 Nobel prize winner in literature, and considered one of the leading novelists of today. Mr. Mann will give a public lecture at the Auditorium theater Tuesday night, under the auspices of Northwestern university. "The Coming Victory of Democracy," is the title of his talk, which an audience of more than 4,000 is expected to hear.

There will be a small dinner for Mr. Mann preceding his lecture. The university's a cappella choir, under the direction of Max T. Krone, will give a short program before Franklyn Bliss Snyder, dean of faculties at Northwestern, introduces the speaker.

Among the boxholders for Mr. Mann's lecture are President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern, and Mrs. Scott, who are leaving next week to spend a month in Pasadena; the John J. Mitchells, the Albert Wettens, the Walter S. Carrs, the Lessing Rosenthals, the Robert A. Gardners, the Silas Strawns, the Conrad Poppenhusens, the Wirt Mortons, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Wells, the Theodore Robinsons, the Stuyvesant Peabodys, the William Dixons, the Orville J. Taylors, Mr. and Mrs. Burt J. Denman, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Loesch.

Last Lecture in University Series.

Mr. Mann's lecture will be the last of a series of ten presented by the University College of Northwestern university this winter. The lecture will be his first in America this year, and his first ever in the middle west. He is coming to Chicago directly after landing in New York from Europe.

The world famous German novelist became an exile in 1933 because he refused to conform to Aryan ideology, and since Hitler has come to power Mr. Mann has been a leader in the fight for democracy.

Relations Council Will Hear Dodd.

Another of next week's speakers is William E. Dodd, former United States ambassador to Germany, who will speak on Monday at the Palmer house at a luncheon meeting of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations. The meeting promises to be one of the largest of the winter for the council, and tables for luncheon, which will be served at 12:30 o'clock, are being reserved especially for men.

"The Dilemma of the International Situation" is the subject of Mr. Dodd's talk. He will speak on the same subject a week from tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the Country club of Evanston under the auspices of the Woman's Republican club of Evanston.

Mrs. Wallace Patterson and Mrs. C. Marshall Rogers are entertaining at tea this afternoon for the committee in charge of selling tickets to the Evanston lecture.

Dr. Edmund Ezra Day, first president of Cornell university, and President Scott will speak at a banquet the Chicago Cornell club is giving tonight at the University club. The dinner, the sixty-first annual banquet of the club, is being given for Dr. Day.

The Duc de Levis-Mirepoix, who is lecturing in French tomorrow morning at the Alliance Française, will be the especial guest at a small dinner party the French consul general, Rene Weiller, and Mme. Weiller will give tomorrow night in their home.

International Theater Gives Play Tonight.

M. and Mme. Weiller will be among the Howard Linns' guests at dinner tonight preceding the opening performance of "Eugenie Grandet," to be presented by the International theater at the Goodman theater. Two other performances, tomorrow morning and afternoon, will be given, officially closing the theater's season. However, the theater, directed by Georges Cauuet, plans to give an extra play sometime in May, the proceeds to go to charity.

A second theatrical opening of tonight is "Night Must Fall," to be presented by the Chicago Mummers' Theater at the Chicago Woman's Club theater, with Mrs. Waldo Logan appearing as guest star. Among those who will dine Dutch treat preceding the play are the Stanley Morrills, the Howard Emigs, the Wirt Mortons, the Nicholas Starosselskys, the Taylor Strawns, Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Proxmire, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Strotz, the J. Glenn Samples, and the H. Foster Straws.

Opera to Benefit Neighborhood House.

The Erie Neighborhood house will benefit from the première of the American Opera company tonight at the Auditorium theater. "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci" are on the program. Jerzy Bojanowski is directing the company.

Erie house is a Presbyterian institution at 1347 West Erie street. It was established twenty-two years ago.

The Merry Widow---1938 Version

Made of biscuit colored jumbo tuscan straw, this sailor is the hat of the hour. A wide brim as straight as a line is veiled in black to match the ribbon band around the very low flat crown. Similar dashing creations will be found in the new spring showings.

Chalk Stripes Make Mark as Spring Fashion

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Swanky chalk stripes are being used for the first time for the smartest costumes and coats in the early spring collections. There are all kinds of short coats, all sorts of cleverly contrived dresses and jackets, and some stunning three piece outfits for street wear available. The best looking finds use dull black wool with the faint chalk white vertical lines a good inch apart. Such lines assure slenderness and a crisp effect. Some of the knee length coats are lined with black taffeta; others with the usual slippery satins or crêpes.

In the three piece costumes the skirt of the smart suit is of dull black wool and the rib fitted jacket has the chalk stripe, with a vermilion or jade green ascot muffler at the neckline. The top coat is of the striped wool. Dull black wool streamlined dresses come with fetching short boleros of the striped material.

Chest length boleros are attractive new arrivals. One collection has them in high colors, the dress a simple affair with buttons down the front, the bolero dark with pink dots, or of a fire truck red. Chamois yellow, copper and all pink tops are alluring. Sometimes you match your hat to the color of your bolero, while at other times gloves and a belt of matching shade can be worn. If you want new clothes with plenty of zip, shop for the chalk stripes and the boleros now, before the best bets disappear.

Fashion photograph . . . the revival of an old head line. It's the "merry widow" sailor hat, made of jumbo tuscan straw imported from Italy. The crown is extremely shallow with a band of ribbon as the only trim. A wide straight brim is softly veiled in black to match the suit or band. Similar models are to be found in the newly unpacked spring showings.

The Housewife

If you're making either a fruit or an alcoholic beverage and don't want it diluted by melting ice, try using the new and decorative ice balls. These are obtainable in sets of four and six. You fill them with water and place them in one of the trays in the freezing unit of your electric refrigerator.

Then, when they're frozen, simply remove and place in a cocktail shaker of drinks, or in your fruit punch. They'll do the work of ice, and they won't dilute the liquid they chill. These balls are nickel plated and most attractive.

Tricky 5-Suit Bridge Scores Slam in London

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The purchase by King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of two sets of the new five suit bridge cards at the British industries fair gave a royal fillip to the popularity of this strikingly original game.

Although introduced here only about ten days ago, the new pastime, played with sixty-five cards, has already aroused considerable interest among bridge players. Manufacturers even now are having difficulty in keeping up with orders for the new cards and the innovation seems to be taking hold on the public fancy.

The king's first question when shown the five suit deck was how the sixty-five cards could be dealt among four players. Therein lies one of the game's most unusual points. But in addition, a totally new suit has been introduced. Bearing a solid green crown design on the faces, the card's new suit is called "royals."

Each player receives sixteen cards. The one card remaining then is turned face up by the dealer, to be awarded to the successful bidder. When the bidding is completed the declarer then is permitted to exchange the extra card for any single card in his own or his dummy's hand.

This novel feature, of course, will have a considerable effect on bidding. In case it is a high honor in the middle there would be added competition, and even a small card might make material difference.

A further difference in the new game is the size of the "book." Unlike the orthodox game a bid of "one" means undertaking to gain nine tricks, since the "book" consists of eight instead of six tricks.

For the sake of clarity many players of the new game have given up the conventional bid which presumes the "book tricks" and instead call the actual number of tricks to be made.

Points per trick—Clubs and diamonds, 20; hearts and spades, 25; royals, 20; no trumps, 40.

There are three kinds of slams. The scoring: Little slam [14 tricks], not vulnerable, 500; vulnerable, 750; grand slam [15 tricks], not vulnerable 1,000; vulnerable, 1,500; superslam [16 tricks], not vulnerable, 1,500; vulnerable, 2,000.

The duke of Kent, who accompanied the king and queen, jokingly remarked that bridge already was sufficiently difficult without adding further complications.

However, the truth of this comment is said to be the very reason for the new game's popularity. More difficult than contract and the older auction, five suit bridge is said to reward its players with a more interesting game. Furthermore, following the swing from auction to contract, many players became so confused by the elaborate rules that they gave up the game entirely.

One enthusiast said: "Contract had become a business. Five suit means we will start again with everybody on the same level."

Despite this outburst, it is thought the new game is unlikely to supersede conventional contract among the expert players in the men's clubs here. One drawback is that the rubbers are longer since making the game contract is more difficult, and the playing of sixteen cards consumes more time.

Professional players, however, are said to be very enthusiastic about it—especially writers on the subject. For them it provides a new field, and, as one said, "everything about contract has already been said."

Five suit bridge began some months ago in Vienna. An invention of the Viennese scientist, Dr. Margulin, it was indorsed by the Austrian national bridge team, winner of the world championship last year. Dr. Paul Stern, captain of the team, compiled the rules of the game.

Looking at Hollywood -by Ed Sullivan

I Wonder—

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 24.—Why Jane Bryan, who looked like such a grand acting prospect in earlier Warner flickers, was so poor in "A Slight Case of Murder?" or was it bad photography that gave you the monotonous impression of teeth and chin?

Why Universal has paid Danielle Darrieux close to $85,000 since September, while waiting for a script to be prepared that should have been prepared before she arrived.

Why Dave Selznick ever decided on Paulette Goddard for the rôle of Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone with the Wind" when there are performers like Margaret Sullavan, Katie Hepburn, and Miriam Hopkins available.

Why Washington, D. C., doesn't recognize that the movie headquarters here in Hollywood sense a recession before any one else. The ticker services which Paramount, M-G-M, 20th Century-Fox, and others operate to all of the cities of the country is a daily record of spending that should be invaluable to the government experts. They can tell you, here, the exact hour when people stop spending money, and the areas most affected. This last slump originated in Detroit.

Why Lou Gehrig, Joe Louis and Dick Merrill, who have made pictures in the last year, have not been nominated for the academy award. Don't tell me, let me guess!

Why M-G-M doesn't make better use of Walter Abel. He was one of the finest actors on the Broadway stage.

Why Ginger Rogers, away from the screen, employs such a greasy makeup. Or why Luise Rainer insists on appearing so badly groomed in public. Or why Jack Oakie doesn't slice forty pounds off his carcass.

Why Annabella, who was so grand with Brian Aherne in "Wings of the Morning," is hardly understandable for three reels of "Baroness and the Butler."

Why the movies, immediately a slump is upon them, blame the radio. Why don't they take it in stride, instead of moaning and groaning? You'd think that a slump was something specially devised to harass them. I understand it hurts other businesses, too.

Why young Freddie Bartholomew, who is as nice a little kid as you'd care to meet, has been bedevilled by all sorts of miseries, just because he makes money.

Why Sam Goldwyn dropped Sam Marx and Freddie Kohlmar, who were two four-star execs, and who were in there pitching for him all the time.

Why Sonja Henie gives out silly statements that she'll fly the ocean when you know that it is strictly a publicity statement for the yokel trade.

Why it is always assumed that rich people are unhappy. The rich people I know seem to be having a helluva swell time.

Why Paramount does a year's gross of $107,000,000 on theaters and film rentals and only nets some $3,000,000.

Why the movie makers don't stagger their previews in this town, so that working newspaper men can see them, instead of having three previews conflict on one night, as is the usual custom. Can't the studios work out an arrangement, just as the Broadway producers do?

Why the producers aren't allowed, this year, to vote for the best actor and actress. It is reasonable to suppose that they know something about talent.

Why Fred Apostoli, who was ridin' high, was matched with Young Corbett. He had everything to lose, nothing to gain, and Corbett knocked his ears back.

Why a survey isn't made by the movies to determine the truth or falsity of Darryl Zanuck's idea on movie fare. Zanuck insists that in bad times theatergoers only want dramas or heavy cinema fare, that only in good times do you and you and you want musical comedies and screwy comedies. If that is so, and is demonstrable, it is the greatest light ever shed upon the complexities of entertainment.

Why Jane Withers, for no good reason, keeps heckling Shirley Temple, as witness the recent occasion in Detroit when young Miss Withers went on the stage and did a poisonous caricature. That kind of stuff is reserved for older and sillier columnists.

Why Mitzi Mayfair got herself tangled up in all that idiotic publicity with her boy friend. It would have been easier to have eloped and ended it there.

Why other cities don't join Chicago's fight against double bills in movie houses if they are on the level in their insistence that they don't want to spend three and a half hours in theaters.

Why everybody in this town engages a press agent when it is a matter of record that it's only what a performer or a director does on the screen that counts. The people who make movie stars are Mr. and Mrs. John Public, and they only believe what they see on the screen.

Why I forgot to include Madeleine Carroll in the list recently printed here of Hollywood's lovelier lookers. Maybe I'm just a dope. And I forgot Olivia De Havilland, who ain't bad.

Why it hasn't been pointed out that Doug Fairbanks Jr. and Douglas Shearer are two of the few relatives in this town who have clicked without any help from their family background. Fairbanks is one of the better make-believers and Shearer has contributed vastly to the industry's knowledge of sound in films.

GUNHAMMERED GOLD

By Luke Short

[Copyright: 1938: By Frederick Dilley Glidden.]

SYNOPSIS.

Abe McCandless, who framed Poco St. Vrain and made him an outlaw, owns a gold mine on a mountain peak. Two insurance agents, sent to bring down the gold, are murdered by two different bands of outlaws. Two-Way Hornbeck, leader of one band, persuades Poco to pose as one of the agents. At the mountain camp Poco finds Espey Cardowan, killer gunman, posing as the other agent. Shayne, the mine manager, has a lovely daughter, Kate. Cardowan crowds Poco off the cliff and takes the gold. He joins forces with Two-Way. Posing as prospectors they are given an army escort to Rincon. Meanwhile Kate helps rescue Poco. He confesses his identity and promises to recover the gold to save her father from blame. In Rincon Poco saves the life of a stranger, Van. He tricks Two-Way and Cardowan into admitting they put the gold on a stagecoach. Poco rides off after the coach. Two-Way, double-crossing Cardowan, promises McCandless to lead a posse to St. Vrain and the gold. But Cardowan learns the hotel clerk has the gold which was put off the coach and rides off with it, also kidnaping Kate Shayne. The posse catch up with Poco on the coach. When they find no gold McCandless turns on Two-Way. In an exchange of gunfire both are killed. The mob returns to the hotel with Poco, and when they find Cardowan and the gold gone, turn on Poco. The stranger, Van, appears and announces himself a United States marshal. When the mob turns on him he and Poco take refuge in the sherif's office. Harry, the stagecoach driver, and a girl called Steamboat give the two a chance to escape through the roof. Poco rides off in the coach after Cardowan, forcing Van to go with him.

INSTALMENT XXXV.

AT AN OUTLAW'S MERCY.

It took Cardowan a surprisingly short time to rope two of the sturdier horses. He packed the aparejos on them, then went into the shed and brought out a saddle. He roped a chunky sorrel next, threw the saddle on him, then mounted to top him off. The horse was gentle, and he grunted with pleasure. There was a long legged black watching and waiting in the corner of the corral, and now Cardowan singled him out and put a loop over him. This was a different proposition. The black fought, but Cardowan went at it just as he had gone about mastering the team.

He snubbed the black to a corral pole, got a hackamore over his head, then yanked the tieknot loose, vaulted on his back, and proceeded to top him off. The horse fought savagely, plunging and screaming and pitching, but Cardowan rode him with that ruthless quiet determination that was almost ponderous in its stubbornness.

When the black gave up Cardowan trotted him over to Kate.

"In the saddle. We're riding."

He led off through the timber, still heading south along a cattle trail. Kate was hungry, but the thought of escape was no longer in her mind. Cardowan had seen to it that she got a slower horse, and she suspected that part of his exhibition of riding there in the corral was to show her how little chance any attempt at escape would have with him.

When the trail they were traveling petered out, Cardowan struck out blind through the sparse timber that was giving way to the cedar-stripped sandhills. Kate was setting down into a fog of weariness when Cardowan pulled up and waited for her.

They were on a low ridge that sloped down a sandy hillside to the thread of a railroad track far below. A line of telegraph poles paralleled it. A half mile down the track a red-painted and scaffolded water tank raised its gaunt skeleton beside the rails.

Cardowan looked at the sun and announced, "We're in plenty of time."

"Yes," Kate said dully.

"You'll like it across the border," Cardowan continued, as if he had allowed her time enough to let the knowledge of her new life sink in. "They know me in Mexico. There'll be no running from hideout to hideout down there."

They pulled up at the water tank, and while Kate sought its cool shade Cardowan removed the packs from the horses, herded them together, and drove them back up the slope. He returned on foot a few minutes later and sat down under the tank.

Then he fixed his cool gaze on Kate, who was sitting stiffly on the packs.

"Come here, sister," he drawled pleasantly, and added: "The name's Kate, isn't it?"

She said nothing, staring at him with wide eyes. She did not move.

"It won't be long before you learn I mean what I say," he drawled ominously. When she still did not move he said curtly, "Come here!"

She rose and walked over to him.

"Sit down!"

She sat beside him, keeping her glance steadily on the horizon and her face was stiff and lifeless. He reached out and touched her hair. "That's what I liked about you," he said judiciously. "That hair. I'll leave these black haired greasers for the others. Me, I savvy blonde women best."

Kate did not even wince under his coarseness, but she could not help flinching when he touched her. He noticed it and laughed and let his hand fall to his side.

"Still expecting help, Kate?"

"No. But I can still hope," she answered in a low, bitter voice.

He tapped his chest with curved forefinger and said quietly. "Don't. I've never met the man yet that could take the woman I wanted away from me. You're with me until I throw you away."

"Poco St. Vrain could have," she answered just as quietly.

As always, that name made him uneasy. Poco had told her his name. A slow flush crept up from his neck, and his mouth got ugly.

He said, "Listen. You saw what happened to that saddle-tramp there at the mine when he crossed me, didn't you?"

"Yes. I helped him up from the canyon."

Cardowan's eyes narrowed. "You did, huh? And did he tell you his name? He must have."

"Of course."

Cardowan said slowly, "You aren't expecting him to help you. He's gone over on the other side of the mountains wondering where the gold is gone."

"He wouldn't help me if he was here. But he would kill you."

Cardowan said contemptuously, "He's bogus. He hasn't the guts or the brains to take you or this dust from me."

Kate's blue eyes turned upon him. "That's what I told him. That's why I'm sure he'll meet up with you sooner or later."

Cardowan shrugged and smiled narrowly. "I'll make it later—after you've been with me a while." He rose and said: "Come along."

They walked down the tracks perhaps a quarter of a mile. Then Cardowan looked up at the telegraph wires curving from pole to pole both ways as far as sight lasted. He flipped up his gun, cocked it, paused only long enough to steady it and shoot. The wire snapped next to an insulator and whipped down to the ground.

"That's the first precaution," he announced, turning to her.

Kate again thought of Poco St. Vrain, could almost see him smile crookedly and say, "Sure, the world and everything in it is made for those bold enough to take it."

She turned back, Cardowan beside her. The sun overhead was brassy and unpitying, and its heat made her lightheaded, unable to think and not even wanting to. When they were close to the tank again Cardowan paused and put out a hand to detain her.

"Listen," he said. He knelt by the rail and put his ear almost on it. Even she could hear the singing in it.

He rose and said, "It's coming."

He did not speak again until they were under the water tank. Then he said, "Get this straight. I'm ranching up in the mountains. You're my wife. I sunk a hole on our land and this stuff is samples I'm taking in to have assayed in Silver City. You're going along for your health, and for the trip. That's really why we're going. This sample stuff is just damfoolery that I feel kinda' sheepish about. Our name is O'Brien. We're new to the country. You're Kate. I'm Curt. Don't talk. Sleep a lot. You'll sit with me and I'll go through considerable fuss to see you're comfortable. A neighboring homesteader drove us down here. And I'll do the talking. You get all that?"

Kate said she had.

Grandmother Sues Father of Child Actor; Gets $3 a Week Now

New York, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Thomas Kelly's grandmother—he is the child movie star of "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer"—wants an increase in the $3 a week allowance she says Thomas' father, Michael Kelly, has been paying her.

So the grandmother, Mrs. Mary Kelly, 60, got a summons against her son. Justice Joseph F. Maguire today ordered him to be in court Monday.

Mrs. Kelly said that she once advanced her son, who was on a WPA pay roll before young Kelly got his movie job, $4,500 to aid him in a trucking business, and that he failed to return the money.

Two Sick Children Need Beds.

We have had two emergency requests for assistance for sick children.

Miss G. is searching for a child's bed for a three year old girl just released from the hospital and convalescing from pneumonia. In the past she slept with her parents, one of whom has an infectious disease.

Another worker needs a crib for a baby who is very ill. The doctor insists that the child can no longer share its mother's bed, but must have complete rest in a crib of its own.

Losing Beau Is No Cause for Sobs and Tears

BY DORIS BLAKE.

When they stop calling you up, young women, that's the time in your young lives when you begin looking around for substitutes. Don't even take time to ask why he stopped calling you, why he doesn't take you out any more. And don't be ridiculous enough to waste time moaning about it, weeping and gnashing your teeth over your ineffectiveness as a siren. If you could hold one man's interest for a date or two, that's sufficient proof that you have something to offer.

Remember, young women, as long as you maintain your confidence in yourself, you can turn right around and inveigle some other man into your good graces and yourself into his.

Today, as young folk conduct their affairs, a proprietariness that has no right to existence influences your reactions to a broken friendship. A young man pays you a little attention and you mark him for a lifetime devotion. That's taking a good deal on yourself, you know. It is regrettable that couples dance a whole evening together in the early stages of a romantic affair. Presently you and the young man begin to find yourselves tabulated as belonging to each other, and this implication often is what inspires the young man to move on before he becomes too deeply committed. He feels the girl tugging at the reins in the proprietary manner of which we speak and then, because he is not ready or planning to settle down soon, he looks for a loophole and out he goes.

You might have kept him for a friend instead. When you begin a course of questioning why he hasn't shown up, he is convinced that you are out to get him and if he isn't ready to contemplate marriage he feels he'd better break the friendship off right now and forever. Truth is, with a good many young women, it is what their friends may say and think that governs their conduct.

Be Reasonable in Efforts to WinObedience

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Obedience as a tool to help build or carve out, day by day, a happy and profitable life for our small son or daughter is surely worth gaining. If you haven't been successful it may be that thinking and watching will help. It may be that this series of articles, starting last Monday, will help you by shedding some light on the why's and how's.

Obedience—what I call intelligent obedience—helps to build a pleasant relationship between a mother and her child, especially in those early years when she and her small one are together, closely and intimately, for the greater part of every day. The reason is that she must make dozens of demands upon the young learning child, and obedience is the fundamental upon which the doing of them rests.

So, as one more suggestion in how to gain obedience, is this: Be reasonable. And that means several things, among them: Be reasonable in what you expect as to perfection of accomplishment.

Little children gain by slow degrees the control of their muscles for the finer skills. So, don't expect too much and don't blame or scold them for slips, mistakes, and accidents.

We were joking at the table the other Sunday night, when tea was being poured for our guests by a quite young hand, about the days when that same hands was learning to pour milk from a little pitcher into a mug, and how the lip of the pitcher always used to be allowed to rest on the edge of the mug, with a tippy, wabbly result that threatened a white flood, and sometimes made good the threat.

Next, be reasonable not only about the degree of perfection the small one has gained, but about the time it takes him to accomplish the thing in hand. Little children are usually slow in the performance of certain tasks for two reasons. One is because in learning any skill there is awkwardness and waste motion.

The other reason is that time, in the sense that we think of it, doesn't exist for the small child. "Hurry" has no point for him; it's just an annoying, meaningless fly buzzing around his hand. So here the point is: Be reasonable by allowing your child plenty of time for the thing he has to do.

There will be more about this subject tomorrow.

Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock tonight for the benefit of the Community fund. The lower school is putting on tumbling acts, figure marching, a boxing stunt, and relays. The upper school is having a basketball game with the Fourth Presbyterian church team.

Ronny Johansson to Dance Tonight.

Miss Ronny Johansson arrived yesterday to give a dance recital this evening at Thorne hall on the Chicago campus of Northwestern university. While she is here over the week-end she will be the guest of Mrs. William G. Hibbard in Winnetka. Tonight Mrs. Hibbard will entertain at dinner for her before the recital and on Sunday she will give a luncheon for her at her home in Winnetka.

Mrs. Hibbard hopes to have a short vacation in Hot Springs, Ariz., the last of March.

Three Exhibits at Arts Club.

The Arts club, the Cliff Dwellers, and the Cordon will be the destinations of many following the Symphony concert this afternoon. Three exhibitions are being opened at the Arts club, the works of Laurencin, Tonny, and Gauguin.

Arthur Heun has loaned a painting by Marie Laurencin, of "Little Girl with Violoncello," and ten engravings on wood by Gauguin, which will be in a room by themselves. These charming little engravings are of Tahitian subjects.

Kristians Tonny is a young artist, born in Amsterdam, who is new to the art world.

Mrs. Robert S. Pirie is expected back from a brief holiday in Sun Valley in time to act as hostess this afternoon. Pouring will be Mrs. Shreve Badger, Mrs. Thomas L. Marshall, Mrs. Laird Bell, Mrs. Byron S. Harvey, Mrs. Duncan Hodges, Mrs. Robert Jeffries, Mrs. William S. Monroe, Mrs. Walter P. Paepcke, Mrs. Morris Rosenfield, Miss Jean Adams, Miss Frances Badger, Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer, Mrs. Alexander Green, Mrs. Alfred Shaw, and Mrs. John Storrs.

Mrs. William E. Parsons will be the hostess for the Cliff Dwellers. Assisting her will be Mrs. Francis R. Dickinson, Mrs. Fletcher Durbin, Mrs. Robert Peck, Mrs. Daniel Burnham, Mrs. George Foster, and Mrs. Orrington Foster.

The Cordon will have as its special guest this afternoon Dr. Gustaf Munthe, director of the Decorative Arts museum in Gothenburg, Sweden.

Barnard college alumnae will meet for luncheon today at the Chicago Athletic association. Prof. E. E. Freienmuth von Helme of the department of Germanics at the University of Chicago, formerly at Barnard, will be the speaker.

Squash Tourney at Woman's A. C.

The Woman's Athletic club has announced its second annual invitation squash racquets tournament to be held next Monday and Tuesday. Excitement runs high at these matches, the contestants arriving early in the morning and remaining all day.

Among those entered for the tournament are Mrs. William B. Freer, who won the tournament held last Friday; Miss Elisabeth Dewes, Miss Margaret Goehst, Mrs. Louis Sudler, Mrs. James Draper, Mrs. John A. Kovas, Mrs. George B. Massey, Miss Nancy Bastien, Mrs. Conway H. Olmsted, Mrs. Benjamin Carpenter, Miss Peggy Hixon, Miss Evelyn Bouscaren, and Miss Margot Atkin.

Harvard and Cornell alumni have organized committees on arrangements and ticket sales for a polo match between the two universities on March 12 at the 124th Field Artillery armory. Wyndham Hasler is chairman of the Harvard committee, and Henry E. Gardiner is head of the Cornell committee.

HAWKS LOSE TO RANGERS, 6-3; LEAD CUT TO 1½ GAMES

THOMPSON AND SHILL SCORE FOR CHICAGO

Detroit Gains with 2-2 Tie.

New York, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Snapping out of a three game losing streak, New York Rangers evened their season series with Chicago in a National Hockey league game here tonight when they trounced the Blackhawks, 6 to 3. The result gave each team three victories with one game ending in a tie.

The loss was costly to the Hawks, who saw the Detroit Red Wings gain a 2-2 tie with the Montreal Maroons and climb within three points of the third place Chicago team in the American section.

Rangers Ahead Throughout.

The Rangers led all the way, at one time holding a five goal advantage. Clint Smith scored the Rangers' first two goals in the first period and was the only one of the New Yorkers to find the net more than once. Paul Thompson accounted for two of the Chicago goals, with Shill scoring the third. Mac Colville, Babe Pratt, Alex Shibicky, and Lynn Patrick were the other Ranger scorers.

The game was little more than three minutes old when the Rangers went into the lead, Smith beating Karakas on a play with Patrick and Dillon.

Hextall was chased for interference which messed up a rush led by Seibert and the Hawks sent out four forwards. Seibert made Kerr jump with a hard shot from inside the blue line and Romnes just missed the rebound. A few seconds later Kerr saved sensationally from Romnes and Thompson in a pile-up.

Smith Gets Another.

Dillon tested Karakas when he obtained the puck in Chicago territory after a face off. As Heller passed the puck forward from just inside the blue line, Smith swung at it and the puck sailed by Karakas for the Ranger's second goal.

Levinsky was chased for tripping and the Rangers had their turn at ganging. The Hawks checked hard and Karakas had little trouble keeping his net clear until Levinsky returned.

Mac Colville almost beat Karakas in the second period on a shot from close in, and then picked up his own rebound to score on a backhand shot. Heller drew an assist.

Shill, Watson Fight.

Shill and Watson started to push each other around and were both sent to the cooler. Seibert crashed through the Ranger defense with both teams playing short handed but Kerr was too good for him.

Shibicky lost the puck in his own zone and Thompson gave Kerr no chance as he picked a corner to keep the Hawks in the race at 13:37. But the Rangers came right back and less than a minute later Pratt took a pass out from behind the Chicago net and scored with ease. Shibicky continued the assault, scoring unassisted, to put Rangers in front, 5 to 1.

The Hawks rushed into Ranger territory but were stopped short, with Coulter breaking away and passing to Patrick for the New Yorkers' sixth goal.

Five goals down, the Hawks kept pressing and Thompson drew a big hand from the crowd when he beat Kerr cleanly with a long shot after Gottselig set up the play with about five minutes remaining.

The goal seemed to inspire the Hawks and Shill added to their count in an effort with Dahlstrom and Trudell.

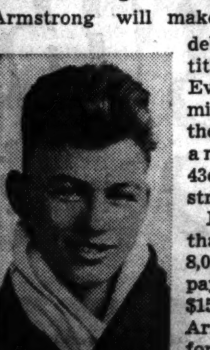
ARMSTRONG AND RIGHTMIRE MEET IN TEN ROUNDS

Everett Counts on Speed to Win Tonight.

Featherweight Champion Henry Armstrong will make his Chicago debut in a nontitle bout with Everett Rightmire tonight in the International amphitheater, 43d and Halsted streets.



Everett Rightmire.

Indications are that more than 8,000 fans will pay in excess of $15,000 to watch Armstrong try for his thirty-third knockout in thirty-four contests.

Though few give Rightmire a chance to last the limit of ten rounds, the Sioux City, Ia., junior lightweight has mapped out a plan of battle he thinks will help him elude most of the champion's counterpunches to score an upset.

Rightmire Counts on Speed.

Rightmire proposes to use speed and cleverness to beat his slugging foe. In his workouts with Varias Milling, Filipino featherweight, whose style is comparable to that displayed by Armstrong, Rightmire forced his sparmate to lead and then caught him with left jabs and right counters as he came rushing into close quarters. Once in close, Milling was helpless, for Rightmire is adept at tying up an opponent in the clinches.

Rightmire has not been defeated since he lost a decision to Sammy Angott in Milwaukee last September. He has engaged in seven fights since then, boxing a draw with Pete Lello in Chicago Stadium Nov. 16 and winning the others, two by knockouts. His victims include Jackie Wilson, Jackie Sharkey [twice], Roger Bernard, and Moon Mullins.

If Everett is knocked out it will be the second time he has suffered such a fate, Tony Chavez, Los Angeles puncher, turning the trick with a left hook to the stomach in the seventh round in Butte, Mont., Nov. 18, 1935.

Chavez Wins on Foul.

Armstrong has not lost a match since Chavez beat him on a foul in eight rounds in St. Louis Dec. 4, 1936. In a rematch in Los Angeles Jan. 19 of last year the champion sent Chavez spinning to the canvas for the full count in the tenth round. The supporting card:

Sammy Angott, Louisville, Ky., vs. Everett Simington, Poplar Bluff, Mo., [8], 137.

Ginger Foran, Liverpool, England, vs. Al Manriquez, Sioux City, Ia., [8], 130. Varias Milling, Chicago, vs. Lloyd Pine, Barberton, O., [6], 130. George Dixon II., colored lightweight champion, vs. Johnny Stevens, Cincinnati, O., [6], nontitle.

MOLESWORTH IS MADE ASSISTANT COACH AT NAVY

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—Keith Molesworth, former Monmouth, Ill., college star and quarter back of the Chicago Bears, today was appointed assistant back field coach of the United States Naval academy football team by Capt. E. W. McKee, athletic director.

Molesworth, who also will assist in coaching basketball and baseball, is now in Tampa, Fla., following an exhibition tour with the Bears. He will report here Saturday. He has been quarter back for the Bears for the last seven seasons, and also has played professional baseball with Syracuse and Baltimore of the International league.

Cubs Land at Island Camp and Situation's Well in Hand

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., Feb. 24.—The Cubs this afternoon opened their spring semester on Catalina Island after landing off the noon boat. The first order of business was a faculty meeting among Prexy P. K. Wrigley, Dean Charles Grimm, and Professors Gabby Hartnett, Tony Lazzeri, and Roy Johnson.

The first class of the term will start at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, when fifteen signed players, including tender rookies and a few wild veteran pitchers, will assemble on the practice field, which is in just dandy shape for lectures and laboratory work.

Island Is Calm This Year.

There is no landslide on the island, as there was last year, and instead of going to work by boat as they did a year ago the players may travel on land to the practice field via the bathhouse. Nevertheless, Dean Grimm stood by his earlier pronouncement that all pupils during the spring term shall arise at 7:30 o'clock. This, of course, is startlingly early for everybody but the dean.

Dr. Grimm for years has crawled out of bed before 6 to go down and watch Chicken Johnny, the island leghorn fancier, feed his thousands of hens and hundreds of roosters. This year Charley will get back to the hotel just in time to see the lads answer the first breakfast call.

Dr. Grimm also confirmed rumors that there is to be an 11:30 o'clock curfew each night. This is not so startling or arduous as the 7:30 a. m. business.

Prof. Hartnett Is a Shark.

There is to be no heavy stake pastiming, which is rather tough for Prof. Hartnett, who is said to have dug up two new lambs on the trip out here. Gabby charged the tiny tots $77.80 for the lessons he gave in cumulative rhummy while en route.

The Cub party as it finally was assembled at the dock on the mainland included Pitchers Clay Bryant, Roy Parmelee, and Clyde Shoun, who are with the rookies because they are wild and it is figured the extra week of work will calm them.

Another player present who doesn't scale as a rookie is Carl Reynolds, former White Sox, who has a golden chance to make the outfield. He wasn't in good physical shape when the Cubs bought him late last season, so he's to have the extra week of work before the regulars arrive a week hence.

Herman Stays on Mainland

Bill Herman, who had sought to be a professor in the Cub rookie school, met the squad at the station, but was advised that he could continue to do his teaching in the Los Angeles Angels' rookie kindergarten, where he has been holding the chair of slugging and hitting to right field behind the runner.

Among those who will start the course tomorrow besides those already listed are Pitchers Al Epperly and Newel Kimball, who have been around Wrigley field before; Catchers Ken O'Dea and Bob Garbark, Infielder Steve Mesner, who failed to make the grade with the White Sox last year; Bob York and Bob Mattick, also infielders. Two outfield candidates present are Jim Asbell, late of the Giants' Jersey City farm, and H. Coaker Triplett, purchased from Memphis.

Dr. Lotshaw Balks.

The sea passage was a calm one, a fact which ingenious photographers sought to ignore by asking Dr. Andy Lotshaw, club trainer, to administer pills to lads making off like they were mal de mer victims. Dr. Lotshaw, usually a pal of photographers and others asking favors, refused to pose on the ground that he was not going to give Mr. Wrigley's boat or its supporting Pacific a bum rap.

The landing was attended by the most elaborate ceremonies ever put on for the Cubs in the many years the team has been coming here.

The schools were dismissed and business houses were closed.

Virtually the entire population of Catalina Island, led by owner P. K. Wrigley and a detachment of cowboys and girls, were at the dock and later formed the escort of a stagecoach trek through the streets of Avalon and along the ocean drive to the St. Catherine hotel.

Wrigley recognized the welcome as a special event by saddling one of his favorite Arabian chargers with his famous $10,000 silver saddle, which rarely is put into utilitarian service. The Chicagoan was dressed in resplendent cowboy regalia, including spurs and other trappings harmonizing with the $10,000 harness.

THOMAS SIGNS WITH LOUIS FOR STADIUM BATTLE

New York, Feb. 24.—[Special.]—Joe Louis left New York tonight for Chicago to prepare for another defense of his title after attending a testimonial dinner to James J. Braddock in Union City, N. J.

Louis' next battle will be in the Chicago stadium on the night of April 1, when he will risk his heavyweight title against Harry Thomas, Eagle Bend, Minn., heavyweight. The contest will be for fifteen rounds, or less, arranged principally as another tuneup for the proposed championship bout in which Louis is to meet Max Schmeling, former title holder, in June at a place and on a date as yet undetermined.

Julian Black, one of Louis' managers, who accompanied the champion west, said Joe plans to keep right on fighting himself into condition for Schmeling. After the Thomas match a bout is planned for Louis in Detroit the last week in April against the winner of the Buddy Baer-Gunnar Barlund heavyweight fight in Madison Square Garden on March 4.

To Fight Again in September.

Furthermore Louis intends, if he retains his title against Schmeling, to defend it against the foremost challenger in September. Louis, regardless of how long he remains champion, will establish a precedent of competitive activity unparalleled in ring history for heavyweight title holders.

He won the title last June from Braddock. He defended it in September against Tommy Farr and last night against Nathan Mann. He is under contract for his third defense and is facing a fourth all within the space of ten months.

Contracts for the Thomas match were signed today in the office of Mike Jacobs, promoter of the Twentieth Century Sporting club, following telephonic communication with Chicago interests, which approved the match. Jacobs, disqualified through nonresidence as a promoter under the Illinois boxing law, has an agreement with James D. Norris, secretary-treasurer of the Chicago Stadium corporation, who will promote the show under his Illinois license, to assist in the promotion.

Joe to Get 40 Per Cent.

Louis is to collect 40 per cent of the receipts. Thomas will receive 12½ per cent. This percentage basis is similar to that for the bout in which Louis knocked out Nathan Mann last night. The champion has had eighteen fights in Chicago, where he never has been beaten.

In signing for the April 1 engagement, Promoter Jacobs forced Manager Nate Lewis to follow the procedure taken by Mann. Lewis signed an agreement obligating Thomas to defend the title against Louis within thirty days if he should conquer Joe, and accepted another contract which will compel Thomas to fight Schmeling for the title in June, should he twice defeat Louis.

$10 IS TOP PRICE

Ten dollars, including tax, has been set as the top price for tickets to the fifteen round championship bout between Joe Louis and Challenger Harry Thomas on April 1, Joe Triner, chairman of the Illinois boxing commission, said last night. Ringside tickets to the Louis-Mann title engagement in Madison Square Garden Wednesday sold for $16.50.

The Louis-Thomas encounter will be the first heavyweight title fight held indoors in Chicago.

Motion pictures of Joe Louis' three round knockout victory over Nathan Mann in their heavyweight championship battle at New York Wednesday night will be shown in the Garrick theater today.

This is his version of the round: "Benny couldn't hit a lick. I knew I had seen his face before. It was in a news reel in Texas. He missed the ball altogether. Benny is not a bad golfer. He is terrible. When he took several swipes at the ball on the third tee and missed it, he blew his topper, said something in Italian and quit. I was scorched. It was an international incident. I never played with Benny after that." . . . The tallest Cub infielder is Stanley Hack, who is 5 feet 11¾ inches. . . . The shortest is Rip Collins, 5 feet 9. . . . FIFTH TOURNEY TEAM PICKED ON SOUTH SIDE

Champions Move On Stadium Monday.

Fly to Chicago

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—Fort Wayne's Golden Gloves fighters will be up in the air before they enter the ring for the Tournament of Champions in Chicago. Arrangements have been made to transport the Journal-Gazette team and its handlers to Chicago and back by airplane. Reservations have been made for a party of eleven on the TWA plane leaving Fort Wayne Sunday at 12:30 p. m. and arriving at Chicago airport at 1:40 p. m.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Chicago's amateur boxers are ready to move into the first line trenches of the Tribune's Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions in Chicago Stadium starting Monday night.

The man power of the home forces was made complete in White City arena last night when places on the south side sectional team were the prizes to the winners of sixteen championship battles—eight in the open division and eight in the novice class.

The south side tournament was the largest in Chicago. It required six nights of vigorous punching and boxing to trim the big field down to the championship round.

Rough and Ready South Siders.

The rough and ready south side champions who can hardly wait for the Tournament of Champions to be put into motion are:

OPEN DIVISION.

112 pounds—Berlin Hadnott, C. Y. O.
118 pounds—Robert Wiley, Coulon's gymnasium.
126 pounds—Stanley Stockins, 124th Field Artillery.
135 pounds—William Goldsmith, C. Y. O.
147 pounds—Louis Angelucci, 124th Field Artillery.
160 pounds—Clifton Coleman, Savoy A. C.
175 pounds—Orlando Trotter, Savoy A. C.
Heavyweight—Robert Porter, Savoy A. C.

NOVICE DIVISION.

112 pounds—David Hall, South Side Boys' club.
118 pounds—Thomas Mair, 124th Field Artillery.
126 pounds—Michael Sanchez, C. Y. O.
135 pounds—Douglas Coley, C. Y. O.
147 pounds—Roscoe Bronaugh, Savoy A. C.
160 pounds—Hubert Hood, C. Y. O.
Heavyweight—Jack Lebovitz, Coulon's gym.

The fighting in White City gave Chicago five up and coming sectional teams to send into the warfare in which champions battle champions. The Catholic Youth Organization picked the members of its team several weeks ago. West side, north side, northwest side, and south side teams were determined after two and one-half weeks of neighborhood battling.

Pick Fiftieth Team Tonight.

Selection last night of the south side team and those which will represent the Cincinnati Post and the Streator Times-Press brought the total number of Tournament of Champions teams to forty-nine. The fiftieth team will be completed in Eau Claire, Wis., tonight.

South side open division fighters were evenly matched. Five bouts went the limit before Orlando Trotter came along to knock out Adell Collier in the second round of the fight for the light heavyweight crown.

Trotter, who is a protégé of Joe Louis and managed by Joe's brother-in-law, floored Collier twice for counts of nine before the latter's seconds tossed the towel into the ring.

Bill Goldsmith, generally rated as one of the south section's best amateurs, had to turn in one of his most finished fights to get the decision over Wendell White, lightweight from the Savoy A. C. Goldsmith represented the C. Y. O.

Louis Angelucci of the 124th Field artillery, who was a member of the last United States Olympic team, captured the 147 pound crown, but had to score two victories. He knocked

Just go to the Tribune Public Service Office. 1 South Dearborn Street, between 9 a. m. and 9:30 p. m. or the Tribune Tower lobby between 9 a. m. and 6 p. m. and pick up your tickets to the Tournament of Champions Feb. 28, March 1 and 2, and the finals March 11. Both will be held in Chicago Stadium.

FINALS

$3.30, $2.20, $1.65, $1.10, and 55 cents

GRAND RAPIDS' TEAM IS HEADED BY FIGHTING COP

He'll Get an Argument in Stadium.

This cop is looking for a fight and the astonishing thing about it is that if anybody beats him up, there will be no resultant ride in the wagon.

As its prize heavyweight the Grand Rapids Press is sending to THE TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions Donald Van, a husky 195 pound policeman in the General Motors Yellow Truck plant at Pontiac.

And Donald is no tenderfoot. He's been boxing five years and was on the Michigan team last year. In the Tournament of Champions he lost the decision to Champion Paul Hartnek—and the total of judges' points in that bout stood, Hartnek 176, Van 175. The policeman has boxed steadily all year both in his official capacity and as a pastime. He defeated Dino Tempest of Detroit, probably the best heavyweight there, to become a member of the Michigan team being sent by the Grand Rapids Press.

Grand Rapids claims it is not exaggerating when it says that never before has it sent such a promising team to the Tournament of Champions.

Another Joe Louis.

In the light heavyweight class Grand Rapids claims to have a second Joe Louis in Emanuel Newsome of Benton Harbor. He is the best boxer on the team, thoroughly experienced, hits hard and is as agile as a mongoose. His record is studded with knockout victories and Michigan's wisest boxing men say he is going to be the sensation of the Tournament of Champions.

Harvey Totzke of Benton Harbor is the middleweight colorbearer. Harvey earned the trip to Chicago by scoring nine successive knockouts. He went through the Benton Harbor News-Palladium subtournament by one round knockouts and then went to Grand Rapids against the state's best and pushed his total to nine. Harvey is a laborer.

Mike Kenjalo of Pontiac is the welterweight champion. This will be Mike's third try in the Tournament of Champions. In 1935 he won the 135 pound title in Green Bay and then went to the semi-finals in Chicago, losing to Billy Burke of Cleveland. In 1936 he won the welter title in Green Bay and went to the semi-finals in Chicago, where he lost to Pete Lello of Gary.

A Promising Lightweight.

Manfred Driscoll is the lightweight and probably the fastest Michigan has ever sent to Chicago's big meet. He's a Negro lad and combines the speed of Jesse Owens with the punch of Joe Louis and does it gracefully. He breezed through the Ann Arbor News tournament and The Press finals by sheer speed. Driscoll, according to Patsy Urso who is trainer for the Briggs Body team of Detroit, is tops in every way. Patsy thinks he is bound to win the championship.

A southpaw who can hit with both hands is Bill Eddy of Flint, the Grand Rapids 126 pound champion. He works in the Buick plant in Flint and has been boxing five years. He has won industrial tournaments and is thoroughly experienced.

Other members of the Grand Rapids team are Gerald Sutter of Bay City, bantamweight, and Carl Savaggio, Kalamazoo flyweight. Sutter is an excellent rugged fighter. Savaggio, who works in a bakery in Kalamazoo, has been boxing several years.

ST. ELIZABETH WINS, 30 TO 27, IN C. Y. O. TOURNEY

St. Elizabeth, last year's heavyweight champions, defeated St. Michael [48th] last night in St. Bernard's gymnasium in the opening round of the intersectional matches of the C. Y. O. basketball tournament. The score was 30 to 27.

MINNESOTA WINS FROM MICHIGAN IN HOCKY, 4 TO 3

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—Minnesota's hocky team tonight defeated Michigan, 4 to 3. The triumph assured the Gophers of no less than a split in the season's four game series, which will be concluded here Saturday night.

Michigan took a two goal lead early in the third period to break a 1 to 1 tie which stood after the second period, but Minnesota's first line combination came back with three goals to gain the winning margin.

Gomez Admits to Wife He's Well Known Pitcher

New York, Feb. 24.—[Special.]—A blanket denial of the charges made by Mrs. June O'Dea Gomez in her suit for separation was entered by Vernon Gomez, New York Yankee pitcher, in an answer filed by his attorney, Lowell M. Birrell, with Supreme Court Justice Aaron J. Levy today. The only things Gomez was willing to admit were that he was in Hollywood, Fla., at a time mentioned by the former musical comedy star, and that he is a "well known pitcher."

COMPLETE PLANS FOR PLAYOFFS IN AMATEUR HOCKY

Plans for the amateur hocky playoffs of the Chicago district were completed yesterday by Donnie McFayden, president of the Chicago Arena league. Two games, Sunday afternoon and a week from Sunday, will conclude the regular 12 game season, with the playoffs March 13 and 20.

Rival managers checked the eligibility of players from each of the four clubs in the circuit. It was decided that no new players could be signed and that each club would be limited to 20 players.

NOTRE DAME FIVE INVADES GARDEN TO MEET N. Y. U.

Irish Probably Will Add to Easterners' Misery.

New York, Feb. 24.—[Special.]—Notre Dame's veteran basketball team, heavily armed with seniors, arrived this morning, eager for its annual intersectional game with New York university in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. Notre Dame worked out at the West Side Y. M. C. A. today, and planned to hold a brief shooting drill on the Garden court tomorrow morning.

N. Y. U. has had little luck with out of town opposition this year. North Carolina, Richmond, Minnesota, Villanova and Temple whipped Howard Cann's unit, and to those defeats Notre Dame is expected to add the finishing touches. The Irish appear to possess too much talent and speed to be stopped by N. Y. U.'s erratic quintet.

THE RULES

WHO CAN ENTER? This game is open to everybody—men, women, boys, and girls everywhere — except employes of the Chicago Tribune and members of their families.

WHAT TO DO? Every week day a picture containing the scrambled name of a movie star will be published until 36 have appeared. Unscramble the name. Use every letter in the picture. Write or print the name on the picture or a facsimile. Hold all pictures until you have the complete set of 36. DO NOT SEND THEM IN SEPARATELY.

WHERE TO SEND? Mail your entry by First Class Mail to "Movie Stars," Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 1718, Chicago, Illinois. With your entry send a letter, giving your name and address and telling in 50 words or less, who is your favorite movie star and why. Letters will be considered only in the event of ties in naming the stars. Entries must be in the office of the Chicago Tribune by midnight, one week after Name No. 36 has appeared.

BASIS OF AWARDS. Entries will be judged by a committee appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Entrants agree that the judges' decisions will be final. Awards will be paid to the persons who send in the nearest correctly solved, complete sets of unscrambled names. Neither handwriting nor elaborateness will count. In case of ties, duplicate awards will be paid. In fairness to all, the Tribune cannot engage in any correspondence or discussions on this contest.

WINGS TIED, 2-2, BY MAROONS, BUT GAIN ON HAWKS

Montreal Knots Score in Last 3 Minutes.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Montreal's Maroons came from behind twice tonight to gain an overtime 2 to 2 tie with the Detroit Red Wings in a National Hocky league game before 7,761. It was the tail-end teams' third deadlock of the season in five games.

Detroit, fighting to overtake Chicago's Blackhawks in the league's American division and win a playoff berth, shot into the lead on Herbie Lewis' goal at 5:13 of the first period. Paul Runge tied the count a little more than six minutes later.

Six penalties slowed up the scoreless second period, but Ron Hudson put the Wings back in the lead in the third. Montreal rushes gained a tie three minutes before the end of the regulation time on Trottier's goal after a pass from Gus Marker.

The victory enabled the Wings to gain a point on the Chicago Blackhawks, who lost to the New York Rangers. Lineup:

KILLIAN GETS 44 POINTS AS WELLS DEFEATS MEDILL

Casimir Killian, Wells forward, established a season basketball scoring record in the Chicago Public High School league yesterday when he collected 44 points as Wells defeated Medill's senior quintet, 54 to 22, in a west section game in the Wells gymnasium.

Killian made 18 field goals and eight free throws. The previous record was 39 points, set by Harry Wroblewski of Foreman against Medill on Feb. 10.

Wrobel Makes 38 Points.

Another individual performance featured the west division junior play. Charles Wrobel, Washburne guard, scored 38 points on 17 baskets and four free throws, to lead his team to victory over Tuley, 56 to 32. Washburne led at the end of the first half, 24 to 19.

Four more teams, Marshall and Von Steuben seniors, and Crane Tech. and Hirsch junior quintets clinched places in the title playoffs. Marshall defeated McKinley, 42 to 17; Von Steuben triumphed over Senn, 40 to 27; Crane Tech won from Austin, 32 to 22, and Hirsch defeated Morgan Park, 34 to 24.

Hirsch Seniors Beaten.

Marshall's junior team went into a tie with Wells by defeating McKinley, 48 to 26. Marshall and Wells have won six victories and suffered two defeats. A playoff will decide which team will compete in the quarterfinals. Hirsch's senior squad had an opportunity to tie Hyde Park for the south section title, but lost to Morgan Park, 42 to 29.

Maroons Face Iowa Tonight in Track Meet

Iowa's indoor track team, undefeated in dual meets since 1932, will attempt to maintain its record this evening in the Midway fieldhouse, when it meets an improved University of Chicago squad.

Keen competition is expected, as both teams are strong in the same events, particularly in the quarter and half mile runs and the high hurdles. Capt. George Halcrow of Chicago, holder of the conference outdoor quarter mile record, will be opposed by Fred Teufel in the 440 yard dash. Teufel finished fourth in the indoor conference quarter mile race last year. Halcrow followed him.

The mile relay race, featuring these two speedy anchor men, should be a spirited race. Both negotiate the indoor 440 in about :50. Last year Iowa won eight of its eleven relay races and all men who ran on the team are back. Chicago's mile relay combination is undefeated this season. It has been timed in 3:23.8.

Co-Capt. Bush Lamb of the Hawkeyes is one of the best hurdlers in the conference. His best time indoors for the 70 yard high timbers is :08.8. Matthew Kobak, Maroon hurdler and broad jumper, may be able to press him in this race. Iowa has another clever high hurdler in John Collinge, a Chicago sophomore. Collinge beat Co-Capt. Lamb in Iowa's recent dual meet with Minnesota.

Panama Captures Central America Games; Mexico 2d

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Feb. 24.—(AP)—The fourth Central America "Olympic" games ended today, with Panama winning the athletic title with 106 points, trailed by Mexico with 94 and Cuba with 56. The Panamans won the men's championships in horsemanship, wrestling, and weight lifting and the women's titles in fencing and gymnastics. Mexico won men's titles in tennis, football, boxing, and fencing, and the women's championship in volleyball. Panama and Mexico tied in basketball.

INDIANS RELEASE WHITLOW WYATT TO MILWAUKEE

Cleveland, O., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Whitlow Wyatt, right hand relief pitcher of the Cleveland Indians, was released tonight to the Milwaukee Brewers of the American association as part payment for Kenneth Keltner, rookie third baseman, Secretary Frank Kohlbecke announced.

Wyatt, obtained from Kansas City through the draft a year ago, appeared in twenty-nine games last summer and was credited with two victories and three defeats.

THE WILKEN FAMILY
BLENDED WHISKEY—IT'S OUR FAMILY'S WHISKEY, NEIGHBOR!

You'd be real surprised at how much extra tastiness us distillers can put into our whiskey by knowing all the little tricks of sorting out the particular kind of grain that's exactly suited for good whiskey making.

That's where our family is so lucky. There never was a distiller that had the hang of it like Grandpa Wilken—and it was off him that the rest of our family learned all the ins and outs of sizing up grain—and of picking out just the kind with the makings of real tastiness in it. In making our personal recipe we don't bother with any other kind of grain at all. And that's got a lot to do with the special tastiness Our Family's Whiskey has got!

Harry E. Wilken

COCKER SPANIEL PUPPIES, 100 OF THEM, IN SHOW

Exhibition to Open a Busy Season.

BY BOB BECKER.

More than 100 cocker spaniel puppies will compete for ribbons tomorrow night when the Cocker Spaniel Club of the Middle West holds its fifth sanctioned puppy match in the exhibition hall of the Sherman hotel. J. A. Blow, cocker spaniel breeder, will act as judge.

The exhibition is open to the public. There will be four classes for the puppies, based on age, with males and females entered individually in each of the four classes. An entry fee of fifty cents will be charged per class for each puppy entered.

Another Show Wednesday.

Another puppy match is scheduled for next Wednesday night. This event will be sponsored by the Midwest Puppy Match association and will be for all breeds. It also will be held in the exhibition hall of the Sherman hotel.

Dr. A. C. Gifford, Oshkosh, Wis., will judge the sporting and hound group; Barry Coffey, Lake Forest, the terriers; and A. W. Brockaway, Chicago, the best in show, nonsporting, toys, and working dogs.

With the International Kennel Club of Chicago holding its show April 2 and 3 and the newly organized Midwest-Dixie Dog club scheduling its first show for April 4 at Hammond, Ind., interesting times are in prospect for middle western breeders and owners.

For Toy Breed Partisans.

The Midwest-Dixie club is made up of fanciers interested in the toy breeds. The membership is national in scope. Each toy breed has its representative on the board of directors, the club has received its charter and is getting ready for its first licensed show, which will be held in the Masonic temple in Hammond. Owners or breeders of toy dogs who wish further information are advised to write Bonnie Smith, secretary, 1509 East 76th place, Chicago.

Every dog lover should have "The Dog Book" by Bob Becker—96 pages, 72 illustrations. On Sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn Street and Tribune Tower. Price, 25c; by postpaid mail, 30c.

DAWSON GETS EVEN; DEFEATS SKEETERS, 5 AND 4

Houston, Tex., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—Johnny Dawson, Chicago veteran, today avenged a 1936 defeat by Bill Skeeters of Dallas by eliminating the latter, 5 and 4, in a first round match of the Houston invitational golf tournament. Dawson was five under par for the fourteen holes he played. Gus Novotny, also of Chicago, won his opening match from Milton Ward of Corpus Christi, 2 up.

Other headliners in the strong field also advanced. Johnny Goodman, national amateur champion from Omaha, defeated Bobby Riegel of Beaumont, 5 and 3, by doing the first nine in two under par. Ed White of Houston, tournament medalist and former intercollegiate title holder, defeated M. C. Kelley of Baytown, Tex., 4 and 3.

MAINE TOWNSHIP SWIMMERS FACE A STRONG THREAT

Maine Township High school of Des Plaines is preparing for a mighty challenge to its domination of Illinois prep swimming honors at New Trier High school in Winnetka today and tomorrow, when entries from nineteen schools will compete in the seventh annual state meet.

Chief downstate opposition was expected from Peoria Central, which splashed to a decisive victory last week in the Big Twelve meet by placing first in seven of eight events. Maine Township has won all but one of the six meets held, Rockford taking the other in 1933.

Entries for the event include Danville, Streator, Peoria Central, Rockford, Waukegan, Argo, Evanston, Highland Park, Oak Park, La Salle, Maine Township [Des Plaines], Thornton [Harvey], New Trier Township [Winnetka], Calumet City, and five Chicago schools—Crane, Lane, Schurz, Senn, and Sullivan.

SEABISCUIT NOT FOR SALE, OWNER TELLS BRADLEY

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—Seabiscuit, favorite to win the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap on March 5, is not for sale at any price, Owner Charles Howard said today in rejecting a $100,000 offer made by Col. E. R. Bradley of Kentucky. Howard pointed out that the horse had made his rise to fame in California, and that he intends to keep him in this state, both as a racer and as a sire. Bradley's offer aimed at buying the horse after the big race.

Northwestern Fencers to Meet Illinois Tonight

Northwestern's fencing team will seek its second straight Big Ten victory when it faces Illinois in Patten gymnasium tonight. The Wildcats defeated Ohio State last week. They will depend on Capt. Tully Friedman tonight. He won three foils events against the Buckeyes.

PATTY BERG GOES TO SEMI-FINALS OF GOLF TOURNEY

Ormond Beach, Fla., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—Patty Berg of Minneapolis will meet Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., in one of the semi-finals of the South Atlantic women's golf tournament tomorrow. The other semi-final match will bring together the defending title holder, Kathryn Hemphill of Columbia, S. C., and Mrs. William Hockenjos of Lake Hopatcong, N. J.

Miss Berg, the medalist, won her quarter-final match from Sally Guth of Webster Grove, Mo., 6 and 4, while Miss Miley was eliminating Jean Bauer of Providence, R. I., 5 and 4. Mrs. Hockenjos won a 1 up argument with Mrs. Jane Cothran Jameson of Palm Beach, Fla. Miss Hemphill defeated Dorothy Traung of San Francisco, 3 and 2.

Luque Won't Coach Giant Pitchers This Season

Hot Springs, Ark., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—Adolfo Luque, Cuban veteran who has served the New York Giants as pitching coach for the last few seasons, will not be with the National league champions when they open their 1938 campaign. Manager Bill Terry today received a wire from Luque stating that he does not intend to report. Terry said he will hire Tom Clark, former Cincinnati catcher and coach of the Giants, to take Luque's place.

HEARING ON RAIL LONG HAUL BILL TO BE EXPEDITED

Sen. Wheeler Seeks Vote at This Session.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 24.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], chairman of the interstate commerce committee, today demanded expeditious hearings of the Pettengill long and short haul bill in order that both his committee and the senate may have an opportunity to vote on the measure at this session of congress.

The Pettengill bill, which passed the house by an overwhelming majority last session, is of great importance to the railroads and industry generally in the interior of the country. It repeals the section of the interstate commerce commission act which prohibits railroads from charging less for a long haul than the aggregate charge for intermediate short hauls. It would permit the railroads to offer special through rates. Because they cannot do this under existing law, shippers in the interior part of the country cannot compete with seaboard industries using coastal water transportation.

Refuses Long Hearing.

Senator Wheeler made his demand for speedy hearings when J. B. Campbell, a former member of the interstate commerce commission and representative of the opposition, said he would require at least two months to present his witnesses. Wheeler told him he would have to cut down his testimony and permit an early termination of the hearings.

Wheeler made it apparent that he will not seek to block action on the bill at this session, as he has done on two previous occasions when the measure was passed by the house. It is conceded that the bill will pass the senate when the interstate commerce committee reports it. The only question is whether President Roosevelt will veto it and whether a possible veto could be over ridden.

Rail Counsel's Argument.

"The measure will enable the carriers to meet the competition of other modes of transportation, protect and expand the market of shippers, and increase the volume of railroad trafic by abolishing a purely artificial rule for rate determination based on geographic locations," he testified.

"The provisions of this measure will not cause undue and unreasonable discriminations, but should certain localities or agricultural groups conclude that such discrimination did exist, the commission will still be clothed with ample and clearly defined power to correct any condition that it may find objectionable. They burden of proof as to the reasonableness of rates will still be upon the railroads.

"This is a bill intended to give the railroads that equality of opportunity, that freedom to meet competition about which we have heard and read so much lately. Backed as it is by shippers, railway employés, and all railroads, it merits action comparable to that taken by the house of representatives last April."

Yellow Truck and Coach Mfg.

Investors' Guide: Please send me a report on Yellow Truck, as I am considering buying some of the stock. —L. B.

Answer: The Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing company is an important manufacturer of light and heavy trucks, taxicabs, buses, and trailers of various types. A subsidiary, the Hertz Drivurself corporation, rents and leases all types of automobiles and trucks. Another subsidiary, the Yellow Manufacturing Acceptance corporation, finances sales of the parent company.

Yellow Truck is controled by General Motors corporation through ownership of all its common stock, more than 70 per cent of its 7 per cent preferred, and a substantial block of class B shares.

Sales of the company started to rise sharply in 1935 and continued to expand throughout 1937. Part of the increased output was attributed to larger demand for low priced trucks. Net income reached an all time high in 1936, but earnings in 1937 were reduced by higher operating costs.

After falling below corresponding 1936 periods in every preceding 1937 quarter, indicated net income for the final three months slumped to $696,930 from $1,300,287 in the 1936 December quarter. Earnings in recent fiscal years follow:

1936	50,426,329	5,089,024	1.36
1935	35,856,799	503,000	*3.36
1934	28,249,839	†886,468	†0.92
1933	19,668,171	†982,348	†0.97
1932	16,437,874	†3,787,051	†2.30
1929	49,908,177	1,177,790	†0.06

*On preferred. †Deficit.

Giving effect to changes in capital structure approved in late 1936, capitalization now consists of 143,980 shares of 7 per cent $100 par cumulative preferred, 2,200,000 shares of $1 par class B stock, and 800,000 shares $1 par common.

In addition to making regular payments of $7 a share, the company paid $14 on account of preferred accumulations during 1937, leaving arrears of $14 a share as of Jan. 3, 1938.

There are arrears of $1.12½ a share on the class B stock. When this is paid, the common is entitled to receive dividends of $2.25 a share before anything more can be paid on the class B shares. After these payments are made, both issues will share equally in future dividends. They have equal voting power.

BANKS SETTLE INSULL SUITS; PAY $4,635,088

Court Sanction Ends Creditor Actions.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday approved a settlement by which Chicago and New York banks paid a total of $4,635,088 to the trustees of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and the Corporation Securities Company of Chicago, two huge investment trusts which Samuel Insull set up in the palmy days of big utility deals to perpetuate the interests of himself and his family in his utility holdings.

Harry A. Bigelow is trustee in bankruptcy for Insull Utility Investments, once known as a $250,000,000 investment trust, and Sam Howard is trustee of Corporation Securities, once a $150,000,000 investment trust.

Loan Collateral Involved.

The settlement ends lawsuits through which creditors of the two investment trusts sought to recover collateral held by the banks for loans made to the two Insull companies. The creditors in suits originally filed in October, 1932, sought to recover approximately $15,000,000 in collateral from five Chicago banks and $16,000,000 from six New York banks.

Yesterday's settlement writes the finish to another chapter in the involved Insull financing. All that remains to be done before payment is made to the creditors is to determine the fees to be paid by the trustees to lawyers who participated in the case.

The settlement was the climax of long and bitter legal battles between the banks and the creditors of the two companies who sought to recover the collateral on the ground that it had been pledged improperly in violation of agreements.

Forty Lawyers in Parley.

Some forty lawyers and officials of leading Chicago and New York banks spent all morning composing minor differences in the directors' room on the 23d floor of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company building. At the conclusion of the session they sent a committee to get the approval of Judge Wilkerson for their action.

Members of the committee were Julius Moses, Chicago, representing the Corporation Securities debenture holders' committee and Trustee Howard; Lewis F. Jacobson, representing debenture holders of Insull Utility Investments; Orrin G. Judd, representing the Irving Trust company and other Ne wYork banks, and A. W. Froehde, representing the noteholders' committee of Corporation Securities and also Trustee Howard.

Checks Given to Bigelow.

Under the Insull Utility settlement checks were given to Bigelow as follows: Continental Illinois, $1,468,388.43; the First National bank of Chicago, $396,230.37; Central Republic Trust company [Charles H. Albers, receiver], $221,389.84; the Northern Trust company, $71,327.01; the Harris Trust and Savings bank, $50,771.25; Guaranty Trust company, $418,132.80; Irving Trust company, $354,497.67; Central Hanover Bank and Trust company, $316,847.32; Commercial National Bank and Trust company, $705,411. and the Bankers' Trust company, $31,092.38. The total paid on this account was $3,435,088.07.

Settlement checks made to Sam Howard, trustee for Corporation Securities, were as follows: Continental Illinois, $358,867.41; the First National Bank of Chicago, $273,420; the Guaranty Trust company, $51,971; Central Hanover, $463,759.73, and the Chase National, $51,980, a total of $1,200,000.

Banks Retain Securities.

By the settlement the banks are permitted to retain the collateral pledged for the loans, which included stock of the Commonwealth Edison company, Peoples Gas, Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, and shares of other underlying companies in the former Insull utility empire, All bank and other claims, excepting noteholder and debenture holder claims against the two investment trusts, are withdrawn.

The settlement was approved by committees representing substantial amounts of the $57,651,000 of debentures of Insull Utility and of $19,331,000 of notes of Corporation Securities.

What Holders Will Get.

On the basis of the settlement it is estimated that debenture holders of Insull Utility will receive approximately $62.40 per $1,000 face value of the bonds and noteholders of Corporation Securities will receive an estimated $61.50 per $1,000 face amount.

The lawyers are expected to present their claims for fees and expenses within sixty days. It is expected that about $500,000 will be deducted from the amount paid to the trustee of Insull Utility to meet the expenses of the trusteeship and that about $200,000 will be deducted from the amount paid under the Corporation Securities settlement.

The two Insull investment trusts were placed in receivership on April 16, 1932.

Inter Insurance Exchange Reports Gain in Business

The Inter Insurance exchange of the Chicago Motor club yesterday reported net premium insurance for 1937 of $2,472,407, an increase of $450,274 over the preceding year. The general loss ratio for the year was 40.38 per cent. To comply with the new Illinois insurance code the company added nearly a million dollars to statutory reserves from surplus, leaving the latter account at $1,031,705 at the year-end.

A $4,635,088 Insull Settlement

Father of Safe Banking Creed to Be Honored

BY HOWARD WOOD.

National bank examiners and receivers from cities throughout the Chicago district will toast the memory of Hugh McCulloch, first controler of the currency of the United States, at a dinner in the Edgewater Beach hotel this evening. The occasion will be the seventy-fifth anniversary of the establishment of the office of controler of the currency. The Chicago meeting is one of a series being held simultaneously in each of the eleven districts.

Henry F. Quinn, assistant to Nugent R. Oberwortmann, chief national bank examiner for the Chicago district, who has charge of arrangements, will recall to his associates the words and philosophy of McCulloch, still regarded by the profession as the great exponent of sound banking.

His Rules Laid Down in 1863.

McCulloch, who served in the administration of Abraham Lincoln, in 1863 laid down certain fundamentals of banking practice which ever since have been looked upon as a sort of "ten commandments" among conservative bankers.

"Distribute your loans rather than concentrate them in a few hands," wrote McCulloch in 1863. "Large loans to a single individual or firm, although sometimes proper and necessary, are generally injudicious and frequently unsafe. Large borrowers are apt to control the bank, and when this is the relation between the bank and its customers it is not difficult to decide which in the end will suffer.

"Every dollar that a bank loans above its capital and surplus it owes for, and its managers are therefore under the strongest obligations to its creditors, as well as to its stockholders, to keep its discounts constantly under its control."

Uncle Sam Now Big Borrower.

Commercial banks belonging to the federal reserve system in 101 principal cities currently have outstanding about 21 billion dollars worth of loans and investments. Of this amount loans to the federal government account for about 8 billions. Banks are thus lending to a single borrower—the federal government—nearly two-fifths of their total employed funds.

"Treat your customers liberally," wrote McCulloch, "bearing in mind the fact that a bank prospers as its customers prosper, but never permit them to dictate your policy.

"Pay your officers such salaries as will enable them to live comfortably and respectably without stealing and require of them their entire services. If an officer lives beyond his income dismiss him, even if his excess of expenditures can be explained consistently with his integrity. Extravagance, if not a crime, very naturally leads to crime.

"Never Deal with a Rascal."

"If you have reason to distrust the integrity of a customer, close his account. Never deal with a rascal under the impression that you can prevent him from cheating you. The risk in such cases is greater than the profits.

"The capital of a bank should be a reality, not a fiction. It should be owned by those who have money to lend and not by borrowers.

"Pursue a straightforward, upright, legitimate banking business. Never be tempted by the prospect of large returns to do anything but what may be properly done under the national currency act. 'Splendid financiering' is not legitimate banking, and 'splendid financiers' are generally either humbugs or rascals."

U. S. Dollar Gains in Value Against Other Currencies

The American dollar gained in value in relation to foreign currencies yesterday. The British pound declined 1-16 cent to $5.01⅝ and the French franc slipped 0.00625 cent to 3.25375 cents. The Dutch guilder and Swiss franc also closed moderately lower.

The Vanadium Alloys Steel company of Pittsburgh, Pa., has reduced the base price of high speed tool steel to 67 cents from 80 cents a pound.

CLARKE DROPS FRAUD CHARGE HEARING PLEA

Acts After Judge's Accusation Is Made.

Harley L. Clarke, deposed head of the 400 million dollar Utilities Power and Light corporation, yesterday withdrew his request for a hearing on charges of fraud made against him by Federal Judge William H. Holly in a memorandum made public Wednesday.

Roy D. Keehn, Clarke's attorney, appeared before Judge Holly yesterday morning to withdraw the request for the hearing. The request was made, Keehn said, in the hope that the question would be gone into before Judge Holly issued his memorandum.

Pending in Another Court.

"Because Judge Holly made public the memorandum there is no further reason for a hearing," Keehn said after his appearance in court. "The charge of fraud is now pending before Judge Wilkerson in another suit and will ultimately come up for a hearing there."

Jay Samuel Hartt of Madison, Wis., a consulting engineer, was appointed trustee of Utilities Power yesterday by Judge Holly. He succeeds Willoughby G. Walling, Chicago banker, who died Wednesday. Hartt had been engaged in work in connection with the reorganization by Walling before the latter's death.

Attorney Keehn said it is unlikely that Clarke will make a further statement concerning the fraud charges against him until the matter comes up before Judge Wilkerson. Clarke was in New York yesterday.

Lack of Good Faith Charged.

The Holly memorandum asserted that transactions between Utilities Power and the Webster Securities corporation, Clarke's personal holding company, were marked "by utter lack of good faith." He said "fraudulent" was a mild term to apply to them.

Judge Holly found that Clarke obtained $2,000,000 of Utilities Power funds with which to pay off his personal obligations at a New York bank. The same charge was made against Clarke in a suit brought by Attorney Dwight H. Green on behalf of Utilities Power.

How "Futures" Developed.

The "to arrive" grain contract, forerunner of the modern system of future trading, was not used generally until organization of the Chicago board of Trade in 1848. After the board's inception, however, the "to arrive" contract, which simply meant a contract in which the delivery date for the grain involved was set at some specified future time—five to sixty days from the contract date—gained favor rapidly.

It is easy to see how such a contract would prove a boon to the farmer, who often had started his grain on the long trip to the market at a time when the price was high, only to have it arrive there days later when a much lower price might be prevailing. With the new contract, the price at which the grain was sold often was determined before it ever left the farm.

The varying delivery dates of the "to arrive" contracts, plus the fact that such contracts might change hands many times during the course of regular trading, made for confusion in bookkeeping and fostered many a dispute, so that a set of rules governing such trading soon was set up by members of the board. These rules, among them one which substituted monthly delivery periods for the previous irregular dates, were—and are—the basis for future trading. They provide penalties for failure to deliver, make necessary adequate margin in transactions, and define in black and white the rights of both parties in a contract for future delivery.

Naturally, the new practice of trading in grain which still might be growing in the fields or stored in faraway elevators, was comparable to "buying a pig in a poke," as the old saying goes. Thus, it became necessary immediately to evolve a new system of grading grain according to carefully predetermined classifications in order to protect buyers.

The development of grain standardization will be discussed tomorrow.

U. S. COAL BOARD PAVES WAY FOR NEW PRICE RULE

Explains Why Rates Were Withdrawn.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—The National Bituminous Coal commission today began working toward the establishment of new minimum prices for soft coal before the prices it discarded yesterday become inoperative. The old prices by the commission's order of yesterday do not expire until midnight tomorrow.

As the preliminary moves looking toward the establishment of new prices were started Commissioner Percy Tetlow issued a statement setting forth the commission's reasons for revocation of the old price scale.

The statement found the entire commission in agreement for the first time since the Guffey coal act set them up as arbiters of a little NRA for the soft coal act. The commissioners dropped feuds which have split them into warring camps to acknowledge that court attacks on the methods by which it set the prices and the prices themselves had forced them to revoke the old price scales.

Public Hearings Planned.

The statement announced that the commission has decided to hold public hearings before it fixes new prices for fuel. The failure of the commission to hold hearings before promulgation of the old prices brought charges of czarism against the body and its members.

At the outset of his statement Tetlow said that for years the soft coal industry has been afflicted by grave economic problems, among which is the fact that production is in excess of demand. The Guffey act was passed to relieve distress to the industry and the commission set prices in accordance with the act. He denied that the commission had acted "arbitrarily or capriciously."

Court Attacks Cited.

"Since the establishment of minimum prices and marketing rules and regulations," he said, "legal attacks have been made with reference to the procedure followed by the commission in the performance of its duties. As a result of these attacks the courts in several instances have issued temporary orders, advantages in the buying of coal have been conferred upon certain railroads and other public utilities as well as upon numerous other large consumers of coal, discrimination has been dealt to those consumers of coal who have not taken court action, and the overwhelming majority of coal producers who are supporting this commission and the prices established by it are placed at a great disadvantage."

For this reason, he said, the commission decided to revoke its minimum prices effective as of Feb. 28 at 11:59 p. m. He did not explain that the commission wrangled for a week before reaching the decision.

Preliminary to setting dates for new hearings it was announced that all pending protests were canceled. All other pending hearings were continued indefinitely. The commission staf went to work arranging a schedule of hearings for the determination of the new price structure.

BANK CLEARINGS DIP 32 PER CENT BELOW YEAR AGO

New York, Feb. 24.—[Special.]—Bank clearings in 22 leading cities in the week ended yesterday aggregated $3,804,457,000, a decline of 23 per cent from clearings of the preceding week and 32 per cent from those of the corresponding week a year ago, Dun & Bradstreet reported today. A heavy shrinkage at New York was responsible for the combined loss.

The percentage decrease from the 1937 total was largest in more than three years and extended the year-to-year decline to fifteen consecutive weeks.

New York clearings dropped 39.2 per cent to $2,231,561,000. The turnover at the other cities shrank to $1,572,896,000, a decline of 18.2 per cent. Chicago clearings fell 22.2 per cent to $226,200,000.

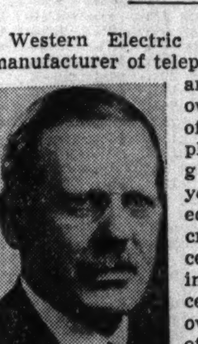
West. Electric Profit in 1937 Is $19,514,197

Western Electric Company, Inc., manufacturer of telephone equipment and a 99 per cent owned subsidiary of American Telephone and Telegraph company, yesterday reported for 1937 an increase of 4 per cent in net earnings and a 39 per cent gain in sales over 1936 in spite of a "substantial reversal in trend of business during the latter part of the year." The largest of the company's four plants is the Hawthorne works, Chicago.



E. S. Bloom reports pay roll up 61%.

Net earnings in 1937 amounted to $19,514,197, which were the highest since 1929 and compared with 1936 earnings of $18,698,049. Sales totaled $203,467,040 against $146,420,868 in 1936. Ninety-six per cent of 1937 sales were to members of the Bell system and subsidiary and associated companies.

Pay Rolls Up 61 Per Cent.

Edgar S. Bloom, president of the company, said in a statement to stockholders that pay rolls increased 61 per cent over 1936.

"Increases in pay granted to employés amounted to $8,500,000, which, together with the wages and salaries of a larger employé force, resulted in a pay roll for the year of $82,393,000, an increase of $31,228,000 over 1936," Bloom said.

"The number of employés increased from 34,004 on Jan. 1, to 43,548 on Dec. 31, and this number was about 5 per cent below the peak for the year.

Taxes Largest on Record.

Federal, state, and local taxes in 1937, Bloom said, were the greatest in the company's history, amounting to $6,181,000 or 24 per cent of earnings before tax deductions.

The return on investment for last year—the relation of earnings available for interest and dividends to gross assets less current liabilities—was 7.7 per cent, the same as for 1936, and four times the 1.9 per cent return in 1935.

Merchandise inventories on Dec. 31 amounted to $61,349,000, an increase of $14,382,000 over a year earlier.

MILWAUKEE ROAD PLANS $3,210,922 NEW EQUIPMENT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Trustees of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad outlined today to the interstate commerce commission a program for the purchase of $3,210,922 of equipment.

The railroad plans to buy four passenger locomotives from the American Locomotive company at a cost of $658,000 and to build 464 freight cars and fifty-five passenger cars in its own shops at a cost of $2,552,920.

The trustees asked the commission for authority to issue $2,235,000 of equipment trust certificates bearing 3¾ per cent interest to finance approximately 70 per cent of the cost. The certificates would mature in fifteen annual instalments of $149,000 commencing April 1, 1939.

New Speedster of Railroad Hits Horse—and at Gallup

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—The Santa Fe's El Capitan all coach streamlined speedster completed its first 39¾ hour run from Chicago this morning. The almost monotonous calm with which the Diesel powered train clicked off its fast schedule was broken by only one event—it struck a horse. The unfortunate animal ambled on the track near Gallup, N. M., late yesterday. Aside from a few who saw the horse thrown for a double somersault, passengers had no idea as to why the train stopped in open country. They felt no jar at the impact. The eight minutes lost were made up quickly.

CITIES SERVICE UTILITY FIRMS REGISTER UNDER HOLDING COMPANY ACT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 24.—(AP)—The principal utility companies in the Cities Service system, one of the major utilities systems in the country, registered today under the public utility holding company act of 1935.

Registrations were filed by the Cities Service Power and Light company of Jersey City and the Federal Light and Traction company of New York in behalf of themselves and sixty-six subsidiaries operating in eighteen states and Canada.

The Cities Service company, top holding company in the system, asked for exemption for itself on the ground that utilities are incidental to its principal business—oil.

Commission officials estimated that with the addition of the estimated $428,000,000 assets of the Cities Service utilities, approximately 44 per cent of the assets of utility companies subject to federal regulation have registered. The total value of assets now registered is $6,800,000,000.

UTILITIES APPEAL TO HIGH COURT IN BATTLE WITH TVA

Knoxville, Tenn., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Counsel for eighteen private utilities filed a petition for an appeal to the United States Supreme court from the decision of a three member federal court holding the operations of the Tennessee Valley authority constitutional in the District federal court today.

The petition for appeal said that the court which ruled on the suit at Chattanooga failed to give the complainants a "full and fair" trial, and refused to hold that the primary purpose of the authority's dams was the generation of electricity instead of flood control and promotion of navigation.

Meantime it was disclosed the Tennessee Public Service company is ready to negotiate with the city of Knoxville for the sale of the company's properties. City officials and representatives of the company will meet here Monday with officers of the TVA to open the negotiations.

STOCK EXCHANGE CHANGES ITS VOTING SYSTEM

New York, Feb. 24.—[Special.]—With passage today of a constitutional amendment changing voting procedure to require an affirmative ballot, the governing committee of the New York Stock exchange received the report of the committee named to draft a new constitution for the second time.

A special meeting of the governing committee has been called for March 3, when the new constitution will be adopted and submitted to the membership.

Under the amendment adopted today with only five dissenting votes of the 551 cast, a majority of the 1,375 members, or 688, must vote, and a majority of those voting must approve. The old system provided that an amendment to the constitution could go into effect provided a majority of the members did not vote against it.

Engineering Construction Awards Lower in Week

New York, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Engineering construction awards in the week ended Tuesday amounted to $40,161,000, compared with $45,001,000 the previous week, and $72,178,000 the corresponding week of 1937, the Engineering News-Record reported today. The comparative table showed:

FHA Program Called Snare to Home Buyer

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—One of the most speculative ventures ever attempted in this country is being loaded on the American people through the revamped Federal Housing administration legislation, George H. Patterson, secretary of the Mortgage Bankers' Association of America, declared today in an address to the Buffalo Mortgage Bankers' association. He added that general uncertainty over the future policies of the government has played a major rôle in keeping the building industry from recovering.

George H. Patterson.

Patterson predicted that the liberalized FHA, which permits 90 per cent insured mortgages, would prove a snare to the small home owner who would be lured into ventures he could not carry out.

Cites Insecurity of Jobs.

"Considerable new home construction will result from the amended FHA," Patterson said, "but it will most likely be among the lower income groups whose employment is most insecure today because of the general business uncertainty.

"Building has been the most conspicuous laggard in the recovery movement since 1933. High building materials and labor costs have been partly responsible, but general uncertainty over the future policies of the government also has played a major rôle.

"The new FHA act is so liberal that I fear thousands will be induced to undertake home ownership on a far too speculative basis. The act itself actually is one of the most speculative ventures ever undertaken.

Calls Easy Terms a Delusion.

"It provides home financing on extremely easy terms which may prove a delusion for many well meaning citizens who do not realize that down payments as small as 10 per cent make buying a home a hazardous venture.

"With such a slim margin of equity, with taxes rising and threatening to rise much higher, with the general trend toward higher prices, the disillusionment of many will be bitter indeed.

"The greatest spur to building would be an established clear cut policy in regard to private enterprise, one which would remove the fears that beset business generally today. New building then would rise of its own accord. The need is acute and the private capital is available on attractive terms."

Decline Reported in U. S. Bituminous Coal Output

The National Coal association estimated that Bituminous coal production in the United States in the week ended Feb. 19 was 6,500,000 net tons against 10,840,000 in the corresponding 1937 week and 9,862,000 in comparable week of 1936.

CHRYSLER OMITS DIVIDEND; NET PROFIT IS LOWER

CHRYSLER SHARES DIP

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Chrysler shares dropped $3 below the Wall Street closing in trading on the San Francisco exchange today as the result of omission of the quarterly dividend. The last sale here was at $54.50, or $3.75 under yesterday's closing price.

Directors of Chrysler corporation yesterday decided to omit a dividend on the common stock for this quarter. B. E. Hutchinson, chairman of the finance committee, said that 1937 net profit was equal to $11.66 a share, compared with $14.25 in 1936. Net income for the year ended Dec. 31, 1937, was $50,729,211, compared with $62,110,543 in 1936.

Indicated net profit for the last quarter was approximately $10,304,994, or $2.37 a common share, against $12,967,602, or $2.98 a share, in the third quarter.

Current Assets 35 Millions.

Current assets on Dec. 31, including $35,397,377 cash and $12,916,198 of marketable securities at cost, amounted to $112,729,012. Current liabilities totaled $38,674,195. Inventories were carried at $50,132,862, compared with $60,565,447 at the end of 1936.

A total of $10 a share was paid in dividends during 1937, and 1936 disbursements amounted to $12 a share. Dividends amounted to $2 a share in 1935, $1.25 in 1934, and $1 in 1933.

Hutchinson said that during the last two years dividend disbursements had amounted to $22 a share from earnings aggregating $25.91 a share. Dividends were approximately 85 per cent of the net earnings.

Dividend Rate High.

Such dividend disbursements, he said, were high in proportion to the earnings, but the undistributed profits tax made it too expensive for the corporation's treasury to retain a more substantial proportion.

"So long as taxation of this character remains in force, directors are not in a position to adjust the dividend rate of the corporation to a long term stable dividend policy and dividends may be expected to fluctuate," he said. "At present prospects for business are too obscure to warant the directors making any assumptions with respect to such dividends as this year's operations may justify."

BUTTER FUTURES DIP TO LOWEST IN FOUR YEARS

Prices of butter for future delivery broke as much as 1⅛ cents a pound yesterday to the lowest quotations in four years on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. The break was attributed by traders to the almost negligible demand for storage stocks as a consequence of the fact that current production is keeping pace with the present depressed consumption.

February futures, opening down ¼ cent, slipped to a low of 26⅝, off 1⅛ cents, at the close. In the cash market additional purchases of 56,700 pounds of extras at 29½ cents a pound by agents of the Federal Surplus Commodity commission were a steadying factor in holding prices unchanged.

Egg futures dropped ¼ to ⅜ cent a dozen as dealers in the cash market reported that markdowns of ¼ to ¾ cent failed to stir buying. February fresh graded firsts closed down ¾ cent at 16⅞ cents.

Bankers Enjoy Something New—Speechless Banquet

Chicago bankers last night dropped discussions of such routine matters as interest rates, scarcity of demand for loans and service charges and enjoyed an innovation in bankers' meetings—a "speechless" banquet. No "honored guest" appeared for presentation by the toastmaster when the dessert dishes were cleared away at the monthly dinner of the Bankers' club at the Chicago Athletic association. Instead members and their guests watched a series of boxing bouts and a bit of vaudeville. The program was arranged by Howard Sims, manager of the Chicago Clearing House association.

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 24.—[Special.]—Profit taking operations in the stock market today brought a halt to the advance of the last three preceding sessions and forced prices fractions to 2 points lower. Volume declined.

Stocks which were conspicuous in the recent upswings bore the brunt of today's selling. These included steel, copper, "farming," and "raw material" issues.

Closing prices generally were slightly improved over the lowest quotations of the day, a relatively better tone appearing in the late stages of trading when the selling subsided.

United States Steel common was under pressure, dropping to 55½, then firming, to close at 55⅝ for a net loss of 1⅞ points. Other steels gave up fractions to 1½ points.

New York Bonds.

New York, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Bonds displayed a good tone today considering the handicap of a lower stock market. Some second grade rails turned soft in the late trading, but other sections of the corporate list and United States government obligations were firm, with a preponderance of small gains.

Volume fell off considerably. Transactions were $6,193,000 face value, compared with $8,313,000 yesterday.

United States government obligations finished 1-32d lower to 8-32ds higher. In the foreign division prices were mostly higher, although Italian loans turned down in late trading.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks were irregular yesterday in trade of only 19,000 shares. Of the seventy-eight issues traded, twenty advanced, twenty-eight declined, and thirty were unchanged. The Tribune average of twenty stocks closed at 9.90, down 0.06 from the preceding close.

Volume leaders moved unevenly. Chicago corporation gained ⅛ at 2¼ on sales of 1,600 shares. General Household was unchanged at 1¾. Zenith Radio declined ⅜ at 14.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks were irregularly lower yesterday. First National was quoted $2 to $3 lower by various dealers. Continental Illinois was unchanged to fifty cents lower, and City National slipped $1 a share.

GRAIN PRICES SAG AS BULLISHNESS FADES OVERNIGHT

Speculative interest in the grain markets yesterday was at a minimum, wheat futures holding within a range of about ½ cent and corn ¼ cent a bushel. The bullish enthusiasm so much in evidence on Wednesday vanished overnight and an easier undertone developed, largely in sympathy with securities and commodity markets in general.

Closing trades on grain futures generally were at net losses of small fractions of a cent a bushel in leading North American markets. Liverpool wheat futures declined ⅛ to ⅝ cent.

Commission houses were on both sides of the corn market on a small scale. Hedging pressure had some effect in causing the easier undertone.

Commodities

Most commodity futures prices declined yesterday, canceling part of the preceding day's sharp gains. Cash commodities also moved lower. The declines were attributed by traders largely to profit taking.

Hide, rubber, and copper futures were among the leaders in the downturn. Other contracts in the New York futures market were lower except coffee and wool tops.

Hides futures fell 0.02 to 0.24 cent a pound, with the March closing price at 9.34 cents. In the cash hide market at Chicago, sales of 16,000 branded cow hides at 8 cents a pound, and 8,000 heavy steers at 11½ cents were reported. These prices were unchanged.

Rubber contracts dropped 0.15 to 0.20 cent. Cocoa dipped 0.11 to 0.15 cent, with the March contract closing at 6.17 cents. World sugar contracts broke 0.02½ to 0.05 cent and domestic prices were unchanged to 0.01 cent lower.

The domestic copper price was unchanged at 10 cents a pound in the cash market, with sales of 10,666,000 pounds reported. In the copper export market trading was done at 10.45 cents early, but fell to 10.30 cents later in the day. Copper futures were 0.16 to 0.21 cent lower.

Sharp advances in the wool top futures, which closed 0.06 to 0.25 cent higher, were prompted by active covering and trade buying stimulated by reported improvement in the wool goods market and advances abroad.

BANKER FINDS FEW SIGNS OF BUSINESS GAIN

Schaller Reports Survey of February Situation.

George J. Schaller, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, reported yesterday that there is little indication of improvement in business and industrial conditions in the Chicago area.

Preliminary data received by the bank on conditions in the first two weeks of February show no perceptible change in trend, Schaller said. During January business and industrial activity continued to recede from the year ago levels with little slowing up in the rate of recession which prevailed in the final quarter of 1937, he said. Some industries reported larger orders in January than in December, but most manufacturing activity was below a year ago.

Finds Favorable Sign.

One favorable sign was found in inventory positions. Stocks of both wholesalers and retailers showed a marked reduction in margins over a year earlier or else totaled under that level, he reported.

The food industry also showed a favorable trend. Tonnage distribution of packing house commodities, creamery butter, and American cheese increased over the corresponding period a year ago.

"Inventories of these products," said Schaller, "continued substantially under a year ago, despite the fact that production of meats and butter was much heavier and cheese manufacture only slightly smaller than last January."

Payrolls Are Lower.

Employment data for mid-January recorded heavier losses in payrolls than in the number employed, reflecting a reduction in man hours worked.

Business Bits

Edgar A. Fisher has been appointed general budget director of Frigidaire division of General Motors corporation, E. G. Bichler, general manager, announced yesterday. Fisher, who was manager of the appliance engineering department, will be succeeded in that post by F. H. McCormick, who has been chief engineer of the electric range engineering department.

Alfred J. Johannsen of Chicago has been appointed general agent for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company in Greater New York, with offices at 16 Court street, Brooklyn, it was announced by Grant L. Hill, director of agencies at the Milwaukee office.

UNION PACIFIC'S NET INCOME SHOWS DROP IN MONTH AND YEAR

The Union Pacific railroad yesterday reported a drop in net income for both December and 1937, compared with December and the year of 1936. It also showed lower net operating income for January of this year than the like 1937 month.

Net income in December was $2,190,482, against $4,966,064 in December, 1936. The preliminary statement for 1937 showed net income of $17,655,615 or $6.15 r common share, compared with $22,208,535 or $8.20 a share in 1936. January net operating income was $768,282 against $921,403 in January, 1937.

Net operating incomes reported yesterday were:

EXCESS RESERVES OF BANKS SHOW 50 MILLION GAIN

Reserve funds held by banks in excess of legal quotas increased 50 millions in the week ended Wednesday, the federal reserve board reported yesterday. The expansion was due chiefly to disbursement of funds by the federal treasury that had previously been on deposit with the central reserve banks.

New York and Chicago member banks which reported their condition yesterday showed a decline in commercial loans. The decline aggregated 8 millions in New York and 3 millions in Chicago. Loans of New York banks to brokers and dealers fell 10 millions from the preceding week. Government security holdings of New York banks dropped 10 millions in New York and were unchanged in Chicago.

COTTON

Cotton prices declined moderately yesterday due more to lack of buying than to any selling pressure. Closing trades on the Chicago Board of Trade were at net losses of .05 to .08 cent. Other American markets declined .03 to .10 cent a pound lower. The Liverpool cotton market was also lower yesterday.

Spot cotton closed .05 to .06 cent lower with New Orleans, 9.50 cents; New York, 9.31 cents; Galveston, 9.15 cents and Houston at 9.10 cents a pound. Prices follow in cents per pound.

BUTLER BROS. EARNS $1.14 PER COMMON SHARE

Douglas Aircraft Has Gain in Year.

Butler Brothers, Chicago wholesaler of dry goods and general merchandise, yesterday reported a moderate decline in earnings for 1937, compared with 1936, and indicated a sharp drop in profits in the December quarter. Douglas Aircraft Company, Inc., reported a slight increase in net profit for the fiscal year ended Nov. 30, 1937, but a decrease in earnings for the final quarter was indicated.

F. S. Cunningham reports sales rise.

Consolidated net earnings of Butler Brothers for 1937 amounted to $1,673,388, equal after preferred dividends of $411,918 to $1.14 a common share. In 1936 net profit totaled $1,908,100, or $1.70 a common share before allowance for preferred dividends. An issue of 283,570 shares of 5 per cent $30 par cumulative convertible preferred was sold in November, 1936. There were 270,912 preferred shares outstanding on Dec. 31, 1937.

Quarter's Profit Lower.

Indicated net profit for the December quarter was $580,271, compared with $997,063 in the fourth quarter of 1936, and $564,039 in the September, 1937, quarter.

Frank S. Cunnngham, president, told stockholders that 1937 sales amounted to $84,633,689 compared with $81,302,409 in 1936. The volume increased in the first six months about 15 per cent, but contracted sharply in the fourth quarter which normally is the best period, he said. Operating expense increased more than $500,000 due to wage advances.

Consolidated net profit of Douglas Aircraft in the fiscal year was $1,081,513, or $1.90 a share of capital stock, compared with $976,342, or $1.75 a share, in the preceding year. Indicated profit for the December quarter was $228,718, compared with $326,973 in the preceding quarter, and $698,698 in the fourth quarter of 1936.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

House Cleaning Time.

February 24, 1938.

A SORT of spring house cleaning has been underway at the experimental farm for several days. The scene of all the activity was the sheep barn, and all the sheep, chickens, lambs, Muscovy ducks, and turkeys couldn't figure what all the excitement was about. They found all their old haunts taken over by workers who were scurrying around disturbing every farm animal and bird.

The job to be done by the men was cleaning the big sheep barn. It was time to work on the open yard outside of the barn as there were many loads of manure to be hauled from the yard to the fields as fertilizer. And there was cleanup work to be done inside the barn, too. So out went all the sheep so the men could operate undisturbed. When we walked into the barn we noticed that as soon as the sheep were ousted in came the ducks and chickens. They figured they were going to get a lot of free feed from the racks that are kept well stocked for the lambs. The lambs, usually allowed to go where they please, were kept penned up until the work of cleaning the barn was finished.

Turkeys Keep Feet Warm.

A few days ago, when there was snow on the ground, some of the turkeys decided that they would keep their feet warm by standing in their roosting trees instead of tramping around in the snow. We noticed that several turkeys were still in the trees later than usual the morning we visited the farm and those which weren't roosting late were strutting around inside the barn.

It won't be long until a second smokehouse will be in operation on the Wheaton farm, with the pungent odor of hickory chip smoke bringing advance notice of delicious cured meats for the farm tables. One smokehouse is already located near the big sheep barn, and the new house is located on the "second floor" of an old silo. This silo has not been used recently so the men put in a false floor about 10 feet above the ground level. This floor will be cemented so that the hickory chip fire can be built on it. Ten feet above this floor a wooden ceiling has been built, with rafters on which the meat hooks will be placed.

Pieface Gets Service.

Pieface, the sturdy old horse that the flockmaster rides, got impatient for his oats the other day, and in a smart way showed that he was hungry. Pieface noticed an oats pail hanging just outside the stall, so he stuck his head through a partition in the stall and into this bucket. He probably knew that there was no grain in the pail, but by bumping his nose against it [and almost knocking it from the hook] he attracted attention and let the men know that he wanted food and service at once. In a few minutes he was provided with his morning meal.

The berries of the bittersweet are still on some of the vines which grow in different places on the farm. These orange colored berries threaten to carry on through the winter and be on the vines to greet the first growing things that appear on the farm this spring. We have been watching one group of bittersweet plants all through the winter. Late in the fall we noticed the beautiful berries growing along a high fence. Snow and ice came in December. The berries didn't fall from the plants. Then in January we checked them several times. The orange clusters were still there. This week we again visited the plants, and found the bittersweet berries somewhat faded but continuing to win in their fight against winter.

LIQUID CARBONIC AND ANACONDA CUT DIVIDENDS

Greene Cananea to Make Regular Payment.

Dividend rates were reduced yesterday by the directors of several corporations, including Anaconda Copper company and Liquid Carbonic corporation.

A dividend of 25 cents a share was authorized by Anaconda for distribution March 28 to stockholders of record March 7. Dividends of 50 cents a share were paid by the company in the two preceding quarters.

Liquid Carbonic directors voted to pay 20 cents a share April 1 to stockholders of record March 16, compared with 40 cents a share paid three and six months ago.

Votes Regular Payment.

A dividend of 25 cents a share, compared with 40 cents in the preceding quarter, was authorized by Electric Auto-Lite company, payable April 1.

Wagner Electric corporation announced that 25 cents would be paid March 21 on the common stock. The company paid 50 cents a share in March, June, and September, last year, and $1.25 a share in December.

Directors of Republic Steel corporation voted the regular dividend of $1.50 on the 6 per cent cumulative convertible prior preference stock, series A, but took no action on the 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Price trends were higher in all classes of live stock yesterday, but meats were in slower demand. Some cuts were reported weak to lower. Lamb meat sold mostly steady, but fresh pork was strong to 50 cents per hundred pounds higher, top light pork loins selling at $19.50, the highest since Nov. 15.

Top hogs reached the highest level since Nov. 9. The peak was $9.25, compared with $8.70 early last week and a low of $7.85 in December. The average was 10 cents higher.

Further advances of 10 to 25 cents carried slaughter lambs to the highest level since Jan. 18. Top loads brought $8.60, compared with a low of $7.50 Wednesday of last week. Despite weakness in wholesale channels for beef, prices in the cattle trade were strong to 25 cents higher.

THIRD OF IDLE UNDER AGE 25, COUNT SHOWS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 24.—[Special.]—Director John D. Biggers of the federal unemployment census today reported to President Roosevelt a compilation of returns from sixteen states indicated that one-third of the nation's unemployed are under the age of 25 years. At the same time Biggers told the President he believes the bottom of the depression has been reached and recovery is on the way.

The unemployment report covered the age, the number of dependents, and the number of workers in the families of the unemployed in the states of Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Georgia, Idaho, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Montana, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico, and Oregon.

Clew to U. S. Conditions.

Director Biggers said he regarded the findings as important in that they indicate what may be expected from the compilation of similar data for the entire country from the post-card census taken of the country last November.

From the census of Nov. 16 and a house to house canvas of more than a thousand postal routes, Biggers has estimated the total number of unemployed as of that date at between 8 and 11 million persons. The number of unemployed in the sixteen states was 1,300,546 Nov. 16.

Half Are Less Than 35.

Of this number more than one-third were less than 25 years old, about 50 per cent were under 35 and about two-thirds were under 45. Slightly more than 25 per cent of all registrants were over 45 and 4 per cent of the total unemployed for the sixteen states were between 65 and 74 years old.

Only one-fifth of the totally unemployed and one-tenth of the federal emergency project workers in the states reported having no dependents.

LOST AND FOUND.

TO FINDERS.

If you have found a cat or dog, a pocketbook, jewelry, or fur, and cannot locate the owner through the "Lost and Found" advertisments in The Tribune, call and go through the "Lost and Found" index at the PUBLIC SERVICE OFFICE, 1 S. DEARBORN-STREET.

TO LOSERS.

If you are listed in the telephone directory you can charge an advertisment of your lost article by telephoning Miss Miller of The Tribune ad taking department, Superior 0100. Your advertisment receives the benefit of free listing in the Tribune Public Service office mentioned above for a period of two months. This service facilitates the recovery of lost articles advertised.
